Giants Even Series! Blast Yankees For 7-3 Victory

Chuck Hiller's Grand Slam Breaks 2-2 Tie In Seventh

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Hiller, a slick fielder never noted as a power hitter, blasted a grand-slam home run in the seventh inning today to give the San Francisco Giants a 7-3 victory over the New York Yankees and deadlock the World Series at two games each.

It was the first bases-loaded home run ever hit by the 27-year-old Hiller in his major league career.

The booming drive into the lower right field stands off Yankee relief ace Marshall Bridges, coming with two out in the seventh just when it seemed the Yankees might escape from a dangerous situation, brought the Giants back from a one-game deficit for the second time in this series.

It also made ex-Yankee Don Larsen, now a Giant relief pitcher, the winning hurler against his old mates on the sixth anniversary of the date in 1956 when he hurled a "perfect game" for the Yankees in the series against the then Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rookie Tom Haller had given the Giants a 2-0 lead in the second inning with a two-run homer, but the Yankees matched that with a two-run rally in the sixth inning on two walks and two singles.

The Giants added another run in the top of the ninth when Matty Alou reached first on an infield single, took second on a sacrifice by Billy O'Dell, and scored as Bobby Richardson threw wildly to first on Hiller's grounder.

VAIN RUN

The Yankees rallied for a vain run with two out in the ninth inning on singles by Tony Kubek, Richardson, and Mike Tresh but Mickey Mantle hit into a forceout to end the game.

The Giants started their game-winning rally in the seventh against pitcher Jim Coates, who had replaced Whitey Ford after Ford went out for a pinch-hitter in the sixth.

The 2-0 Giant lead lasted until the sixth inning when the Yankees finally broke the scoring ice against young Giant fastballer Bob Bolin. Bolin had come into the game in the fifth inning when Giant starter Juan Marichal was forced to leave the game because he injured his pitching hand while attempting to bunt in the fifth inning.

Bolin got out of one jam in the fifth inning but was knocked out in the sixth. Larsen relieved him and halted the Yankee rally.

TIES GAME

Trailing 2-0, the Yankees got rolling with one out in the sixth when Mantle and Roger Maris both walked. After Elston Howard flied out, Bill Skowron cracked his third straight hit, a single, to score Mantle and Clete Boyer also singled to score Maris and tie the game.

Bolin was taken out at that point and relieved by Larsen.

Yogi Berra batted for Ford and Larsen walked him, loading the bases. But then big Don ended the rally by getting Tony Kubek to ground out to first base.

Felipe Alou had opened the Giants' second with a double down the left field line. But he still was standing on second two outs later after Orlando Cepeda grounded out and Jim Davenport fanned.

Ford, winning pitcher for the Yankees' in the opening game of the series, then worked the count to three balls and two strikes on Haller and just one more strike would get him out of the inning. But instead Haller lashed Whitey's next pitch into the lower stands in right, scoring Alou ahead of him.

The Yankees, hoping to take a commanding lead in the series, threatened in both of the first two innings against Marichal but the Dominican-born righthander escaped from danger both times.

Wreckage Is Found On North Coastal Ranch

REP. CLEM MILLER
Body Identified

The twin-engine Piper Apache, piloted by George Head, 41, of San Rafael, was lost in stormy weather as it was nearing the Crescent City Airport yesterday. With Head and Miller was Head's 13-year-old son, Ronald.

The wreck with the bodies of all three crash victims were discovered by a ranch hand on the Wiggins Ranch, about 15 miles northeast of Eureka near Butler Valley. William Grader, home office secretary for Miller in Santa Rosa, identified the bodies.

Humboldt County sheriff's officers, led by Sheriff William Petterson, went into the area to remove the bodies.

Miller spoke at a Sonoma Grange gathering in Boyd Springs and was on his way to Crescent City to speak at a 7:30 p.m. dinner meeting of the Del Norte Loggers and Lumbermen Assn. At 4:45 p.m., pilot Head radioed the tower at Arcata airfield, reporting bad weather and poor visibility. No more was heard from the plane.

SEARCH DELAYED

Search efforts were delayed by high fog, but two planes from the 41st Air Rescue Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base were sent up to search, along with 15 Civil Air Patrol planes, and Air Force helicopters from Crescent City, Eureka and Klamath Falls, Ore.

Wreckage of the plane was sighted late this morning by Les Pierce of Pierce Flying Service of Eureka. From the air, he could see two bodies in the wreck, he reported.

KENT STATEMENT

Roger Kent of Kentfield, State Democratic Central Committee chairman, and a close friend of Miller since 1948, said:

"It's a tragedy — an awful thing. Miller was such a wonderful person, and I can't think of a congressman who has been more effective during his first two terms. His death is a great personal as well as political loss. He was a valuable liberal representative."

Miller's wife, Katherine, waited for reports of the search at the congressman's home in the capital with their five daughters, aged 5 to 16: Katharine, Marion, Blaire, Abigail and Amy.

Miller's opponent, Republican Don Clausen of Crescent City, was among the Civil Air

TOO LATE FOR WRITE-IN

Demos Still Urge Vote For Miller

The name of Rep. Clem Miller will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot and Democrats of the First Congressional District will work for his re-election even though he was killed in yesterday's Northern California plane crash.

Under the California Election Code, Sept. 27 was the deadline by which the death of a candidate could be certified if a substitute for a deceased nominee were to be appointed by a Democratic committee, according to County Clerk George Gnoss. Ballots are now being printed with Miller's name on them.

Roger Kent, Northern California chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, today called it "impossible" to start a successful write-in campaign in a district as large as Miller's six counties. He said he would urge the voters to vote for Miller. If he were to receive more votes than his opponent, Don Clausen, a special election would be called to fill the vacancy.

The Secretary of state's office in Sacramento said today it would be mandatory for the governor to call an election almost immediately if a dead man were elected.

Asst. Sec. of State Walter C. Stutler also said it would not be legal for voters to put "Mrs." in front of Miller's name on the ballot and have the votes count as write-ins for his widow. Mrs. Miller's own name would have to be written in as "Katharine Miller" to have it counted.

22 Marinites Return From Europe Tour

By RANDALL GOULD

Communism in Europe increasingly trends toward capitalistic practice and potential adjustment with the world of capitalism, 22 Marin County business and professional probers decided in pooling their findings on a tour just ended.

San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis, leader of the Marin Executive Delegation to the USSR, reported this today after flying home from Paris yesterday with eight others. The remainder of the group scattered on individual tours.

"Our two systems may be moving toward an area in which we can find working agreement, provided war is avoided," said McInnis "Whether the Communist side admits it or not, we found evidence that the Communist economy in many ways approaches that of capitalism."

Since leaving in mid-September the party followed a set plan of making contacts in most of the places visited, notably Soviet Russia, with "opposite numbers" in business and professional life, then pooling findings in group discussions.

"A point we all noticed was that whereas we feel that Communism is a threat of war against us, they have a reverse of this idea—liking us as people, they still feel that our government threatens war against them. They said they wanted no war and they felt

FRANK E. MARSH SUCCUMBS AT 60

FRANK E. MARSH
Industrial leader dies

Frank E. Marsh, 60, industrial consultant and chief executive officer of International Industrial Institute, Ltd., was found dead in his San Rafael apartment today.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton said Marsh died "apparently of natural causes." An autopsy was to be performed.

Marsh was found dead in his apartment at 260 Canal Street at 7:20 a.m. by a neighbor, Mrs. Ellen Richman, Keaton said.

Marsh, a native of Illinois, came to California in 1936. He had moved from 120 Bayview Drive to the Canal Street apartment after his wife, Frances, died in August.

He served as general manager of the San Francisco Bay Area Council until August, 1960, when he resigned to head the non-profit International Industrial Institute.

From 1936 to 1941 he served as director of the western region of the Federal Housing Administration. He was western regional administrator of the Office of Price Administration from 1941 to 1943, and later deputy administrator of the OPA in Washington.

Marsh had served as manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's Washington office. He was a past president of the American Industrial Development Council, a member of the Industrial Council of the Urban Land Institute, and the International Real Estate Federation as well as various other professional and business organizations.

As head officer of the industrial institute Marsh made an offer to Marin County supervisors in October, 1960, to construct a county hospital in Lucas Valley.

Yellowjacket Poison Kills Larkspur Dogs

Four and possibly five dogs in Larkspur were killed during the weekend by poison set out for yellowjackets, Police Chief Howard Clark reported today.

Clark urged all Larkspur dog owners to keep their pets on their own grounds.

He said a $300 French poodle of L. F. Sudlow of 75 Cedar Avenue and dogs of Charles Kepple, 220 Hawthorne Avenue, William Slocum, 234 Hawthorne, and Mrs. Peggy Smith, Boardwalk 1, had been killed.

The Sudlow dog died after eating strychnine-tainted meat from a trap. The other dogs died of insecticide. Clark said in some cases poison had been attached to trees but had been jarred loose and fallen to the ground.

Some dogs were poisoned several blocks from their homes, Clark said. He urged residents to keep their pets at home "until we find out what we can do about this."

He said, "The dog poisonings are unintentional but poinsons set to kill the millions of yellowjackets are a menace to pets and birds."

Arsonist Sets Blaze In Railroad Tunnel

Police today sought an elusive arsonist who allegedly entered the Corte Madera-Mill Valley railroad tunnel Saturday evening and set fire to a pile of brush.

Firemen from Corte Madera, Mill Valley and Alto raced to the tunnel area. Fortunately, the fire had not had a good start and was quickly extinguished.

Corte Madera Chief Frank Nelson said residents along Corte Madera Creek noticed smoke pouring from the tunnel shortly after 6 p.m. Police Officer Charles E. Rester and Fireman Lee Larson reached the scene in time to stamp out a brush fire in the tunnel.

As Rester ran into tunnel, he said he saw someone run out the Alto end. The officer reported that two other piles of brush were found in th tunnel, ready to be ignited. He also found a freshly smoked cigarette at the scene.

Senate Completes Action On $3.9 Billion Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate completed congressional action today on a bill appropriating $3,928,900,000 for foreign aid.

The total is more than a billion dollars short of what President John F. Kennedy asked.

Passage of the bill, a compromise worked out by Senate-House conferees, was by voice vote. The House passed it Saturday by a vote of 171 to 108.

Sending the bill to the White House moved Congress one more step along the way to adjournment, but other hurdles remain to be cleared before the legislators can wind up the longest session since 1951.

There was a question whether Congress could wind up the session this week. Sens. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.,) and George A. Smathers (D-Fla.,) insisted on enforcement of rule requiring three days to elapse before an appropriations bill has been officially reported before the Senate acts on it.

HAPPY ASTRONAUT — Walter Schirra, his son Marty, 12 and his wife, Jo, all looked in different directions as they rode through Houston yesterday during a homecoming parade. Later Schirra spoke at Rice University and said he could have made 18 instead of six orbits last Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Schirra Wanted 12 More Orbits

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter M. Schirra Jr., America's most widely traveled space pilot, says he came back from his "textbook flight" six times around the world with one suggestion for the next U.S. space venture: "Just move up its launching date."

He came back from that flight reluctantly, said the 39-year-old Navy commander.

"I would like to have gone for 12 more orbits," he said.

Schirra also told newsmen at a nationally televised news conference yesterday that at one point in his nine-hour, 13-minute flight he completely cut himself off from ground control.

To conserve the power supply of his Sigma 7 spacecraft, he said, he threw a switch cutting off the electrical system which would have allowed ground control stations to bring him out of orbit in an emergency.

"From the beginning," he said, "I wanted to turn off the armed squib control box, which means that it is my capsule and no one can bring me back until I put the switch back."

As he told the story of Wednesday's flight, Scirra made 9 hours and 13 minutes in the weightless world of space sound like a drive to the corner drug store.

"I had no problems, no uneasiness, no queasiness," said Schirra. "It had no fatigue. I was ready to continue through one day."

He had no moments of apprehension, "Not one."

But the near-perfect flight did lack something. In an aside to a freckle-faced, 12-year-old boy in the audience, Schirra confessed: "I'm sorry, Marty, my son, I did not see any green cheese."

Yesterday this city—the new home of the Manned Spacecraft Center—turned out to give the astronaut a friendly welcome. Police estimated 300,000 citizens applauded Schirra as the motorcade would slowly through the city to the Campus of Rice University.

With him was his blonde wife, Jo, and their carrot-topped children, Suzanne, 5, and young Marty.

Behind them came the other astronauts, with the exception of Alan B. Shepard Jr., not yet returned from his post during the orbital mission aboard the Pacific tracking ship Rose Knot.

Schirra began with the lift-off. "The railroad train you're sitting on really does move out," he said.

"The over-all flight, I thought, was a textbook flight," said Schirra.

The countdown was "a real dream," he said. "I wanted everything perfect so I could get my hallelujah off."

He did that midway through his flight and he called that his most exciting moment.

"The most exciting thing to me was that I have proven, and that the capsule had proven, that we could go beyond three orbits," he said. "That was the time when I said, "Hallelujah."

The astronaut said he set out to prove that the Mercury capsule had enough fuel to control its attitude as it zips along its orbital path to last through a day-long mission.

"My intention was to use so little fuel that no one could argue that we had enough fuel for 18 orbits," he said. "I think I proved that point."

In the early moments of the flight, he said, he had trouble getting the temperature adjusted in his suit-cooling system. But it was not as serious as it sounded.

"I have been much hotter in a tent at Cape Canaveral than I ever was in Sigma 7," he said.

During the long periods of drift flight, when he made no attempt to control the attitude of the Sigma 7, there was no tumbling motion, Schirra said.

Radiation presented no danger, said Schirra. The dosimeter he carried with him recorded less radiation exposure than his radium dial wrist watch would give off.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ex-Envoy Cannon Dies

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Cavendish W. Cannon, 67, former U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, Portugal, Greece and Morocco, died Saturday following a gall bladder operation.

Cannon, a native of Salt Lake City, was a high school teacher before he joined the U. S. diplomatic service in 1920.

Russia Explodes Another Bomb

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The Soviet Union has exploded another nuclear device at its Nova Semlya testing area in the Arctic, the Uppsala Seismological Institute reported today.

A spokesman for the institute said the new test took place yesterday and was of a force of three megatons—equal to three million tons of TNT.

It was the 15th Soviet test in the current Russian series.

Can Be Berlin War, Brandt Says

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, just back from seeing President John F. Kennedy in Washington, said today if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants war over Berlin "he will get it."

"The president of the United States and his administration are determined down to the last consequence to stay in Berlin and defend our mutual freedom," Brandt said.

Brandt appeared at a news conference where he read a statement he prepared in a weekend of seclusion after returning from the United States Saturday.

North Korea Votes

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist North Korea held its first national assembly elections in five years today and called them the most important in the country's brief history.

Premier Kim Il Sung and his cohorts in the Korean workers' (Communist) Party were assured of victory long before the voting began throughout the towns and villages. They are the only candidates.

Quadros Leads

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—First off-year election results in Sao Paulo state gave ex-president Janio Quadros an early lead over two rivals in the gubernatorial balloting.

Voting returns from the small city of Pederneiras in Sao Paulo state gave Quadros 636 votes, Jose Bonifacio, 425 and moderate Adhemar de Barros, the pre-election favorite, 365 votes.

Red Guards Flee

BERLIN (UPI) — Three East German border guards fled in full uniform across the border to West Berlin during the night, West Berlin police reported today.

Police said the border guards dropped their weapons and swam through a border river into Berlin's British Sector.

Their escape was undetected by other Communists and no shots were fired.

For Quake Victims

Yom Kipper

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Lighted candles and the chants of the ancient Kol Nidre service opened the Jewish day of atonement, Yom Kippur, at sundown last night.

According to Jewish tradition, men face divine judgment yearly for their actions. On Yom Kippur, these judgments are sealed and the period of repentance which began with the new year ten days ago reaches a climax with today's fasting and prayer.

The sound of the ceremonial Shofar, the ram's horn, called Israeli Jews from home, work and play and the nation was stilled.

A&P Heir Weds

WYCKOFF, N.J. (UPI)—Huntington Hartford II, wealthy heir to the A & P chain store millions, was married Saturday to a beautiful, brunette former model it was revealed yesterday.

Ammonia Explosion

DALLAS (UPI) — Poisonous, lung-searing ammonia gas fumes that blanketed a wide area when an ice plant compressor exploded last night drove dozens of families from their homes.

At least 22 persons were treated at Methodist Hospital and released. Two victims were hospitalized. None of the three employes in the Southland Ice Co. plant was injured by the blast.

Attache Leaves

SUPREME COURT ROUNDUP

Justices Refuse To Review Order On Negro Meredith

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the court order which forced the admission of Negro James H. Meredith to the University of Mississippi.

The high court's action climaxed a long legal battle which culminated with the entry of Meredith into the university under the protection of U. S. marshals and Federal troops and precipitated campus rioting which killed two.

The court's decision had been anticipated. Justice Hugo L. Black early last month declared in a recess opinion there was "very little likelihood" the Supreme Court would look into the legal controversy.

Black made his prediction Sept. 10 when he vacated several stays granted by 5th Circuit Judge Ben F. Cameron. Black, after consulting with the other justices, said the lower court orders to admit Meredith should be carried out.

He said at that time the other members of the Supreme Court agreed that he could and should vacate the stays granted by Cameron.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court upheld today two lower court decisions which struck down racial barriers in bus and railroad terminals in Louisiana and Georgia.

Both suits stemmed from new regulations established by the Interstate Commerce Commission as an aftermath of the "freedom rider" campaign last November.

The rules prohibited interstate bus and railroad companies to use the facilities of any terminal where waiting room, rest room, eating, drinking or ticket sales facilities are segregated.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to examine two cases dealing with Bible reading in public schools.

One of the appeals, from Baltimore, Md., also dealt with recitation of the Lord's Prayer as part of opening exercises. The challenge was brought by Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, who described herself and her son, William J. Murray III, as atheists.

The other case was started in Philadelphia by a Unitarian couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis Schempp. Their children attend a high school in Abington Township, Pa.

The cases were based on the First Amendment to the Constitution, which says: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Gen. Walker To Undergo Examination

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who denies he's guilty of federal charges evolving from riots at the University of Mississippi, will undergo pschiatric examination here this week.

The former Army officer, charged with inciting an insurrection and seditious conspiracy flew home to Dallas yesterday and was greeted by about 200 flagwaving supporters.

He was released late Saturday from the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., on $50,000 bond, posted by his family.

Release came only after he agreed to submit to a psychiatric examination.

Amid signs of "Welcome home Gen. Walker," he told his supporters, "I'm happy to be back in Texas. The air is clear, bright and wonderful."

At one time, about 500 A.D., there were simultaneously six Roman Emperors — Galerious, Maximin, Maxentius, Constantius, Constantine and Licinus.

Confessed Assassin Tells Story At Trial

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI) —A confessed Soviet assassin went on trial here today for murdering two Ukrainian exile leaders with a cyanide pellet gun. He told the court he became a Russian spy rather than see his parents shipped to Siberia.

Bogdan Stashinskiy, 31, told the West German supreme court the path that led him into espionage and political assassination began when he was captured taking an illegal railroad trip in his native Ukraine.

He said he was offered the choice of working for the Soviet Ministry of State Security or having his parents shipped to Siberia and serving a 25-year prison sentence himself.

The calm self-assured Stashinskiy told the crowded courtroom he chose to be a spy.

Stashinskiy rode the elevated train from East to West Berlin with his wife on Aug. 12, 1961, the day before the erection of the Berlin wall, and dramatically surrendered himself to western intelligence officers.

From the story he told, the government charged him with firing bullets that sprayed cyanide on the faces of Ukrainian intellectual leader Prof. Lev Rebet in 1957 and nationalist leader Stefan Bandera in 1959, killing them instantly.

Stashinskiy said he had fled to the west because he had lost his usefulness to his Moscow superiors and feared liquidation for knowing too much.

America's trains roll over a corduroy road of more than 965 million wooden crossties —about 3,000 to each mile of track.

Has poor health made you uninsurable?

It can come to many people—a serious health problem before they own enough life insurance to meet their family's minimum requirements. If this has happened to you or if your application for insurance has been declined on a medical basis recently, we suggest you check with the Man from Manufacturers.

He represents a company that practices the maxim that life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible. Over the past two decades many people who earlier would have been unable to buy life insurance anywhere have qualified for Manufacturers Life policies. Manufacturers Life was, for example, a pioneer in offering life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

Whatever your physical condition you can be sure of careful and individual consideration of your application at the Manufacturers Life.

Silver Hills Club Trying To Smooth Finances

An attempt was started last night by members of Novato's Silver Hills country club to untangle finances of the club which was thrown into bankruptcy last week, said Boris N. Ivanovsky of 574 Midway Boulevard, Ignacio.

Two committees were named at a meeting of 150 members at the club house, to attempt to find out the financial dealings of the club and the legal rights of the shareholder members.

Robert Wiedenmayer of 441 Wilson Avenue, Novato, will work with Ivanovsky to find out the facts about the finances of the two-year-old club. W. Jack Adams of 30 Carmel Drive, an attorney, and E. G. Traub of 493 Calle de la Mesa will work with Robert Cartwright, club attorney from San Francisco, to see if the club can be reorganized and salvaged.

Patrol searchers looking for Miller's plane this morning. The "flying supervisor" from Del Norte County was prepared to search the coast from Arcata to Brookings, Ore., in his twin-engine Piper Apache plane.

BAD WEATHER

Clausen landed yesterday at the Crescent City airport just 15 minutes after the Miller plane was last heard from as it approached the field. Clausen said the weather was "bad, but not as bad as I've seen it many times."

Miller had been campaigning in the extensive First Congressional District from Marin to the Oregon border on weekends during the past month. He had flown from Washington, D. C., Thursday to speak at the "victory celebration" dinner in Alto for his Point Reyes National Seashore bill.

The congressman was born Oct. 28, 1916, in Wilmington, Del. He was a grandson of Charles R. Miller, a former governor of Delaware.

He attended school in Lawrenceville, N.J., and Williams College in Williamstown, Mass. He joined the Army as a private before entry of the United States in World War II and rose to captain, winning the Bronze Star in European combat.

He served in the War Assets Administration, and from 1948 to 1953 as a field examiner and hearings officer with the National Labor Relations Board.

IN CORTE MADERA

In 1954, Miller and his family moved to Corte Madera where he resided at 433 Redwood Avenue. He became a landscape consultant and served on the Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission.

In 1956 he opposed incumbent Hubert B. Scudder for first district congressman but was defeated. After Scudder's retirement, Miller won the office in 1958 and was re-elected in 1960, defeating Republican Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon both times.

Recent legislation sponsored by Miller included the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, approved by Congress last week. He also introduced legislation for federal construction of the Sonoma County Dry Creek dam, potential future water source for Marin. One of his earlier victories in Congress was the prevention of sale of land for subdivision of Army land at Fort Baker.

Miller was a co-sponsor of a bill to provide a federal-state program to strengthen California's salmon and steelhead fishing industry. He was a member of the House banking and currency committee.

A book by Miller, called "Member of the House: Letters of a Congressman," published by Charles Scribner's & Sons, was to go on sale this week in Bay Area bookstores.

MOVED TO MARIN

Head, the pilot, moved to San Rafael last month to enter the investment and insurance business after retiring from the Air Force at Castle Air Force Base in Merced County. He and his family resided at 304 D Street.

He was a jet pilot in the Air Force, in which he had 20 years service. He was a native of Palo Alto.

The ill-fated trip was the first on which Head had piloted the Marin congressman.

such visits aid understanding," said McInnis.

McInnis said that, although in Russia "interest has been a dirty word," banks now seek to lure private savings by offering 3½ per cent on savings accounts.

McInnis, an insurance man, found that in the Soviet Union each of 15 provinces has an exclusive insurance franchise writing policies on life and property, but significantly without liability.

"They have no concept of liability though their auto drivers are crazy men with deadly weapons," McInnis said. "The only time there is any recourse is to establish that the driver did the killing on purpose."

He said Joseph E. Saccone of United Markets "made their eyes stick out" by showing photographs of Marin super markets.

"Nobody came out an expert but we decidedly got beyond the official showplaces," McInnis summed up.

"I can't convey the impact of that thing," said McInnis.

He described West Berlin as rebuilt, thriving, a beehive of enterprise "full of life and bounce," contrasted with a tragic, lifeless East Berlin in dejection as solid as the separating barrier.

out. Haller's snap throw to first trapped Kubek off first base. He was run down and tagged out to complete the double play. Tresh followed with a single, but it was wasted when Marichal bore down to strike out Mantle.

Ford came back from yielding two runs in the second to retire the Giants in order in the third. Ford was seeking the 11th World Series victory of his career.

Boy, 12, Injured As Bike, Auto Hit

Jonathan Turrietta, 12, of San Anselmo was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip and scratched knee after the bicycle he was riding collided with a car at Bolinas Avenue and Richmond Road in San Anselmo about 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Driver of the car was Charles Grace, 18, Glenwood Avenue, Ross, police reported. Jonathan is a son of James G. Turrietta, 50 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo.

Saw Stolen

Save Redwoods Group Fighting Park Proposal

"Save the redwoods" petitions bearing more than 400 names will be presented to the Fairfax City Council at its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

The petitions, opposing a Fairfax Recreation Commission plan for landscaping the city park which calls for removal of four redwood trees, were circulated by members of the Ross Valley 4-H Club.

They were to be delivered late today to City Clerk Alice Leonesio by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Youngclaus. Mrs. Youngclaus was ones of two dissenters in the parks and recreation commission's 3-2 vote Sept. 18 approving the landscaping plan by commissioner Frank Salvisberg.

Youngclaus said he also intends to present a letter from Mrs. Youngclaus opposing not only the removal of the trees but the expense of developing and maintaining the park which Salvisberg envisions.

Two Quentin Felons Ask New Trial

Two San Quentin convicts, convicted of slaying another inmate in prison last Dec. 12, asked for a new trial today before Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court.

Arguments for the new trial will be heard on Oct. 26. Attorneys for Robert B. Dorado, 26, and Alfred J. Jimenez, 25, moved for a new trial.

The jurors, who convicted the pair last week, were in court today for the hearing. The judge instructed the jurors to "stand by" until November because they may yet be called on to decide whether Jimenez should get life imprisonment or death.

Jimenez was convicted of first degree murder, which can bring either life in prison or death. Dorado faces automatic death because he was convicted under a penal code section that makes death mandatory for a life termer committing a fatal felony assault.

Mountain Fair Attracts 1,000

About 1,000 persons attended the mountain fair at the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. over the weekend, fair chairman William Johnson said today.

Kite flying was the highlight with from 50 to 60 persons engaged in it. There were kite "tangles" and impromptu kite fights, Johnson added. Dr. Solomon Cohen of Mill Valley, who had built 15 exotic kites, was rewarded when he tested them and found they all flew.

Mrs. Ann Close won a prize of a ceramic bowl made by potter Sascha Makovkin of Mill Valley.

Wife Slayer Ordered To Vacaville

San Gabriel contractor Robert Burdette Rogers, 43, who shot his wife to death in a San Rafael home three years ago, will be sent to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville for 90 days observation and diagnosis.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court today ordered Rogers to Vacaville for a medical report before Rogers is sentenced for manslaughter.

The judge allowed Rogers to remain free on $20,000 bail on assurance by attorney George T. Davis that his client will appear as soon as Vacaville is ready to accept him.

In the first trial, he was convicted of second degree murder, which was reversed. The second trial ended in a hung jury. Last August, Rogers pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

Pleads Guilty To Robbery

A second man involved in the $895 holdup of Rayburn's Grocery in Novato in August plead guilty today to first degree robbery.

Warren Charles Demmerelle, 26, of Los Angeles, admitted the charge before Judge Thomas F. Keating in Marin Superior Court. The judge set Oct. 29 as the date of sentencing.

Demmerelle's companion in crime, John Henry Hull, 27, also of Los Angeles, has already been sentenced to state prison for a term of five years to life.

A third suspect, David Harrell Jr., 36, pleaded innocent today and asked for a jury trial, which was set for Nov. 27.

Hopefuls For Larkspur Schools Interviewed

Four candidates for superintendent of the Larkspur School District board were interviewed over the weekend by the district board of trustees.

Chairman Pauline Secor said the candidates would be discussed in an executive session after the board's public meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Larkspur-Corte Madera School if trustees get through the agenda early enough.

Boy Who Broke Neck In Serious Condition

Locati was practicing on a "horse" Friday when he slipped and struck a mat beside the exercise apparatus. He was a football player on the Tamalpais High School Indian Team. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Locati, 5 Dawn Place, Mill Valley.

Quentin Knives Linked To Series

A total of 16 steel boning knives stolen from an office closet in San Quentin Prison a week ago may have been taken so convicts could enforce the payment of world series gambling debts, prison authorities said today.

"There have been a lot of bets made on the world series by the convicts," Associate Warden Louis Nelson said, "and there have been some welchers."

The 16 knives were stored with 50 other knives in the office of James Fitzgerald, food manager. The remaining 50 have been locked in the armory. A thorough shakedown of the prison has not revealed the whereabouts of the knives.

Wife Takes Shot At Bowl Manager

A San Rafael bowling alley manager's estranged wife tried to shoot him through the keyhole as he slept, police said today.

At 4 a.m. yesterday, Mrs. Nadeen Leona Gelatti of 305 Irwin Street telephoned police to say: "I just killed my husband. You better check and see if he's dead."

Police raced to the husband's apartment at 1563 Lincoln Avenue. They found Zeno Gelatti, manager of the Country Club Bowl, alive and awake, with his wife pounding on the door.

A .22 caliber bullet was lodged in the keyhole. Police said Mrs. Gelatti admitted holding a pistol to the keyhole and firing the shot.

She was to be given a psychiatric examination at Ross General Hospital before arraignment in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Girl, 8, Breaks Both Arms In Fall

Eight-year-old Susan Thompson fell from the second story of an unfinished apartment near her home on Valencia Street, San Rafael, about 10 a.m. yesterday and broke both bones in both arms.

Susan, who was reported in satisfactory condition at San Rafael General Hospital today, said she and her brother were laying in the building when she slipped and fell onto the dirt below. She is a daughter of Mrs. Oille Thornton, 33 Valencia Street.

OBITUARIES

Mabel BLaine Services Are Held

Private funeral services for Mabel Sophia Blaine, a resident of San Rafael for 14 years, were held at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, today.

Mrs. Blaine, 78, died in a local hospital yesterday after long illness. She and her husband, David G. Blaine, were married in San Francisco 52 years ago. She was born in San Francisco in 1884 and worked in a wholesale liquor house there before her marriage. Her husband is a semi-retired broker.

The family home is at 47 Kinross Drive.

She leaves, besides her husband, a son, Jack Blaine, and a daughter, Evelyn McIlwaine, both of San Rafael, and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. The family prefers tributes be contributions to the Heart Fund.

Zen Expert Watts Divorced By Wife

He did not contest the action.

Mrs. Watts, 40, who lives at the family home at 310 La Verne Avenue, Mill Valley, will get $550 per month support for their five children and $150 per month for herself, under a property settlement agreement approved by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

They were married in 1950 and separated in 1960. She complained that he had deserted her since March of 1960.

Sergeant's Trial Is Postponed

Trial of Army Sgt. Ruben Ernest Rudolph, 35, suspected of murdering his German-born wife and dumping her body on a Fort Barry hillside in Marin last May, was postponed today in San Francisco Superior Court.

At request of Rudolph's attorney, George T. Davis, Judge Norman Elkington continued the matter until Nov. 26 for the setting of a new trial date.

MRS. SEDERBERG

Funeral services for Mrs. Annetta P. Sederberg, who had been living at her son's home in Ross for the last five months, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Daphne's San Francisco Funeral Service, 1 Church Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Sederberg died Saturday at the home of her son, Donald E. Sederberg, on Shady Lane in Ross, after a long illness.

She was a native of Minnesota and had lived in San Francisco since 1923. She was a member and past president of American Gold Star Mothers, San Francisco chapter 1.

Mrs. Sederberg is survived by two sons and one daughter, Donald E., Stanton W. Sederberg of Hayward, and Mrs. Doris E. Sheehan of San Francisco; one sister and three brothers, Mrs. Nora Barnett of Stockton, Emil Christensen of Oakland, Ony Christensen of San Francisco and Conrad Christensen of Guerneville, and by five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Do Germs Cause Disease?

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

There are many types of germs and all of them have a place in the scheme of things, just as insects, birds, fish and animals are necessary to maintain the balance of nature. You may be a normal healthy man or woman but at this moment there are multitudes of beneficial germs at work within your body. Without them you would become desperately ill . . . These are the germs we seldom read about in the newspapers and magazines.

Take as an example the colon bacillus (escheri-chia coli), a germ which is essential to good health. It breaks down waste matter in the bowels for easier elimination and does other important jobs. Other varieties of germs perform equally important work in other parts of the body. The atmosphere around us is always thick with germs — some good, some bad — but we are not always sick. Why not?

Resistance to germs and disease depends on the proper functioning of the nervous system, the master system of the body. When the nerve supplying a certain organ is pinched or blocked by a misaligned bone in the spine, the affected organ will lose its resistance. Disease strikes when germs begin to prey on the weakened organs, but the same germs are powerless against a healthy organ.

Often, an organ will regain its strength and fight off disease germs once the interference with its nerve supply is corrected.

Chiropractors are experts in restoring and maintaining nerve function. They do this by finding the nerve interference in the spine and by adjusting the misaligned spinal bone (vertebra) quickly and painlessly by hand.

Dr. R. W. Pearce, D.C., practices the Palmer Method. His office is at 1628 Fifth Ave., San Rafael, GL 3-6201 (Adv.)

Net Profit Expected To Go Up From Crowded Grape Festival

The biggest crowds in the 63-year history of the Grape Festival were reported today by Mrs. Walter Zwieg, general chairman of Saturday's fete at Sunny Hills in San Anselmo.

Incomplete returns showed receipts of $33,000. This does not include receipts from the Gayway, mobbed by youngsters all day, or final figures from many of the booths. Mrs. Zwieg said she expects the gross to hit nearly $45,000 with a net profit of between $38,000 and $40,000. Last year's net was $31,000.

Final figures will not be known until the Grape Festival report meeting next month.

Although food supplies were greatly increased over last year, all were sold out. Almost all the booths offering handmade articles and other merchandise were sold out.

Tremendous crowds were on hand for the talent show, emceed by Bill Thompson of KTIM. Winners and their awards, presented by the Sunny Hill Entertainment Guild, were:

First, the Belchfire Five Plus One, six-piece Dixieland combo, $100 savings bond and plaque. Members of the combo are Jan Haluska, Pete Allen, Ben Chollar, Bob Lesaine, Mike Manning and Randy Keller.

Second, Valerie Meacham of Mill Valley, soprano, senior in Dominican upper school; $50 bond and plaque.

Third, Chester Russell of San Francisco, baritone, $25 bond and plaque.

Television Stolen

Arnold Buchwitz of 720 Knocknaboul Way, Terra Linda, told deputy sheriffs Saturday that someone had forced a window to enter his home and remove the television set while he was away on a week's vacation.

Water Line Planned For Bolinas Mesa

Bolinas Beach Public Utility District is planning to install an eight-inch pipeline for Bolinas Mesa water users, it was announced Saturday at a meeting of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Assn.

Charles G. Hadley, president of the district's board of directors, made the announcement. He said the line will replace a four-inch line. Construction is expected to start in the spring. There are now about 200 water users on the mesa.

Robert H. Prather, Tamalpais High School principal, spoke to the audience of about 35 on vocational training for students who are unable to go to college.

He said that about 46 per cent of the boys at Tamalpais are enrolled in industrial arts courses.

Prather also stressed a program at Tamalpais which enables a student to work part-time and earn credits for that work.

2 Suspected Of Looting Girls' Purses

Two San Anselmo youths, suspected of looting girls' purses during a dance Saturday night in Santa Venetia, were jailed on suspicion of petty theft and illegal possession of liquor.

They are Leroy Curry Jr., 18, of 90 Florence Avenue, and Monroe Sheridan Stark, 18, of 76 Broadmead Court.

Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou was patrolling the area outside the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall about 10 p.m. when he noticed one youth open the door of a 1962 convertible and rummage through some purses. The other youth stayed in his own car.

Deputy Menjou held the two youths. He found the purses were owned by Jill Kerrigan and Kathy Rich of San Rafael and Dawn Ginger of Novato. Jill told the officer that $5 was gone from her purse. Dawn reported a loss of about $3.

Deputy Menjou found that amount in Curry's trouser pocket. The officer also discovered a partially filled can of beer and a bottle of wine in the boys' car. The two youths, released on $315 bail each, are scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Motorcyclist Is Critical After Crash On Highway

A young Novato motorcyclist was in critical condition today as a result of crashing into the rear of an automobile yesterday.

Dale Marion Askin, 21, of 1080 Simmons Lane suffered severe head injuries and was still unconscious at Marin General Hospital so that the California Highway Patrol report was compiled from witnesses.

Askin was southbound on Highway 101 two miles north of Novato at 5:35 p.m. when his cycle struck a car driven by Michael A. McGovern of Daly City, almost overturning it and driving it onto the divider strip.

McGovern said he had been occupied with watching a car just ahead, driven by Rufus Brinkley of San Francisco who had just entered the southbound lane from a side

Crusade Goal $2,500 For County Employees

The Marin County Employees' Assn. this year will be responsible for solicitation of contributions to the Marin United Bay Area Crusade by all county employees, it was announced today by Burton R. Kirchner, Marin campaign chairman.

The county employees have accepted a campaign quota of $2,500, Kirchner said. William Desmond of the health department has been assigned as chairman within the county staff.

Couple Injured In Car Collision

A San Rafael couple were injured Saturday when their car, eastbound on the Manuel T. Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda, collided with another car at the Del Presidio Boulevard intersection.

Paul Claudus De Vaux, 35, and Rene DeVaux, 30, both of 590 Whitewood Drive, were treated at San Rafael General Hospital. He suffered bruises; she a cut knee.

The California Highway Patrol cited Alfred Nunez, 26, of San Francisco, southbound on Del Presidio Boulevard, for failure to yield at the intersection.

Almost every home "leaks" heat—honest Injun! ■ Some heat slips through loose-fitting doors and windows. About 16% is lost through window glass. And up to 45% escapes through uninsulated ceilings! ■ By weather-stripping and insulating now, you can prevent much of your heat loss during the winter months ahead. By keeping draperies drawn and the fireplace damper closed, you can stop still more heat loss. ■ This way you'll have a warm, wonderful wigwam every winter . . . and save heating dollars, too!

Prop. 1A Will Help Meet Higher Education Needs

In the June primary, the electorate overwhelmingly defeated Proposition 3 which then was called the "State Construction Bond Act."

We had urged its passage, but reluctantly. We maintained at that time that the needs of higher education for new building facilities should be divorced from the needs of the state for institutions for the mentally ill, narcotics control, correctional institutions, conservation and fire fighting.

After Proposition 3 was defeated, we urged the governor and the legislature to separate the needs of our university, colleges and junior colleges from these other needs.

But, as the electorate had done for Proposition 3, the governor and the legislature did for our suggestion. They ignored it. They decided to place before you voters an almost identical measure.

Now on your November ballot is Proposition 1A. The name has been changed. It is Proposition 3 of last June with small refinements. It still provides funds for the University of California, our state colleges, junior colleges, plus institutions for the mentally ill, narcotics control, correctional institutions, conservation and fire fighting.

There are a few changes. Its name now is "Higher Education Bond Act." Governor Brown and other education officials believed that its former name was a major factor in its defeat. They say that in June the people did not realize that what they were voting against was 80 per cent devoted to the needs of higher education. It is clear in the new measure that this is so.

What we're talking about is a $270 million bond issue. Eighty per cent of it would be devoted to higher education. Not less than $20 million of this amount must be used to assist locally-financed junior colleges, like College of Marin, with building construction, equipment and site acquisition.

The remaining 20 per cent is devoted to the other state building activities, not connected with education, that we have indicated above.

Our position has remained unchanged in the intervening months. We are sorry that the governor and his advisors have felt it necessary to lump together a wide vista of the state's capital expenditures and attempt to sell them all to the voters as a school bond.

On the other hand, there faces California a dire need for higher education facilities. It is a need which Californians must and will meet.

Therefore, as we did in June, we again urge a Yes vote on Proposition 1A, not as what we would like to be voting on, but as the better alternative to doing nothing about the needs of the state's higher education.

Vote Yes on Proposition 1A.

INCLUDE OTHERS, DON'T EXCLUDE THEM

Do you realize that the words "I," "my" or "me" do not occur once in the Lord's Prayer?

Yet, while saying "our Father," it is easy to mean only "my Father"; to utter the words "give us this day our daily bread" and still think only in terms of "give me my daily bread"; or to make a mental substitution of "forgive me my trespasses" for the actual words "forgive us our trespasses."

Those lines of Charles Thompson may help you to avoid the tendency to be self-centered while praying:

You can not pray the Lord's Prayer,
And even once say "I."
You can not pray the Lord's Prayer,
And even once say "My."
Nor can you pray the Lord's Prayer,
And not pray for another;
For when you ask for daily bread,
You must include your brother.
For others are included
In each and every plea:
From the beginning to the end of it,
It does not once say "Me."

Help me, O loving Savior, to seek the good of all people, not only my own and those around me.

Touch Of Humor Helps Message

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The following is a reply to Mr. Dickey, who had a letter in your paper last night (Oct. 1):

First off sir, may I say I am not the least bit critical of your letter in regard to drinking on board boats. It is a serious matter to be sure. However, I feel your blast at Eleanor Freeman's article was just a trifle unfair, for in re-reading her message you will find you both are of the same thinking on the subject. Mrs. Freeman has, and I think very wisely, brought the problem before the public's eye in a way that will make more people sit up and take notice than if it were written in a deadly serious manner. Too many articles, no matter how important the subject may be, are briefly scanned over and never fully read and digested.

True, the article was written with a touch of humor, Mr. Dickey, but the message was there for all to see, and I sure hope a lot of boozing boaters saw it. Perhaps then they will see how darned ridiculous they look to others, as well as being a navigational hazard to all.

Yours for more sobriety tests on water as well as on land.

PARENTS ARE PARENTS

Even Communists Have Trouble With Curriculum

By PHIL NEWSOM

In Moscow, an angry parent leaps to his feet and demands to know why his son is being taught German instead of English.

The teacher replies that assignments to language studies were made by alphabet instead of by pupils' choice and she will try to find out why.

The incident was reported in a recent dispatch from Moscow and the author noted that, as an American and a parent, he saw certain similarities to parent-teacher meetings he had attended in Connecticut.

JUST AS IN the United States, this is the start of a new school season for millions of children behind the Iron Curtain.

Radio Free Europe, which beams news of the free world to Communist satellite nations and also conducts a continuing study of events behind the Curtain, has just released a survey of Communist educational methods and some of the headaches encountered by the planners.

Strong points seem to be seven to nine years of free, compulsory education, not only in the Soviet Union but in all the East European satellite states, with heavy emphasis on language as well as technical studies.

THE SURVEY notes: "Communist leaders learned a long while ago that to maintain a position of authority in a subjugated society it is necessary to pay special attention to education of the young.

"That is why today in the Soviet Union and the captive countries of Eastern Europe the role of education occupies a position of importance second only to party ideology.

"The importance of education is twofold: The rising generation must be indoctrinated to fulfill its role in a Communist society, and it must provide the necessary number of technically skilled workers to try to match the progress of a free society."

THAT ALSO MEANS that at every opportunity the Marxist-Leninist theme of supposed superiority over the free societies is hammered home in the classroom.

It has been quite a number of years since this writer sat as a student. It was just after World War I had made the world safe for democracy. The threat of world Communism was less than the size of a man's hand against the horizon. The freedoms were assured.

Well, times have changed. Lenin was willing to sacrifice a generation in order to fit the youth of Russia to the iron mold of his concept of the dictatorship of the proletariat—certainly a concept far less dramatic than man's attainment and stubborn hold upon his freedoms.

BUT COMMUNISTS, too, have their difficulties.

The more time spent on Marx and Lenin, the less time there is for science and languages. Parents complain of the work load on students who must spend one day a week in "practical work" in factory or field.

There are chronic teacher shortages. There also are deviations.

Poland quietly has dropped compulsory Marxism-Leninism from secondary schools. Religion still may be taught in Czechoslovakian and Hungarian schools.

Cut-In Driver Dangerous Too

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Upon picking up this week's edition of News-Guide, I am confronted with (on back page) "Keep Distance, CHP Advises." This is not the first time I have read this advice—it is printed periodically in nearly every paper and magazine and it is becoming a bit irritating.

Why not have the CHP advise all these characters who, nine times in ten, always pass and pull in front right into your safety distance, that this distance is not for them, but for the fellow he has just cut short and the car ahead of him?

Every time this happens, you, who are keeping at a safe distance, as advised by the CHP, are obliged to quickly brake and, or pull over to the right to avoid a collision, which CHP speaks about.

Wish I knew the answer. Could you print an editorial now and then?

BENNETT CERF

A lady who prided herself on her housekeeping was driving behind a truck loaded with newspapers and saw a bundle of the papers fall from the speeding vehicle. "Littering up the landscape!" she muttered angrily, stopped short, and put the bundle into the back seat of her own car.

Continuing on her way, she noticed several other bundles of paper on the roadside and retrieved these, too.

Then she caught up with the truck parked outside a diner. She collared the driver and said, "I have exactly eight bundles of your old papers in my car." "In your car!! echoed the driver. "I work for the Journal, lady. I was delivering them!"

It Got Them All, In Varied Ways, The Day The Towns Closed Down

The other afternoon—Wednesday—all the towns around closed down.

People who were not fans whispered "It's a fever." People who were fans shouted, "Come on, Giants!"

"No one entered the store," said Jim Canepa of Mill Valley Market.

"Business was good at the Oak Barber Shop," said barber Bill Bowen. "But they were all listening to the game. No one left."

At Royal Auto Service, straight-haired Harold Kraushaar (which means curly hair in German) said, "We listened to the game between hammer blows."

At the Mill Valley Public Library, the readers caught the fever and listened on radio to the Giants-Dodgers playoff.

School boy Nicky Blonder got sick. His mother said it wasn't the first time. It was a seasonal thing. Jimmie Quinn stayed safely inside his pub, celebrating.

ELECTRICITY RAN in place of blood in Junky Corder and John Donhoff.

Said Junky: "I was so nervous and excited I could hardly control myself." Si Weil said he sold no liquor during the game but lots afterward.

People kept buying bus tickets, said Margot Marker at the bus depot, but she couldn't explain how they could travel at such a time.

In Belvedere, Officer Paul Weichel observed hardly a soul on the Boardwalk and children in the school bus were glued to transistor radios.

The television was on at Sausalito's Bank of America, said John Harlan, and banking was paralyzed.

SWEDE PEDERSEN, Sausalito fireman, said he risked his life going to San Francisco on victory night. There, he said, he met the Hennegens of Baltimore, Md. They wanted to know what was wrong, having just driven into town and not having been listening to the radio.

"Everyone's going crazy. Was it an earthquake?" they asked Swede.

When Hennegen learned the truth, said Swede, he was so relieved that, though he said he hasn't been drinking for a long time, he was going to have one for the Giants and one because it wasn't an earthquake.

At Lefty O'Doul's, Swede said, people were trying to see how many women could stand on a bar stool without falling off. Six, said Swede.

Fireman Hank Pierroz at Mill Valley said, "We did flip flops and jumped up and down." Judy Cooke, a scientific fan, said, "I felt glad for the fellows," meaning the players.

NOT A FAN, Mrs. S. Gundelfinger, our gardening friend, said: "I'm glad they won. I like the enthusiasm." She said she hadn't bothered to watch the game.

Serge Trubach, Sausalito artist and poet, said: "A film should be made and be shown at all colleges across the country—especially at Oxford. They should send the news over Radio Free Europe, present the film to Governor Barnett, saying: 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' The game shows the spirit of the people, a great show of freedom regardless of race, creed or color. This is one of the most vibrant examples of free opinion."

"I think they are nuts," said Sylvia Bijok, who was reared in England. But she admitted much the same spirit comes out at a soccer cup tie in England. Not cricket, however, she said, where they play for ashes in an urn. "This is gentlemanly excitement."

What's that? we asked. "Oh," she said, "gentlemanly excitement is because cricket is a gentleman's game. You know, just hand clapping."

Call it the fever, a vibrant example of free opinion, or gentlemanly excitement, we'll never forget the afternoon the towns closed down.

WE'RE WINNING A LITTLE

Reds Switch Tactics As So. Vietnam Toughens

By PHIL NEWSOM

WASHINGTON—In a command headquarters near the edge of Saigon last summer a South Vietnamese colonel used a pointer to locate on a military wall map the town of Ban Methout.

"Here," he said, "is where a year ago the Communist Viet Cong intended to cut South Vietnam in two.

"Since the coming of the Americans that plan has been abandoned."

Ban Methout is a key road junction close to the Cambodian border and almost exactly midway between the rich rice-growing delta to the south and the 17th Parallel which divides South Vietnam and Communist North Vietnam.

THE COLONEL explained that militarily the plan had been first to sever South Vietnam at the midway point, then to bring pressure on the capital of Saigon from west, north and south, and finally to force upon South Vietnam a Communist-style neutral government.

Last week, President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam announced that his troops had gone over to the offensive against the Communists.

But since this is a war without a front, it also must be understood that this is not an offensive in the sense of conventional warfare.

IT IS AN OFFFENSIVE of airborne thrusts in an operation called "clear and hold," meaning that it clears out pockets of Viet Cong resistance and then sends in administrators whose task is to educate the people and attempt to hold the land thus won.

In this sense, then, the South Vietnamese have gone over to the offensive and vast American aid, which includes thousands of American advisers, has upset the Communist timetable of conquest.

But a Communist advantage is their ability to shift quickly from one pressure point to another, whether it be political or military. Furthermore, they regard South Vietnam only as one portion of a war theater involving the whole of Southeast Asia, including Thailand.

One goal is to force the United States into another Geneva conference such as the one which set up the still questionable neutrality of Laos.

THE COMMUNISTS quickly endorsed a request from Cambodia that another Geneva conference be called to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

Cambodia's volatile ruler, Prince Sihanouk, already has forecast Communist victory in South Vietnam and he was moving to save his own neck if possible.

Complicating the situation further is the irritation of Thailand over U. S. promises of military aid to Sihounak. The Thais declared it an "act of provocation" and hinted that their own strong pro-Western stand may in the future also switch to one of neutrality.

Nothing could please the Reds more.

India Princess Speaks At School

Sixth grade students at Don Timoteo School, who are studying India, heard a first-hand description of that nation Friday from Princess Maryambai, favorite daughter of the leader of the Moslems of India.

The princess tours aboard as personal representative of her father, His Holiness Sardar Dr. Syedna Taher Saifuddin Saheb, direct descendant of Mohammed and spiritual leader of a million Indians. She was in the Bay Area to observe activities of the United Fund.

The princess told the children that Indian costumes which they made and wore for her visit were authentic. But she said Indian children are beginning to wear Western clothes.

The princess, who is from Bombay, pointed out that there are two principal religions in Indian: Hindu and Moslem. Moslems comprise a numerous minority in the predominantly Hindu nation.

Children of India enjoy games and sports similar to those of the United States, the princess said, including swimming, hide-and-seek and a game like baseball that is played with sticks and bases.

Princess Maryambai gave the school a book showing Indian costumes and invited the Don Timoteo students to visit her country. She also promised that children in her family would write to the children here.

Rock-Throwing Vandals Break Store Windows

Rock-throwing vandals did some costly target practice in San Rafael early yesterday, smashing five windows, four of them large plate glass windows in commercial buildings.

Also hit was a 9-by-12 window at Fred's Flying A Service Station, 167 Third Street, and a 5-by-9½ foot window at Thrifty Drug Store, 471 Third Street.

Only home hit was that of William David Kovacs, 320 Third Street. He said a rock was thrown through his kitchen window at 1:59 a.m. He heard a car drive away quickly after the window shattered.

Reagan Will Speak In Marin On Oct. 16

Assemblyman Bruce V. Reagan (R-Pasadena), Republican nominee for state controller, will address the Marin County Young Republicans Oct. 16 at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael, it was announced today by Charles Michaels of Kentfield. The meeting, set for 8 p.m., is open to the public.

Reagan, now in his third term in the legislature, is a Yale graduate and a major in the Army Reserve, having served in World War II on the supreme headquarters staff in England, France and Germany.

School Merger Vote Slated

Thirty-one registered voters are eligible to decide tomorrow on the merger of two small Marin County school districts whose combined enrollment is 16 students.

The election, to be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the David Leveroni garage west of Novato, will decide whether the Burdell School District will merge with Lincoln School District.

Burdell's pupils have been attending the one-room Lincoln school last year and this year. Juveniles burned down the one-room Burdell school in November, 1958. For a time the district rented a classroom from Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato.

Eventually the two districts —or one, if they merge—probably will be included in a reorganization plan for unification with a high school district.

Sergeant Porter Gets CHP Transfer

Sgt. William H. Porter, 38, of the California Highway Patrol, who came to the San Rafael office in 1957, said goodbye at the end of his shift yesterday.

At his own request, he is being transferred to the Eureka office. An enthusiastic fisherman, he explained that he likes the Eureka area for its many trout and salmon streams.

Porter came to San Rafael from the central coast office in San Francisco. He went back there for two years in 1958 and 1959.

He and his wife, Norma, and four children, Jeryl, 15, Carol, 12, Mike, 4, and Becky, 1, have lived at 1687 Hill Avenue, Novato.

Mrs. Porter has been piano accompanist for vocalist Jane Nichols. She plans to stay in the area long enough to complete the fall schedule with Mrs. Nichols, Porter said.

Seven out of 10 Americans in 1960 were living in the state in which they were born.

This Week's Columns Devoted To Bidding In Enemy's Suit

This week we discuss bidding the enemy's suit. Since you seldom want to play at an opponent's bid suit your cue-bid in the enemy's suit is usually made for another purpose.

In this case North shows slam ambitions by bidding two spades. If North really had length and strength in spades he would double for penalties.

CUE-BID CONTROL

The cue-bid guarantees control of spades (usually ace or void), strong support for the opener's suit and substantial side strength. If North lacked fine heart support he would bid his own suit first and show the spade control later.

The opening bidder should usually move toward slam if he has a full opening bid outside of the enemy's suit. In this case South makes his move by bidding four clubs.

From here on nothing would stop North from reaching slam. When South slows down by bidding four hearts North can afford another cue-bid and this goads South into bidding six hearts.

SHOULD SACRIFICE

West should sacrifice at six spades if he trusts the opponents. West would go down only three, and his honors would reduce the penalty to 700 points.

This is better than allowing South to score 1,430 points for six hearts bid and made.

Still, South might misplay the hand at six hearts. West doesn't want to give up 700 points if there's a fair chance of scoring a plus of 100 points by keeping quiet.

SOUTH HOME

South should ruff the first spade, draw one trump, and cash both top diamonds without trying a finesse. When the queen of diamonds happens to drop South is home.

If the queen didn't drop, South would get back with a trump and lead his last diamond. This would bring in the twelfth trick is West had the queen of diamonds or if the suit broke 3-3. South would discard his queen of clubs on dummy's last diamond.

As the cards lie, if South tries a normal diamond finesse he will probably go down.

Today is Monday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1962 with 84 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

Yankee Stadium Shadows Baffle Giants In 3-2 Loss

NEW YORK (UPI)—You'd better believe it when they tell you left field in Yankee Stadium is a tough spot to play. Ask Felipe Alou of the San Francisco Giants.

"There's sun, there's haze and there are shadows," groaned Felipe, who had his first shot at it in the third game of the World Series yesterday in a loser against the New York Yankees. "I had a rough, busy afternoon out there."

Normally a right fielder, Felipe moved to left for the third game and almost immediately got his baptism on a long ball hit in the second inning by Elston Howard, and which he caught sensationally In each of the next two innings he had long shots in his direction—one that went for a double by Tony Kubek and another by Mickey Mantle which he caught. But he was charged with an error while trying to field a single by Mantle in the seventh.

The Giants were only slightly downcast after losing the third game, after which second baseman Chuck Hiller and pitcher Billy Pierce readily shouldered the blame for lapses that left the Yankees with a 3-2 margin at the finish.

Hiller blew a "routine double play" that should have ended the Yankee seventh instead of allowing Roger Maris to score from third with what proved to be the winning run. And Pierce admitted he served a fat pitch earlier in the inning on which Maris knocked in two runs with a single to right.

With Bill Skowron on first and Maris on third, Clete Boyer hit a routine grounder to shortstop Jose Pagan, who fired to Hiller at second to force Skowron. But Hiller was slow getting the ball away to first and Boyer was safe, Maris scoring.

"I bobbled the throw from Pagan a couple times and couldn't get a grip on it to make a good throw to first," said the crestfallen Hiller. "We shoulda had him easy. It was a routine double play."

Pierce said he was faster in the first playoff game against the Los Angeles Dodgers last week but still felt strong in the seventh when the Yankees clipped him for three straight singles in their scoring spree.

"When Maris came up, Dark and I agreed we might have to give up one run but I meant to pitch Maris in close and I gave him one any man in his right mind would want to see —right down the middle," Pierce admitted.

"Pierce and Hiller made human mistakes," Dark said philosophically. "They just happened to occur at a crucial time."

Both Ed Bailey, whose two-run homer in the ninth made the Maris run the critical score, and Willie Mays complained about the batting background at the stadium which makes a pitch hard to follow.

"It reminds me of the Los Angeles Coliseum or the Houston Park," said Willie, "but that's not an alibi. The Yankees have to hit against the same background."

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Powerful Orlando Cepeda May Be 'Goat' Of World Series

CONNOLLY

Every World Series is a milestone in some ball player's life. The "big payoff" makes stars of some and "goats" of others.

Who would you guess could likely be the "goat" in the 1962 series?

It is pretty hard to point a finger at the "bounce back aggregation" known as the S.F. Giants. They outdid themselves, winning the pennant the "hard way" and on a short ration of pitching and without the expected power house hitting of those expected to furnish the big punch.

Few of the fans have any forgiveness or sympathy for the one guy on the club who is more in need of sympathy and understanding right now than all the others.

WE REFER to Orlando Cepeda, the Baby Bull of Puerto Rico, the "almost forgotten" hero here since the Giants came west.

Cepeda, in a poll by a S.F. newspaper, was voted the most popular player, way ahead of Willie Mays. In 1961 he was hailed as the one most likely to hit 60 or more home runs in 1962. He was National League leader with 46 in 1961 and now is holding 35 as his best effort in 1962.

Today Mays is the big popular player on the Giants. In fact Harvey Kuenn, Billy Pierce, Jimmy Davenport, Jose Pagan, Felipe or Matty Alou would rate ahead of Cepeda as a crowd appealing athlete. That is a big drop from popularity for the Baby Bull, voted the rookie of the year in 1958.

THAT IS not to say that Cepeda has passed his peak as a hitter. The big clouter is one of the best righthanded hitters since Rogers Hornsby flashed across the nation years ago.

The fate of Cepeda's future isn't bright. Admittedly he overplayed himself in the off season and refused to heed sage advice. And in becoming the recognized spokesman for the Puerto Ricans and Dominicans with the Giants he assumed more than his meager baseball experience could stand.

Cepeda made few friends comparing the $90,000 salary of Willie Mays to his meager "beef" for $46,000. It took Mays 10 years to get where he is and Cepeda felt his five years was much greater than those of Willie's.

THEN AS the 1961 hero began parading in the spring of 1962, it was easy to detect his strut. It was Cepeda who made the appeal to Boss Stoneham to allow Juan Marichal to leave spring camp and go, back to bring with him a bride he left less than 10 days before. Stoneham granted the appeal and that put a feather in Cepeda's hat as a spokesman for the crew.

Everything worked out fine for a good stretch and Cepeda, enjoying a good spring season, looked destined to be the big man everybody thought he would be. For a time he was the real cock o' the walk. He strutted at first base and almost wore a path from first base to the pitcher's mound offering suggestions to the team's flingers.

AND THEN the big slump came. It was bad enough for Orlando but for some strange reason, his pals seemed to slump whenever he did.

So far in the World Series games against the Yankees you could hardly say the Baby Bull has opened the eyes of onlookers.

But whether he does hit or doesn't hit in this 1962 World Series, is beside the question. The Baby Bull has taken a pledge he will not play winter ball. And if he keeps that, next year, he may be the principal reason for the Giants continuing as national league champions, or even as world's champions.

Warriors Triumph In Final Seconds

PORTLAND (UPI) — Tom Gola scored a field goal in the final four seconds of play last night to give the San Francisco Warriors a 118-117 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in a National Basketball Assn. exhibition game.

San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain led all scorers with 52 points, while Elgin Baylor was high for the Lakers with 37.

Chamberlain scored 69 points in Salem Saturday night, as the Lakers won, 132-125. The two teams meet in another exhibition game tonight in Olympia, Wash.

Seals Defenseman Suffers Injury

BERKELEY (AP) — San Franciscos Seals defenseman Jean Marc Picard may miss the Western Hockey League opener against Portland Wednesday night in San Francisco because of a severe gash suffered last night.

The veteran was slashed by a skate after falling to the ice in an intra-squad charity game. He was taken to an emergency hospital, where 22 stitches were required to close a wound in his throat.

Oakland Pro Cage Team Signs Gardere

OAKLAND (UPI) — The new Oakland team in the American Basketball League has signed its first player—former San Francisco Saint forward Joe Gardere.

Gardere was a high school scoring star in Oakland and later played on the St. Mary's College team when it won the West Coast Athletic Conference title in 1958.

MARIN ATHLETIC LEAGUE GRID ACTION

This was second quarter action in thrilling Marin Athletic League opening game between Drake and San Rafael Saturday afternoon at Kentfield as Drake won, 14-13. Steve Jensen of San Rafael is tackled by Drake's Dave Cericola after catching a pass. In other league games Redwood edged Novato 6-0 and Tamalpais ran over Marin Catholic 19-0. HOCKEY STAR IS SOLD FOR $1 MILLION

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs confirmed today receipt of $1 million for star left-winger Frank Mahovlich from James Norris of the Chicago Black Hawks, but the offer was not immediately accepted by the National Hockey League club.

"We can't consider a deal of that nature without going to the board of directors," said Stafford Smythe, Toronto Leafs president.

Ed Fitkin, Leafs public relations officer, said a check for $999,000 was tendered for purchase of the hockey star. Norris, millionaire owner of the Black Hawks, said he made the offer Friday and placed a $1,000 deposit to bring the total price to $1,000,000.

Smythe said Mahovlich, 24, who had been having a salary dispute with the Leafs, signed a four-year contract today with Toronto. Details were not disclosed.

UCLA Hero Named Back Of The Week

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — UCLA'S sophomore quarterback Larry Zeno earned the AAWU's "back of the week" award in his first collegiate football game, it was announced today.

Zeno guided the Bruins on a 70-yard march in the last seven minutes of UCLA's upset of Ohio State Saturday and capped the drive with a 24-yard field goal that won the game for the Bruins, 9-7.

Greenbrae School Recreation On Tap

A proposal to extend the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation program to Greenbrae School heads the agenda of the Kentfield School District board at 7:45 p.m. today.

The trustees will meet in the Greenbrae school multi-use room. Members of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn. will appear to ask inclusion of the school in the recreation activities.

Employment of a teacher and several other personnel matters will come up.

Golden Gate Winner

ALBANY (AP) — Sea Orbit $4.40 romped to a three length victory in the $16,000 William G. Gilmore Handicap at Golden Gate Fields Saturday.

Manuel Ycaza and Willie Shoemaker both rode five winners in one day on New York tracks last season. Ycaza got his five at Belmont on Sept. 29, Shoemaker scored his at Aqueduct on Nov. 2.

Series Sidelights

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the series:

Jose Pagan, the San Francisco shortstop who batted .259 during the regular season, was the leading hitter among the players who have participated in the first three series games. Pagan had four hits in eight tries for a .500 average.

THE GIANTS tied a club fielding record yesterday when they were credited with only three assists. The mark is shared by the St. Louis Cards and Philadelphia Athletics of 1930, the Cards of 1934 and the Boston Braves of 1948.

SUNDAY'S PLAYING time of 2 hours and 6 minutes was the shortest in the series since Oct. 7, 1957 when Milwaukee blanked the Yankees 1-0 in two hours. The games this year have averaged 2 hours, 20 minutes with 2:43 for the first game, 2:11 for the second and 2:07 for the third.

EVERY TIME Roger Maris comes up to bat in the World Series, he sees three infielders to the right of second base . . . Does it bother the New York Yankee outfielder? . . . "naw," he said today, "it's all right with me if they want to do it that way . . . But if they pitch me inside I'll hit the ball over their heads." . . . that's just what he did in the seventh inning in the Yanks' 3-2 victory over San Francisco . . . The hit was a key single.

SAID YANK Manager Ralph Houk before today's fourth game: "I can't recall a World Series in which the first three games had so much good pitching." . . . Which led some observers to conclude that the slumbering sluggers were due to break out.

YOU'D THINK the crowds here would be strictly for the Yankees . . . But there's still a lot of lingering sentiment for the Giants . . . It appeared that at least half the spectators stood during the traditional seventh inning stretch for the Giants . . . They left New York after the 1957 season.

WILLIE MAYS of the Giants, by the way, said it had been years since anyone asked him an original question . . . "If they asked me anything but the same old thing, I'd be hurt," he grinned.

Liston Charges Prejudice In Beef With Cop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—World heavyweight champion Sonny Liston has accused a Fairmont Park guard who picked him up for going too slow in his auto of being "prejudiced against" him because he is a Negro.

Liston was picked up by guard Aaron Smith Friday night, it was disclosed over the weekend, and later released. No charges were lodged against him.

It was the second time Liston had been stopped by park guards in 16 months.

Francis C. Deegan, park guard superintendent, said Smith stopped Liston because his car was going 15 miles an hour.

Deegan said Liston could not find his automobile registration and that Liston claimed he was being picked on because of his race.

Merchants Whip Palo Alto 7-2

The San Anselmo Merchants whipped the Palo Alto Oaks 7-2 yesterday in a semi-pro baseball game.

Nino Geminiani pitched a two-hitter for the Merchants as he struck out 10 and walked six. The San Anselmo hitting attack was led by John Boccabello and Bob Ingram, each with a double and a single.

49ers Upset Colts, 21-13

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The San Francisco 49ers were home from Maryland today with a 2-2 record for the season, a respectable count that looked dismally far away a few weeks ago.

The 49ers combined the talents of John Brodie, J. D. Smith and Bill Kilmer to down the Baltimore Colts 21-13 yesterday. Charley Kreuger, Leo Nomellini, Clark Miller and Dan Colchico led a San Francisco defense that shook up Baltimore's Johnny Unitas.

The 49ers suffered early season defeats to Chicago and Detroit and their victory over the Minnesota Vikings a week ago was no smash hit.

But San Francisco combined a solid ground game with passing to upset the highly-favored Colts and also leave them with a 2-2 record in the National Football League.

TIGHT SPOTS

Tight spots came for the Californians when they handed the Colts the ball three times through fumbles. One toss-over was by Kilmer at the goal line.

The 49ers scored in the first quarter with Kilmer's five-yard run after an 80-yard drive in a dozen plays. The second tally came in the third quarter on a seven-play drive for 27 yards, wound up by a four-yard pass by Brodie to Monte Stickles.

The Colts scored in the fourth when Alex Hawkins plunged one yard after a 41-yard drive in 11 tries. Hawkins scored Baltimore's second touchdown on a two-yard plunge.

Kilmer made a one-yard plunge for the 49ers' third tally after a 63-yard drive in 15 plays.

Unitas was the spark plug for the Colts' second touchdown as he hit on five passes to set up Hawkins. But the 49ers put out some of the spark by blocking the conversion.

Sparrow's Pass Paces UOP Win

STOCKTON (AP) — The University of the Pacific ends the first — and easiest — half of its 1962 football slate next Saturday at Los Angeles State. But the Tigers are probably thinking of the following weekend when they visit powerful Oregon State.

After last Saturday's 14-7 win over the San Diego Marines, the Tigers held a 3-1 mark.

Pacific got its first score Saturday when end Buck Nero grabbed quarterback Jack Sparrow's second-quarter pass 18 yards away in the end zone. John Alsup tossed the ball seven yards to back Greg Stikes in the third quarter for the other Tiger TD.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

BUENOS AIRES — Federico Thompson, 146, Argentina, outpointed Jorge Peralta, 141¼, Uruguay, 15.

Terra Linda Gets Warner Grid Victory

Highlighting the weekend of Pop Warner football in Marin, the powerful undefeated Terra Linda Junior Trojans rolled over the San Anselmo Junior Pirates 34-0 Saturday.

In the other two games, the Mill Valley Junior Indians beat the once powerful Redwood Junior Giants, 19-6, in a Sunday game played at the new Strawberry recreation field, and the San Rafael Junior Bulldogs and the Novato Junior Hornets fought to a 13-13 tie.

Scoring touchdowns for the Junior Trojans in their whopping victory were Steve Congdon, Pat Carney, Steve Muller, Jack Wright and Chris Bowman.

For Mill Valley, TDs were scored by Mike Biber twice and Steve Ellis on a pass from Tom Fair. Harvey Tand scored the Redwood lone tally.

Both Novato touchdowns were scored by Louis Butti and San Rafael touchdowns were scored by Bill Meredith and Sam Crowell.

Lavorante Serious

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boxer Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina was still in a coma and in serious condition today, hospital attendants reported.

Hornung's Toe Saves Green Bay

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Someone hung the "Golden Boy" tag on Paul Hornung because of his curly, blond hair. That was a mistake. The gold in Hornung has to be his toe and his ability to win the money games for the Green Bay Packers.

The former Notre Dame star booted the defending National Football League champions into sole possession of first place in the Western Conference Sunday, kicking three field goals in a 9-7 victory over the Detroit Lions yesterday.

As usual, he saved the best one for when it was needed—this time 33 seconds from the finish.

The Washington Redskins have that golden feeling today, too, having put together their first three-game winning streak since 1957 with a 20-14 decision over the Los Angeles Rams that kept them in the lead of the Eastern Conference with a 3-0-1 mark.

In other NFL games, the New York Giants stayed hot on the trail of the Redskins with a 31-14 victory over St. Louis Cardinals; the Cleveland Browns defeated Dallas' Cowboys 19-10; San Francisco rolled over the Baltimore Colts 21-13, and the Chicago Bears shut out Minnesota 13-0. Pittsburgh won over Philadelphia, 13-7 Saturday night.

In the American League, Houston defeated Buffalo 17-14 and San Diego handed Dallas its first loss 32-28 in the only Sunday games.

TIMELY INTERCEPTION

Herb Adderley set up Hornung's winning kick. The former Michigan State halfback intercepted one of Milt Plum's passes and ran 40 yards to Detroit's 21-yard line with less than two minutes to play. After two running plays, Hornung stepped back and split the uprights from the 21-yard line.

His other two boots were from the 15-yard line, one in the first period the first time the Packers had the ball and the other in the third quarter.

Adderley also blocked one of Wayne Walker's two unsuccessful field goal tries and otherwise teamed with the rest of the Packers' defense that held Plum, the NFL's passing leader, to only 92 yards on 11 completions in 26 tries.

Fullback Jim Taylor picked up 95 yards for Green Bay but the Packers couldn't keep their ground attack moving on a muddy field. A fumble by quarterback Bart Starr preceded Dan Lewis' 6-yard TD run for the Lions in the second period.

FAVORITE TARGET

Washington quarterback Norm Snead found end Fred Dugan a favorite target after using halfback Bobby Mitchell in the first three games. He hit Dugan six times, twice for touchdowns. The Redskins have now surpassed their victory total of two during the past two seasons. The Rams are winless in four games.

Y. A. Tittle passed and ran—at the tender age of 36—the Giants (3-1) to their third win in four starts. He hit Del Shofner with a TD pass, outstepped the Cards' defenders for a 21-yard scoring run and then paved the route for Alex Webster's one-yard scoring burst. In all, he completed 16 of 26 for 190 yards. The Cards (1-3) got both scores from the running of John David Crow.

Pesky Named Bosox Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Pesky set 1965 as the target date for his young Boston Red Sox to come of age as he took over today his new job as manager.

"We've got a young ball club," said Pesky "and we have a solid nucleus of a club that is going to go places in the future. We are going to go with the young fellows as much as possible. You can't tell how fast some of those fellows will develop."

Redwood Shades Novato 6-0 In Mighty Defensive Clash

By JIM GILMARTIN

Redwood Giants and Novato Hornets proved they're defensive minded Saturday afternoon with the Giants just a wee bit better at it, 6-0, in the opening of the Marin Athletic League's football race.

Quarterback Jim Troppmann scored from four yards out in the second quarter for the game's only score before an estimated crowd of 1,800 at Novato High School's wind-blown stadium.

Novato's dejected coach Marlin Olsen blamed poor blocking for his team's inability to move against the sturdy Giants. The Hornets got past midfield twice—to the 36-yard line in the first quarter where Giant Rick Kline made a key tackle to halt a drive and to the 20 in the third quarter when Bob Phillips recovered a fumble. The Hornets blew that golden opportunity on the first play on a fumble recovered by Redwood's Dennis Shunk.

Neither side showed much offensive punch and the longest scrimmage play of the game was an 11-yard run by Troppmann straight up the middle.

Novato's John Miller looked like he would break away for a TD gallop with a 35-yard run of an intercepted pass, in the fourth quarter but he just wasn't fast enough and was felled on the midfield stripe.

"That's our trouble," said Olsen, "we just don't have enough speed."

The strong winds appeared to kill one Novato play in the fourth quarter that looked like it would score. A Novato pass receiver got about 12 yards behind the Redwood safety man but Nick Willard's aerial was blown short and Dave Cox intercepted.

Redwood's touchdown drive started when the Giants took over a punt on the 50-yard line. The Giants then went 50 yards in 12 plays. Key plays keeping the drive alive was a 13-yard pass by Troppmann to Cox from a spread formation and that 11 yard run by Troppmann.

The drive almost stalled when Hornets Ron Heidinger, Wayne Russell, Al Nelson and Kris Kristofors sparked a defense that held for three downs inside the 10, but Troppmann finally crashed in to the end zone over right tackle from four yards out.

Tropp's attempted pass for the PAT failed.

Next Saturday afternoon Redwood plays the high-flying Tam Indians at Kentfield while Novato, the defending champs, plays at San Rafael Friday night.

Flashy Tam Blanks Marin Catholic '11'

By RALPH CHATOIAN

If there are any explosions around southern Marin it may well be coming from the Tamalpais High School football field during Indian drills.

The Tam gridders were exploding all over the field Saturday night when they took their first 1962 Marin County Athletic League football game from the startled Marin Catholic Wildcat squad, 19-0, at College of Marin stadium.

The three most earth-shaking explosions had blast ranges of 60, 52 and 28 yards as the swift and powerful Tam backfield divided three touchdowns among themselves.

Fleet right halfback Warren Domino ran through, around and over the Wildcat line as he picked up 122 yards rushing in nine carries for an incredible 13.6 average per carry.

BLOCKED PUNT

The Indians scored their first touchdown early in the opening quarter on their third play from scrimmage. Tam got its hands on the ball on the Wildcat 37-yard line after defensive tackle Tony Houston crashed through the Marin Catholic line and blocked a fourth down punt.

Tam quarterback Bill Gillingham picked up seven around right end. Domino tried up the middle for two more yards, making it third down and one yard to go for a first down. With the defense expecting a plunge through the middle, Gillingham kept the ball and skirted around left end for the touchdown from 28 yards out.

Tam was quick to strike in the opening seconds of the last half. Marin Catholic tried an on-sides kick after coming back from intermission, but a Tam gridder fell on the rolling ball on the Tam 48-yard stripe.

52-YARD GALLOP

On a first down play, the fleet-footed Domino tore through a hole at left tackle, found running room, and sped past the Marin Catholic secondary to the end zone for a 52-yard touchdown gallop. Gillingham followed with a run over right end for the extra point. The scoreboard then read Tam 13, Marin Catholic 0.

Although Marin Catholic ran 59 plays from scrimmage, excluding punts, compared to only 44 for Tamalpais, the Wildcats could not keep a drive moving to pay dirt. Hardeman broke loose for a 31-yard gallop in the third quarter and halfback Wally Lourdeaux got free for a 22-yarder in the second period, but they could not outrun the speed of the Tam secondary.

Most of the game was played on Marin Catholic's half of the field, as the Wildcats failed to penetrate the Tam 20-yard stripe. The closest Marin Catholic ever got to the goal line was in the final period when quarterback Gerry Denman threw a seven-yard pass to Hardeman on the Tam 27, one yard shy of a first down.

But on a fourth and one situation, quarterback Lad Wilsey tried to swing around left end and was thrown for a four-yard loss, killing the drive, as Tam took possession on their own 31-yard line.

Two plays later Tam's White rambled for the 60-yard touchdown, ending the night's scoring.

Bears' Crew To Perform In Marin

One of the University of California's eight-oar crews will put on a rowing demonstration on the Belvedere Lagoon Sunday.

It will be sponsored by the Belvedere Sailing Society under the leadership of Commodore Allan Steinau. It will be the first time such a demonstration has been staged in Marin.

The demonstration will highlight the Commodore's Annual Post Season Regatta which will be limited to eight-oar racing shells. The University of California varsity crew, under the direction of coach Jim Lemon, will drive from Berkeley to Peninsula Road, Belvedere, where it will launch the boat from a vacant lot.

If there are no other challengers, the Cal crew will put on the rowing demonstration up and down the long arms of the lagoon starting at 2 p.m.

Western Football Reaches New Peak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Rose Bowl were only played at the start of the football season, the West Coast would be in great shape.

For the three prime bowl contenders from the Big 10 have each journeyed West — and they're still looking for a victory.

Unsung UCLA sprung the biggest shocker of the season when it stopped Ohio State 9-7 Saturday. The Buckeyes, ranked No. 1 in the nation, lost because three of their drives stopped dead on UCLA's one-yard line.

The Bruins won because halfback Kermit Alexander dashed 45 yards to a score on UCLA's first play of the game and sophomore quarterback Larry Zeno booted a 24-yard field goal with one minute, 35 seconds to play.

Southern California dumped another Big 10 club, Iowa, 7-0 at Iowa City. Elsewhere Saturday, Washington routed Kansas State 41-0, Oregon State upset Stanford 27-0, Pittsburgh outlasted California 26-24, Oregon blanked San Jose 14-0, Montana turned back Idaho 22-16, and Washington State gained a 24-24 tie with Arizona State.

California lost both its game and No. 1 quarterback Randy Gold. Gold pulled a ligament in his right knee and was operated on Sunday. Cal Coach Marv Levy said Gold, a senior, will be out for two months. He is the third-leading passer in Cal history.

Drake Pirate Gridders Edge San Rafael Bulldogs 14-13

By MAURICE WEINGER

San Rafael won the statistics, but Sir Francis Drake won the ball game, 14-13, Saturday as the Marin County Athletic League started for both teams.

The game featured the tremendous running of halfback Mike Shafer, who gained 142 yards on 29 carries. Most of Shafer's gains were the hard type, up the middle or off tackle, as he led the Bulldogs on five long marches, but only one paid off for a score.

Drake, however, used more of an all around attack with Hamish Tyler throwing and Tom Tanzi running, but the Pirates only picked up four first downs during the game and had to depend on a beautiful kick-off return by halfback Mike Kemp and a recovered fumble to score their two touchdowns.

SHAFER STARS

Shafer was San Rafael's offense. After receiving the opening kick-off, the Bulldogs held the ball during the first nine minutes to score. The march started from San Rafael's 27 with Shafer single handedly contributing 48 of the team's 63-yard drive.

After quarterback Tom Zunino called for a long pass downfield which fell incomplete, the call went to Shafer. Big Mike carried twice for 12, was spelled by John O'Donnel who gained five and then added 16 yards on the next four downs.

Zunino crossed up Drake's defense with a seven-yard rollout, but Shafer went right back to work and carried the last four times from the 15 yard line to cap the drive.

LONG RETURN

But Drake was not to be denied. On the ensuing kick-off Kemp, a junior with a great future, took the ball on his own 15. Moving up field and finding blockers, Kemp then cut right on San Rafael's 45 and with a smashing block from Dick Street sailed home free to tie the score.

While San Rafael used up nine minutes to score, it took Drake just 15 seconds for the equalizer on Kemp's 85-yard return.

After Tyler tried a pass which failed, Tom Tanzi zoomed off right guard for 25 yards. From the 18 Tyler called an up-and-out pass to end Bruce Thompson who was down on the three where Tanzi again went off right tackle for the score.

San Rafael entered the third quarter determined to score once it got possession of the ball. Starting from the Pirates 43, the Bulldogs moved to the two yard line, but the determined defensive wall of Drake, led by John Wallace, Roger Bovard and Rick Lais held.

DRAKE DAMAGE

However, the damage to Drake occurred four plays later. The Pirates tried to run the ball up the middle, but San Rafael gave only three yards on the three plays and a punt situation occurred.

Drake's punter, Chuck Simontacchi, stood back deep in his end zone but never got the ball out of his territory. As his foot connected with the pigskin, tackle Doug Childress blocked it and the loose ball went harmlessly in the air where Bill Henry grabbed it for San Rafael's second score.

Instead of kicking the PAT like it did for the first score, San Rafael elected to run it in, but Shafer's try failed by inches.

Both teams gave away scoring opportunities through penalties and fumbles. Drake's Tyler connected early in the third quarter on a 61-yard pass to Jim Brewer for a first down on the three, only to see the play nullified by a holding penalty. San Rafael got down to the 15-yard line on a run by Zunino, which featured Shafer blocking out two Pirates, but again a 15-yard penalty hurt its cause.

The Drake JV's made it a clean sweep by knocking off San Rafael 19-6, on two tallies by Tony Rivera and one by Larry Stein.

Redeveloper Rips 'Kangaroo Court' Pole-House Critics

The redeveloper of Marin City has branded criticism of its houses on telephone poles "the premature judgment of a kangaroo court of self-appointed know-nothings."

James H. Scheuer of New York, president of California Development Corp., which has the redevelopment master contract, made the statement after viewing the houses for the first time Saturday. He said he is proud to be responsible for them.

Scheuer called a statement by Edward P. Ward, president of the Marin County Real Estate Board, in criticism of the houses "possibly libelous" and said he might take legal action if there are more such statements.

Ward, in a letter to the board membership last week, suggested a demand for grand jury investigation, asserting, "The value, structural integrity and design of the houses should be questioned."

Scheuer, especially incensed by the reference to "structural integrity," said any more statements questioning that would lead to a suit for damages "in seven figures."

Scheuer said he was in California primarily to inspect a housing project of his firm in Sacramento. He came to Marin City at request of Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency.

Also on hand at Klahn's office were Vernon DeMars, John Ready and John Wells, partners in the Berkeley architectural firm of DeMars and Ready which designed the houses, and John H. Tolan Jr. of Barrett Homes, Inc., the builder.

DeMars called on critics to wait until the houses are finished before judging them. He said the concept of pole foundations is relatively new and this is probably the first time it has been attempted on a production basis for the low-priced market.

He said pole construction provided an answer to what would normally be expensive hillside construction requiring much excavation, retaining walls and drainage structures. Placing the houses on poles saved $2,000 per house in total costs, he said, although costing about $250 more than concrete footings.

DeMars also defended the pole house on esthetic grounds. Hillside houses often look like a group of towers, he said, but the pole houses "will seem to float on the wooded hillside."

Klahn said design of the houses was approved by a committee of architects appointed by the redevelopment agency, composed of John Leonard King, Robert Anchen and Bolton White, all Marin residents. He said the agency would welcome an investigation by the grand jury "to correct the many obsolute erroneous statements."

CUBA WANTS U.S. CONDEMNED IN U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —In a stormy General Assembly session, Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos Toraddo demanded today that the United Nations condemn as "an act of war" what he called a U.S. naval blockade.

The Cuban president was interrupted repeatedly by anti-Castro hecklers. His reference to an alleged U.S. naval blockade brought a prolonged burst of applause from the Soviet bloc, a small group of African delegates and some visitors in the public galleries.

He received another round of applause when he said:

"Cuba has friends, Cuba has friendly governments. It is not alone."

A half-dozen shouting men and women were hustled from the public galleries by alert U.N. guards as they hurled insults at Dorticos. Security reinforcements were rushed into the galleries and the assembly president threatened to suspend the meeting unless order was maintained.

In a bitter attack on the Kennedy administration, the Cuban president accused the United States of acting "in obvious contempt of the United Nations" in calling last week's meeting of Latin American foreign ministers in Washington.

He said the meeting was aimed at persuading the other nations to join in "the domestic subversion of my country."

Assembly President Muhammed Zafrulla Khan assured Dorticos he was doing his best to keep order. He warned that he would clear the chamber if necessary.

Dorticos assailed the joint U.S. congressional statement, which he read out, that urged action against Cuba.

Novak Plea Before Planners

A request for rezoning from single family to multiple residential of eight lots on the east side of Reichert Avenue, south of De Long Avenue, will be considered by the Novato planning commission at its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the community building.

The request was made by John Novak, who is also asking for architectural supervision for a 13-unit apartment house at Eighth Street and Grant Avenue.

Sutter Development Co. is asking for rezoning from limited agricultural to multiple dwelling between the end of Sunset Parkway and Highway 101, extending 3,700 feet to the south.

Other items to come before the commission include a tentative map of Terrace Park subdivision of 20 acres between Lynwood Park and Highway 101, and architectural approval for a trailer park on the east side of Railroad Avenue between Cherry and Peach Streets.

Marin County Gets $65,101 Highway Tax

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Marin county received $65,101 as its share of the September distribution of highway users taxes, State Controller Alan Cranston announced today.

The apportionment during September for the state was $33,141,516, up 5.3 per cent from a year ago.

Meredith Goes To Class; No Incidents

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—Negro James Meredith began his second week of classes at the University of Mississippi without incident today and the Army announced it was pulling out a number of the troops that have stood by in case of trouble.

In Washington, Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance said 5,400 of the Army troops moved to Memphis, Tenn., and Columbus, Miss., and held in reserve after riots greeted Meredith's arrival on the campus Sept. 30 were being pulled out immediately and sent back to their home bases.

Troops on duty in Oxford and on call at Memphis and Columbus included more than 15,000 men at the height of the mobilization early last week. However, about 3,500 Mississippi guardsmen have been released and another 4,500 were allowed to return to their jobs but kept on the alert.

Meredith, who spent the weekend off campus, walked to history class in the graduate building, accompanied by four U.S. deputy marshals. Three of the marshals waited on the front steps during the class and one sat just outside the classroom door.

Meredith still is driven to his classes by a handful of marshals but he is no longer followed by a truckful of troops although soldiers are spotted about the campus and his dormitory is closely guarded. All gates of the university still are guarded by troops and guards are set up about the town of Oxford.

Meredith did not eat breakfast at the university cafeteria but ate there last night and received an unaccustomed overture of friendship from a white male student who sat with him. Another student shook the Negro's hand as he was about to leave.

But outside the cafeteria a group of students jeered Meredith last night as he started back to his dormitory.

Educator Warns On Neglecting Of Arts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An educator at UCLA recently warned that neglect of the arts in the secondary schools is leading America down the road to "mediocrity nad vulgarity."

Dr. Jack Morrison, lecturer in theater arts, said "if we continue to label the arts as frills and crowd them out of the curriculum, a proliferation of mediocrity and vulgarity is sure to follow."

Star Scouts Awards

Boy Scout Troop 57 of San Rafael held a court of honor Saturday in Boy Scout Hall, San Rafael, and two boys received their Star Scout Awards and five merit badges.

The two are James Silvestri and Bruce Riggs.

More than 100 persons ate potluck supper and viewed the court of honor. Troop scoutmaster is Pierce Reeves. The troop is sponsored by the San Rafael Kiwanis Club.

NEW GOLF INVITATIONAL

The first women's invitational golf tourney at the Marin Golf and Country Club in Ignacio drew women golfers from throughout the Bay Area to Marin for event Thursday and Friday. The tourney was climaxed by a luncheon on Friday, where Mesdames Hal White, chairman, William McCall and Meyer Schwartz, invitational chairman, placed the prizes around humorous "lady golfer" table decoration.

FAILURE'S FORMULA

How To Rear A Delinquent . .

PALOS VERDES ESTATES (UPI) — A panel of psychologists at Marymount College here offered the following suggestions to develop your own juvenile delinquent.

—Take your child's part in school and neighborhood quarrels. Let him realize that teachers are underpaid incompetents who could not hold a job elsewhere, and that neighbors are narrow-minded and envious.

—Let him dress and behave like a beatnik, especially when he tells you all his friends do, and he doesn't want to be different.

—Encourage him to avoid responsibilities. Tell him to let the "eager beavers" do it.

—Don't tell him he's wrong. That word "wrong" can set up serious frustrations and give him the feeling he's being persecuted.

—Be a "buddy." Let him treat you the way he treats his friends, call you by your first name and speak only slang. It proves you're "hep."

—Let your children hear family quarrels. They'll realize that marriage isn't a bed of roses.

—Let him read all the filth he can buy and borrow. Otherwise, how will he be able to tell the good from the bad?

—If he's a bully and a show-off, don't thwart him. It's probably a manifestation of the fact that he's a born leader.

—Let him postpone his chores, and postpone and postpone until they are either forgotten or you've done them.

—When he's in real trouble — and you can bet your boots he will be — excuse it all by saying that these modern youngsters are always difficult to control, but promise this won't happen again.

Panhellenic Report Tea Set For Marin Sorority Alumnae

Marin sorority alumnae who attend the annual Panhellenic report tea on Oct. 17 will hear the members report on rushing by Marin girls on college campuses throughout the country this fall. Mrs. Austin Burch of Gamma Phi Beta, first vice president, will present the report.

The tea, to be given from 2 to 4 p.m. at Alexander Hall, San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, will feature as guest speaker Mrs. William Gonser of Berkeley and St. Helena. Mrs. Gonser has been a member of the grand council of Kappa Alpha Theta for eight years and has served as vice president in charge of service and philanthropy for that group. "The Future of Sororities" will be her topic.

Mrs. Eric Wilkinson of Kappa Delta will introduce the new officers, who are Mesdames Burch, of Gamma Phi Beta, president; Lewis Kerin of Kappa Alpha Theta, first vice president; Robert Cumming, Kappa Kappa Gamma, second vice president; Marion Scott of Pi Beta Phi, recording secretary; Robert E. Hosmer of Sigma Kappa, corresponding secretary; Donald R. Young of Zeta Tau Alpha, treasurer and Robert Hayes of Phi Mu, press chairman.

Kappa Alpha Theta members will be hostesses for the tea and pouring tea will be Thetas Mrs. George A. Mills and Ashton Stow.

Officers' Wives Will Hear Band

The Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base will be decorated in autumn leaves for the luncheon of the Officers' Wives Club tomorrow.

The 573rd U.S. Air Force band will perform.

A sherry hour to begin at 12:30 p.m., will be followed by the luncheon and program.

Mrs. John W. Jacobs is general chairman for the luncheon. Assisting her are Mesdames William R. Traver, decorations; Leo G. Sill, punch; Roland Howard, publicity; William James, program; and George L. Bell, food. Hostess will be Mrs. Irving Sauls.

Women's Image Is Misleading, Says Anthropologist

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Hard, bossy, unfeminine, yet using womanly wiles to get their way—that's how professional women see themselves, says a leading anthropologist.

Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels thinks they're mixed up and actually believe in that aggressive boss lady cliche that's been kicking around for years.

"The professional woman has a stereotype as an image," says the New York University professor, "and the image is confused, negative and unrealistic."

SHE MADE THIS unhappy discovery when she conducted an opinion poll of 400 men and women from NYU's Graduate School of Education and the Newark College of Engineering, some already professionals and others preparing to be. Her study is dealt with in Dr. Alpenfel's contribution to a newly published book: "American Woman: The Changing Image."

This feminine, unbossy, nonstereotype anthropologist was fascinated, she said, to discover that those not yet professionals were far kinder to women than the professionals, and men were far kinder to their feminine colleagues than the women were to themselves.

IN THE LISTING of women's personality traits, confusion and inconsistency were rampant. Both men and women listed aggressiveness as a leading characteristic of lady professionals. Women were also called sticklers for ethical conduct, but dogmatic, autocratic, cold and hard. At the same time they were considered warmer, more understanding and more cordial than men, enjoying a better relationship with others.

As for professional standards and qualifications, men didn't differentiate between the sexes. Women did.

Men put education first and emphasized membership in professional groups, professional reading, training and appearance, which they called being well-groomed and women called well-dressed.

ONLY THREE PER CENT of the men cited intelligence, while women thought intelligence the outstanding qualification for themselves. A bare one per cent of the women mentioned education. Not one woman put down professional reading.

"My major concern is the confusion in the mind of women who are professionals," she went on.

"Women are still operating on the theory that a woman's place is in the home. They don't want to work for women. They don't respect women as administrators. Yet women have been proving for decades they can be good professionals."

It's for society to decide, concluded Dr. Alpenfels. "If you're not going to give the same opportunities to girls as to boys, then don't give them the same education."

Marinites Attending Convention

Delegations from every state, District of Columbia, Panama Canal Zone and Puerto Rico will attend the Auxiliary's four-day conclave.

Attending from Marin County will be California's state president Mrs. Richard Brown, member of San Anselmo Unit 179; state Pan American chairman Mrs. Jene Lestanguet of San Anselmo Unit; state alternate hospital representative Mrs. Bryce Florence of Twin Cities Unit 313; Mrs. William Wagner, president of Twin Cities Unit, and Mrs. Richard Miehling of Wilkins Unit in San Rafael.

Speakers at the convention sessions include former President Harry S. Truman, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Mrs. Hazel A. Blanchard, president of the National Education Assn. and Gen. David M. Shoup, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will be guest of honor and will address the National Commander's dinner tomorrow at the Flamingo Hotel.

TEA TO FETE PRESIDENTS IN FAIRFAX

A tea to honor the club's past presidents will be given tomorrow afternoon by the Dorcas Society of Fairfax Community Church, attended by the women interested in the missionary, social or church work in the area.

The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Berger Hall of the church in Fairfax, announced Mrs. August Rasmussen, president.

The Dorcas Society is heading a church-wide party to honor the Rev. James Sherman, who is new to the church. Mrs. Tom Teare, chairman, has collected donations for pantry articles to be presented at the party.

'TREMENDOUS RESPONSE'

Consumer Counsel Assesses Success Of 3 Year Program

October marks the third anniversary of California's Consumer Counsel program.

The new idea in California state government, the program is unique in the United States. While a few states (including California) have special sections in the offices of their attorney generals to deal with frauds against consumers, only California has a Consumer Counsel placed at the top of level of government.

California's Consumer Counsel post was created by an act of the Legislature at the request of Gov. Edmund G. Brown to provide an official voice for consumers.

The law calls upon the Consumer Counsel to advise the Governor and Legislature on matters affecting consumers and make recommendations as needed; to "lobby" for consumers by speaking on their behalf at hearings of governmental bodies; and to study consumer problems and provide information to consumers.

MRS. HELEN NELSON, formerly of Mill Valley, appointed Consumer Counsel by Governor Brown, considers consumer information an important part of her work. Earlier this year her office cooperated with women's organizations to conduct a series of consumer information conferences in the state. Representatives of government agencies were on hand to answer questions about food shopping, credit buying, selling methods and all sorts of related subjects.

"The response was tremendous," Mrs. Nelson said. "Hundreds of consumers came to these meetings eager to learn how to buy more wisely."

"One thing we all learned," Mrs. Nelson adds, "is that too often at the time of purchase there is precious little choice left for us consumers to make. The fundamental decision has been made by others, sometimes in private industry and sometimes in government."

How much a loaf of bread weighs, how much fat a pound of hamburger can contain, how much interest we pay on a charge account—these decisions are made by our representatives in government, Mrs. Nelson points out.

MRS. HELEN NELSON

MEAT INSPECTION—California has the best meat inspection program of any state. It is administered by the State Department of Agriculture, which works closely with the Meat Inspection Division of the U.S. Agriculture Department. Inspectors check meat for wholesomeness and safety. They do not grade meat for quality.

Hamburger — in California hamburger has a legal meaning. The law says it can contain only the "voluntary striated muscle of fresh beef" with not more than 30 per cent fat. If any substance is added that is not approved by the State Public Health Department—other meat, or water or food coloring—the hamburger is considered adulterated.

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture, not the State, sets the grade standards for meat to assure uniformity of quality all around the nation.

Use of government grades for meat is voluntary, not compulsory. Meat packers pay the government for the grading service.

SEW SIMPLE

Newspaper Rules Are Helpful In Sewing Laminated Fabrics

"Since this is the season for sewing laminated fabrics, I'd like to share my tip. In order to keep my seams straight, and also to keep them feeding into the sewing machine, I cover them with the edge of a newspaper. The border of the newspaper, either the print, or solid lines, will be a perfect guide line for the seam. This fabric, which seems tricky to sew, sews like a dream this way."

This suggestion from Mrs. Don Lewis, Elizabethton, Tenn., is such a good idea that she is being awarded the weekly tailor trix pressing board prize this week. Thank you, Mrs. Lewis, for sharing with us.

"Somehow or other, I always manage to stretch the shoulder seams when I make a garment. They also have a pulled, stretched look after the garment has been worn. What am I doing wrong?"—Mrs. B.R.

Dear Mrs. B.R.:

Perhaps you have forgotten the importance of "stay-stitching." Another helpful tip for fabrics such as jersey or other stretch type fabrics is to pin a piece of seam tape over your seamline. This will be included in the stitching of the shoulder seams. The firmness of the seam tape will prevent the seam from stretching out of shape.

Mrs. S. D. Montgomery of Southfield, Mich., says: "Here's a give and take idea: Set up a swap system with your church group, friends, club members, and neighbors. Let it be known what you need for your particular sewing project and in turn, pass on to others what they might use, and what you no longer have use for.

"Make your exchanges on club nights, or oftener, if possible. You might 'kick-in' ends of knitting wool for crocheting afghans, your friends might turn over cotton scraps for someone who does quilting, discarded clothing for makeovers, etc. There is fun in sharing, and satisfaction in not having ragbag clutter."

"Beading is so very popular nowadays, and yet I can't find any information on how to go about doing this type of work at home. I am a dressmaker and have had several requests for this beading work, but don't feel like plunging into it on a hit or miss basis. Can you help me, please?"—Mrs. J.K.

Dear Mrs. J. K.:

The all-over beading that you will find on many expensive clothes is done by machine or is done from the wrong side of the fabric with a special crochet-type hook. This requires very specialized training.

However, for a small amount of beading which is very effective, the beads are worked from the right side of the garment. Your design must be stamped or outlined with thread first.

Second, place a soft, firm fabric on the wrong side of your garment, under the design. This is especially important when beading sweaters and will keep the design from stretching out of shape.

Use a very fine needle, usually at least a size 11, a long needle is preferable. Don't use a thread that is too long because it will become frayed and weak. Wax the thread with beeswax before you begin.

Each bead is sewed on separately with a tiny back stitch. This will hold the beading in place permanently. Beading adds a costume room touch to your garments and can be fun to do—however it is time consuming, so don't try to hurry it up.

"I have a leather coat that needs to be shortened and I don't know how to go about it. Can I do this myself or must I have it done?"—Mrs. T.T.R.

Dear Mrs. T.T.R.:

You may shorten the coat yourself and it is actually very simple to do. The facing has probably been machine stitched to the coat at the lower edge. You may turn the facing back and machine stitch it on the new hemline.

You will probably have to use a piece of brown paper over the leather so that it will feed into the machine. Trim the excess leather away and turn the front edge right side out. The rest of the hem can be fastened on the hemline with paper clips to hold it nice and even. Now use household glue (the milky kind) and glue the hem in place. This will give a smooth appearance to the hem of the coat.

Your sewing glossary: Stay-stitch: This is a row of machine stitching that is made on curved or shaped areas of your garment before you begin construction. Use the regular length stitch and stitch on a single layer of fabric exactly ½ inch from the cut edge. This stitching will prevent stretching as you are constructing your garment.

How To Keep Wash Day From Taking The Starch Out Of You

Are starching chores taking the starch out of you? They shouldn't. You can come by that fine finished look for your husband's collars and cuffs, in your little girl's dresses and blouses with minimal effort. Just bear these few tips in mind:

ALWAYS MEASURE starch in cold water, gradually adding it to the water and mixing until the solution is completely dissolved.

How much starch should you use? Enough to completely cover the surfaces of all you want starched.

These will vary according to the finish you desire. Using two quarts of water as a base, gradually add about ¼ cup of starch for a light finish, a ½ cup for medium finish and 1¼ cups for a real crisp, heavy finish. Gradual addition is a key part of the operation. And remember, double or triple these ratios according to the amount of material you want starched.

CAUTION: Don't starch such light materials as silk, rayon, nylon and jersey which lack the substance to support the solution. Wool garments also should not be starched.

Another taboo, never use starch and bleach together . . . bleach your whites first, wash and rinse, and then starch. The bleach must be removed in its regular operation or it can burn through your cloth.

When ready for the actual starching operation, dip and squeeze damp articles in your starch solution several times, then wring firmly and dry. Next, sprinkle, wrap in a towel or plastic covering and hold them in this fashion at least two hours before ironing.

For instant spray starch application, you have only to shake the spray can well before using, applying to garment some six to 12 inches away, spraying evenly over the surface you want starched. Then iron immediately, without waiting for the solution to dry. For a heavier finish, merely repeat spraying and ironing. But don't apply too much—a lasting foam indicates you've overdone it.

There is some controversy as to whether or not starching reduces the life of a fabric. Indications are that starched materials last almost as long, depending on their function. For example, collars and cuffs, which experience heavier abrasion caused by constant moving contact with the skin, may wear slightly faster when starched than when not; curtains and lace will not wear appreciably faster. But a man's dress shirt can be worn longer when starched than when not because of its greater wrinkle-resistance, affording less frequent washing and longer wear.

Television Writer To Be Speaker For Women At Base

Mrs. Robert A. Stribling will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Protestant women of the Chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base at noon luncheon Wednesday.

Mrs. Stribling will discuss "Breakthrough," a TV series shown weekly which began April 7. Mrs. Stribling wrote 12 of the 13 original series dealing with problems of children aged 9 to 12 years. She is also a staff writer for "Popular Ceramics" and a free lance writer, dealing primarily with glass and mosaics.

Mrs. Stribling is the wife of Colonel Stribling, commander of the Western Air Rescue center at Hamilton.

Soften Noise In The Home

As a homeowner you probably put up a pretty good defense against dirt, sun, wind, rain, heat, cold, pollen and burglars—but what about noise?

Homes today are probably the noisiest ever. We have a great number of appliances that entertain and save us work, but they do make noise. Wall, floor and ceiling and big glass surfaces reflect and intensify noise.

You can stop most noise by throttling television, radio, doorbell, dog and children, then plugging your ears. But if you don't want to eliminate the sounds of life, just control them.

The idea is to soften all sound-reflecting surfaces, concentrating first in rooms where the family congregates most, the living and dining rooms, kitchen, family and recreation rooms.

ONE OF THE most effective silencers is acoustical ceiling tile which can convert the ceiling from a reflector to an absorber of as much as 70 per cent of the excess noise that hits it. The tile comes in a great variety of finishes and patterns and it is an easy do-it-yourself project for the handyman who can fasten the tile with mastic, staple or nail it to wood furring strips or slide it into metal channels.

Pay attention to hard surfaces other than the ceiling. Large expanses of glass, like picture windows, or hard wall surfaces reflect noise. Put up curtains or drapes.

USE CARPETING to silence floor sounds. Even a couple of throw rugs in the family room or children's rooms will dull many sharp sounds. So will carpeting or rubber treads on stairs.

Pupils Who Are Honest On Tests Need To Have More Protection

Did you ever cheat at school? Did you do a little cribbing on some tests? Probably. If you didn't, you're an exception. Most of us were guilty.

Will your children cheat? Yes, over half of them will cheat if a test is important and they think they can get by with it. Those who don't know the answers will copy them. Those who do know will let the others see their papers. Our children are the same as we were.

Don't misunderstand me. Cheating is wrong and should be prevented. Teachers should do everything they can to make it impossible. No one should knowingly let cheaters prosper. The pupils who are honest on tests must be protected. But we don't need to make the mistake of thinking youngsters caught cheating are moral lepers. They should be punished appropriately and should be supervised closely thereafter, but not condemned forever.

Did you know there is no one trait of honesty? Instead there are "honesties." We all show varying degrees of honesty in different situations. Today's school cheaters will be tomorrow's constructive citizens. Don't forget that.

I've a nasty sense of humor. Many years ago I taught a university graduate class in a straight-laced little town in another state. Most of the members of the class were high school teachers who condemned cheaters without mercy. So I gave them a hard final exam and left the room. I hurried around to an observation post where I could see without being seen. Can you guess what I saw? More than half of those teachers were cheating! I revealed myself. They were humiliated, but learned a lesson they'll never forget.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Do adults cheat when they take written tests?"

Mrs. S. G.

(A) I gave your question to some civil service leaders. They replied that many of the folks who take civil service exams show a willingness to cheat. They said that in their offices they try to prevent it by preparing the kinds of tests which make cheating difficult, and by patrolling the rooms when tests are taken.

Presidents' Assembly Luncheon

Mrs. Paul A. Hammer, newly installed president of the Presidents' Assembly of Marin County, will open the first meeting of the fall season Oct. 15 at the Fairfax Women's Club.

A salad luncheon will be served. Hostesses for the day are Mesdames Albert Heston, chairman, and Edward Hillis, co-chairman. Assisting are Mesdames George Jones, Harold Meyers and Herman Mangels.

Members representing the six Federated Clubs of Marin County will outline the purpose of the Presidents' Assembly for the year: to award a scholarship to a deserving student of Marin County in the field of nursing, music or science.

Special Square Dance

A special square dance will be given Oct. 13 at 8:30 p.m. by the Hay Balers Square Dance Club at IDESI Hall, Novato. Lew Champion, club president, has announced that Lou Hughes will be the guest caller.

Cut Flowers Topic For Novato Club

Mrs. Katherine Eubanks of Larkspur will give a lecture and demonstration of arranging cut flowers for the home at the Novato Garden Club meeting at noon tomorrow at the Novato Community Club building.

Hostesses for the day will be Mesdames Walter Kuser, Vera Mason, William H. Melson, Andrew McLaughlin and John S. MacPhee.

Garden club members are making plans to sponsor an essay contest for Novato Elementary and high school students.

The contest will deal with the anti-litter campain which the garden club has undertaken and it is aimed at making school children aware of the problem.

Marinite Will Attend Navy Sponsor Lunch

The society of sponsors of the U.S. Navy, San Francisco Bay Area Chapter, will have its annual fall luncheon Thursday, announced Mrs. O. P. Thomas Jr. of Tiburon, secretary, who is local reservations chairman.

It will be held at the Officers' Club on Treasure Island at noon. Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood (USN ret.) will be the guest speaker.

Countdown Begins For Greenbrae P-TA

A six-foot model spaceman, Air Force posters, giant photos of missiles, diagrams and decorative satellites will give thrust to the space theme.

Dinner chairman Mrs. Jack Vogel says the evening will be "out of this world."

Reservations chairman is Mrs. Richard Kahn.

Preparing the countdown for the 6:30 p.m. dinner are chairmen Mrs. R. L. DeSaussure, food; Mrs. Roger Sobel, hospitality; Mrs. Horace Fritz, hostesses, and Mrs. Edward Littman, decorations.

In the cast for the entertainment are Mrs. Hugh Pessner as Alice, the heroine; principal K. J. Preble as John, the hero; Mrs. Vogel as the vamp; Dave Simonds as the villain; Mrs. Francis Fogarty as the mother; Bill Walsh, the father; Mrs. Robert Bauer, the grandma; and Mrs. Dale Norton as the piano accompanist.

Young People More Conservative At Dances Says Band Leader

He plays for society—Vanderbilts, Mellons, Mills, Whitneys, Fords. He is popular with public high school students and Ivy League colleges. He plays nationality parties, businessmen's parties and for the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

"YOUNG PEOPLE realize these are serious times, and whereas conversation at parties often has been frivolous, now one hears talk about atomic bombs, Russian problems, feeding the population of the world. I don't mean youths are too somber. They are beginning to think, and have more fun in a refined way. Their attitudes have changed. Instead of coming up angry-like and saying, "Hey play a rhumba, you guys, will you?" they say "When you get around to it, would you please play----."

College men do not make too much of a thing about poems anymore, he says. Some Princeton and Yale boys don't even want to wear evening clothes, and attendance is lost by insisting on tuxedos.

There is more to playing for young people than meets the eye, however, Lanin volunteers. Orchestra leaders must be psychologists, sizing up a group instantly, and deciding the mood of the crowd.

STRATEGY MUST be used to pace a party. Perhaps they don't know one another or they've lost a football game that day. You must be prepared to change the mood."

Lanin's orchestras do not play from books, he says. They know music and can fake it when necessary, and can change the tenor of a party in a jiffy.

The most popular never-go-wrong tunes are the standard numbers of Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Rodgers and Hart, he says.

"WE GIVE A different beat of the same song to different groups. Society likes a bright tempo, two-beat jazz; business men like it slow and talky. College men keep their gyms so dark you need a seeing-eye dog to get around, so the words of a song are slowly drawn out in a romantic fashion. Then we break up the mood with an occasional jazz number or Latin music," he explains.

Young people are better dancers today, and even young college boys can do a variety of dances — tangos, rhumbas, sambas, and Viennese waltzes "better than the Viennese." Debutantes like to twist, although they are pretty conservative otherwise, he points out.

Marin Women

Officers To Be Installed By Credit Women Of Marin

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Marin will hold its sixth annual installation of officers at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael on Wednesday. A cocktail hour will precede the dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Doris Waite, past president of CWBC of Alameda County, who was instrumental in organizing the Marin club, will serve as the installing officer.

Officers to be installed are Mrs. Adelaide Tedrick, president; Mrs. Rachel Gorb, past president; Mrs. Regina Murray, first vice president; Mrs. Fay Fern, second vice president; Mrs. Ethel Nuckols, recording secertary; Mrs. Irene Monroe, treasurer; and Mrs. Claire Cross, corresponding secretary.

Looking Ahead To Education

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Education—circa 1980 — will make today's schools seem about as old fashioned as a pot belly stove.

If you look far enough ahead, you might see something like this, said the National Education Association:

—Students studying a foreign land making field trips there by jet during class; teachers for local schools recruited from all over the world; the school day and year being adjusted to serve the needs of the individual student.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Sleeping on a sheepskin is the latest preventive measure against bedsores. A special wool skin is required, preferably one that has been shorn partially so that it is only an inch thick where it remains attached to the hide. Each fiber is said to work like a tiny coil spring, and many thousands of these are grouped together.

The idea is good, considering the cause of bedsores. These skin lesions stem from prolonged pressure over one or more of the bony prominences along the back, the buttocks, and heels. Most of the candidates are victims of stroke or fractures; they are thin, emaciated, helpless, and unable to turn at will. The bones seem to push their way through the skin of these bedridden patients. The skin of the back has little or no padding and, in addition, is soiled frequently by body excretions.

INTELLIGENT AND GENTLE nursing care are the best preventives. The method consists usually of cleanliness, frequent turning, massaging, and applying powder to the back and the buttocks. Small, unhealthy looking red spots over bony prominences are early signs of trouble. These areas should be protected immediately before the skin breaks down into an ulcer.

The sheepskin is said to help because it offers resiliency and provides a base with even pressure on all parts of the back. The skin also remains dry because the wooly side is airy and absorbs and dissipates moisture. In addition, it does not wrinkle or produce friction. It is more effective in preventing than in curing bed sores.

THE USE OF SHEEPSKIN as a bed liner is not new. It has been used by a few physicians for more than 30 years but has not been adopted widely throughout the country. One surgeon prefers deerskin but this material is difficult to obtain. Others have tried spongy types of sheeting but animal skins seem to work better. They are not a panacea for the age-old problem of bedsores but are helpful, especially when night shirts or pajamas are dispensed with.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NIGHT PAIN

W. L. W. writes: I have a bad heart and get chest pains, but more often at night. To get relief I must take nitro pills. Please explain this.

REPLY

You have nocturnal angina pectoris. Pain develops when sleeping because the heart slows down and the blood pressure falls. When this occurs, less blood enters the narrowed coronary artery; pain results because the heart muscle is getting too little nourishment.

ALCOHOLIC'S PERSONALITY

J. P. S. writes: Could a young man's attitude toward life determine how much he drinks and smokes?

REPLY

Yes. The tense, overly active man, for example, might seek relaxation in a drink or a smoke.

OUT AFTER SNEEZING

Mrs. G. writes: What would cause a person to black out after a sneeze?

REPLY

This is known as cough syncope. It is caused by changes in the circulation brought on by the increase in pressure within the chest during coughing.

INFLAMED PANCREAS

K. S. writes: Do you have any information on viral pancreatitis?

REPLY

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the astronauts pull the stock market up with them? Will tax loss selling, just around the corner, raise volume if not prices? Can good earnings reports, especially of some of the utilities in growth areas, lure the conservative investor back?

As the market strives to make up its mind which way it's headed, and as most days find trading slow, Wall Street is looking hopefully for something that will make common stocks more competitive again with other ways of investing money.

Stocks of some companies with aerospace contracts already have recovered a nice chunk of their earlier price losses. Brokers are hoping that more of the general public will be attracted.

For the average investor the trick is to be sure which of the hundreds of possibly eligible companies, large and small, will land aerospace contracts or subcontracts. The government wil pour billions of dollars into the space race.

But for the investor there's the question: Will profits from any particular contract materially raise total earnings, especially of the big and diversified corporations?

Brokers look for a large volume of tax loss selling this year as an aftermath of the drop in prices of many stocks since January 1. Persons who bought at prices higher than today's can sell, using the loss to offset any gains from more fortunate ventures.

Naturally the brokers hope that such selling will be largely in the form of switching. That is, money from sales for tax purposes immediately used to buy other stocks that are or appear to be bargain priced now.

But Wall Street is aware that common stocks today have a host of competitors for any idle cash. Various savings institutions are offering interest rates that still top the yields of many stocks — that is, return in dividends as percentage of current prices.

Many bonds, corporate and government, return more at today's prices than do lots of stocks. A lot of investors, big or small, who sold stocks during the market breaks in May and June are believed to have put their money then and since into savings institutions or bonds, real estate or art.

Getting them back into the market may take some doing.

One thing that could do the trick would be a sudden bit of good news — or a growing belief that good news is in the works. If the public gets that idea, it will go for common stocks again.

The lower yields, compared with savings or bonds, will weigh less with the public than the hope for capital gains—that is, the chance to sell stocks for more than it paid for them.

That is why some think the astronauts who have captured the public's fancy and enthusiasm could lead the public back into buying stocks of companies whose future is closely linked with the space age.

Others think some investors will be impressed by increased earnings of many utilities. Yields of these stocks aren't spectacular, because their earnings are subject to government regulation.

For the same reason, price swings either up or down tend to be staid compared with some industrials.

But utilities serving growing sections offer many attributes usually considered the monopoly of the once glamorous growth companies in other fields.

Brokers argue that, given a reasonably healthy general economy in the next few years, earnings of these utilities should continue to grow —and, with luck, so should the price of their stocks.

Two Marinites Get Army Awards

Two Marin County residents, Mrs. Eva S. James of 255 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, and Richard S. Hargis of 371 Irwin Street, San Rafael, received cash awards last week for money saving suggestions adopted in their work in the San Francisco Army Engineers District.

Mrs. James was given $85 for her suggestion that the record holding division be abolished and all records be held at the General Services Administration in South San Francisco.

Hargis won $25 for suggesting a guide gate rod on the district's dredge, Biddle. Both suggestions have been adopted. Mrs. James' suggestion will save about $1,600 a year, according to Col. John A. Morrison, district engineer, who presented the awards.

Concert, Lecture Tickets Available

Free tickets to the College of Marin Concert and Lecture Series talk on Red China by Urban G. Whitaker are available at the college bookstore from 7:45 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.

Whitaker will speak Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Olney Hall. His topic will be, "Red China: Recognized or Ignored?"

Named To State Post

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Paul Jainchill has been appointed a state conciliator to fill a vacancy in the Los Angeles office of the State Conciliation Service, the State Department of Industrial Relations has announced.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Novato Unified School District, Marin County, California, will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for the construction of the Novato High School Drainage work.

2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications as adopted by the Governing Board for the Novato Unified School District, now on file with Reid Rockwell Banwell & Tarics, Architects, 1019 Market Street, San Francisco 3, California, where same may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per set, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within five days after the bids are opened.

3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of Reid Rockwell Banwell & Tarics, 1019 Market Street, San Francisco 3, California, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for 10% of the bid amount, made payable to the order of the Novato Unified School District. Bids shall be sealed and filed at the District Office located at 1015 7th Street, Novato, California, prior to 4:00 P.M., Oct. 16, 1962 at which time they will be publicly opened and declared.

4. The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract or to furnish the necessary bonds after being requested to do so by the Governing Board of the Novato Unified School District.

5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and materials bond in the amount equal to 50% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Governing Board of the Novato Unified School District.

6. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Governing Board of the Novato Unified School District has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded the successful bidder.

U.S. Survey At Drake

Sir Francis Drake High School's geometry classes are part of a national survey of more than 40,000 students to determine the value of the mathematics curriculums across the nation. The survey will consist of tests to be given in November to 10th and 12th graders, under supervision of the School Mathematics Study Group at Stanford University.

BACKACHE & NERVE TENSION
SECONDARY TO KIDNEY IRRITATION
After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many woman as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

POWERFUL NEW PLUNGER CLEARS CLOGGED TOILETS in a jiffy!

NEVER AGAIN that sick feeling when your toilet overflows
TOILAFLEX Toilet ALL-ANGLE Plunger
Ordinary plungers just don't seat properly. They permit compressed air and water to splash back. Thus you not only have a mess, but you lose the very pressure you need to clear the obstruction.
With "Toilaflex", expressly designed for toilets, no air or water can escape. The full pressure plows through the clogging mass and swishes it down. Can't miss!
- DOUBLE-SIZE CUP, DOUBLE-PRESSURE
- DESIGNED TO FLEX AT ANY ANGLE
- CENTERS ITSELF, CAN'T SKID AROUND
- TAPERED TAIL GIVES AIR-TIGHT FIT

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

It's Just Barbershop Right Now —But Gals May Soon Be Welcome

Right now it's just a barbershop, but it may turn into a hairdressing salon for women and girls as well.

Arbory C. Johnson, many years at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, has bought Caly's Barbershop at 877 Fourth Street, San Rafael, has opened for men's haircuts and is remodeling.

An experienced hairdresser and stylist (he originated the "Bo-Peep" cut for juveniles), he is considering making use of the "back room" for some of his specialty work. Name will probably be Johnson's Barbershop for the time being.

MRS. ELAINE ROBINSON and son Warren (Mr. Marin Upholstery himself) after 15 years in San Rafael have now bought their own building. It's the one at 1321 Fourth Street—the one they moved into about six months ago from 514 Third Street.

BRUCE W. BUTTE, Mill Valley resident and partner in Butte, Herrero and Hyde of San Francisco, is the picture of elation. His firm had four of its graphic designs selected for the 1962-63 Graphics International, considered by many art directors as one of the most discriminating collections of advertising art.

DEVELOPED by Lever Brothers, a new premium quality margarine with safflower oil as its major ingredient is being introduced in Marin County food stores. Named Golden Glow, the spread is high in poly-unsaturates for those who must watch the types of fat in their diet. Safflower oil was chosen for its lightness and delicate flavor.

SPECIAL CONFERENCES planned for the California Real Estate Convention's program tomorrow and Wednesday in San Francisco:

Tomorrow's subjects: state Board of Investment; financing single and multi-family housing; condominium and co-op apartments; farm lands; exchanges and trade-ins; probate property sales.

On Wednesday: multiple listing services; aspects of syndication; real estate trusts; public housing, rehabilitation and senior citizen housing; commercial, industrial and subdivision properties; realtors for America; property management.

Dan Deedy of the Marin County Real Estate Board urges local realtors to attend one or more of these discussions. There's lots to be learned.

WHY NOT in Marin?

Eden Roc Gardens, a plush condominium project by Santa Monica millionaire Bert M. Olden, provides office and residence quarters for harried executives who have to keep one eye on business, the other on health, and both on costs.

Businesswise, there are PBX and TWX communications systems, stockticker, mail handling, telephone answering service, stenographer pools, station wagons for transportation, police protection and multi-purpose auditorium.

Designed particularly for corporations who invest heavily in management health and meetings.

Duffy To Discuss Book On TV Show

Clinton P. Duffy of Greenbrae, former warden of San Quentin Prison, will be a guest Thursday on the American Broadcasting Co. network television program. "The Tennessee Ernie Ford Show."

Duffy will discuss with Ford his book, "88 Men and Two Women," and his opposition to capital punishment.

Glenn County, formed in 1891, is named for Dr. Hugh J. Glenn an 1849 pioneer and for many years the state's leading wheat grower.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

HOW NOT TO DO IT

Parking Stalls Widths To Be Discussed

Widths to be required for enclosed parking stalls, covered parking spaces and uncovered parking spaces will be discussed by San Rafael planning commissioners at their meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the city hall.

The planning commission will also hear again an application that is becoming a perennial one. This is the request for subdivision of a 6,000-square foot lot extending from Miramar Avenue to 27 Wood Street.

The city council has twice rejected this, as the lot was subdivided illegally after a turndown in 1959. The new application, by San Francisco attorney Hartley Appleton on behalf of Mrs. A. B. Walker, new owner of the 27 Wood Street end, is merely to cover an omission in his first application, according to City Planner James R. Garrett. Appleton has hinted at legal action against Marvelous Marin Realty Co., which twice sold the 27 Wood Street property as a house and lot.

Second public hearings are scheduled rezoning of property at Manuel Freitas Parkway and Highway 101 from unclassified for the Northgate Shopping Center; rezoning of property held by Richard Bettini on Woodland Avenue between Bungalow and Irwin streets from single family dwelling to apartments.

First public hearing is set on application by Wachman and McDuffie for rezoning property on the southeast corner of the Dubois Street-Woodland Avenue intersection from commercial to apartments.

In all, 20 items are on the planning commission's agenda.

Tools, Gun Stolen

Theft of about $150 worth of tools and a shotgun from a grease truck parked in the yard of the A. G. Raisch Co. in Black Point has been reported to sheriff's deputies by Robert J. Anhorn, company foreman.

Nicasio Reservoir Getting Wastes, Health Chief Says

Dumping of untreated wastes from dairies and homes into Lucas Valley Creek is threatening pollution of Nicasio Reservoir, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer declared today.

"Problems of watershed sanitation have arisen in the area which drains into the Nicasio Reservoir," she said.

She cited figures which show that of 14 dairies located along the creek, an average 1,000 gallons of water used to wash out barns and corrals of each dairy flows daily into the creek which drains into the reservoir.

In addition, of 30 homes located along the creek and other homes in the area, sewer facilities consist of septic tanks with leaching lines close to the creek, or direct drainage which takes waste directly from the home to the creek.

"Homes in the area present a real or potential source of contamination of the water supply," Dr. Albrecht stated.

Representatives of the State Department of Health and officials of the county health department have met with the county farm bureau and dairymen to find a solution. Two recommendations have been made to halt further pollution by dairies:

1. Holding ponds of sufficient size should be constructed to store all the waste water from barns and corrals until eventually the water evaporates or is absorbed into the ground.

2. Retaining walls should be provided to prevent the piled manure from flowing into the creek. Dr. Albrecht said some of the dairymen in the area have already constructed holding ponds and retaining walls.

Watershed lands of the Marin Municipal Water District and the North Marin Water District are protected against construction of subdivisions which would add to contamination of the water supply, Dr. Albrecht said, because approval of the districts is needed for development.

In the case of land owned by individuals, Dr. Albrecht said control of construction rests with the health department's and county planning commission's approval of plans.

'George' Needs Second Feeder Of Material

There are so many Marin County departments and outside agencies wanting to use "George," the county's new 1401 data processing machine, that the board of supervisors will be asked tomorrow to hire a new man to feed material to the versatile machine.

"We are getting requests from school districts and agencies from other counties for special reports on the 1401 which far exceed our original estimate," Arleigh Sewell, director of data processing, wrote in a letter to the board.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has agreed with Sewell that a new position called "data processing analyst" ought to be created to keep up with machine's workload.

According to Bruce, the position would be one of "high level . . . to supervise the system's analysis and programming staff . . . to produce efficient 1401 programs." Annual salary for the job would be $9,120.

Sewell estimates increased revenue will be about $10,000 from out-of-country school districts, such as Daly City in San Mateo County, for processing of reports and tests.

Other matters on the board's agenda, which opens at 9 a.m., include a request from Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy, county medical director, for action on the policy statement of his department, which he submitted to the board "six months ago."

U.S. total exports in 1961 of domestic merchandise were valued at 20.6 billion dollars, according to the Census Bureau.

San Rafael Board Of Education Looking Into High School Site

Action regarding a high school site in an area that may not long remain within the San Rafael High School District is proposed for tomorrow night's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education.

A'leen Runkle, senior planner in the Marin County Planning Department, will review the county master plan indicating community development in the north portion of the high school district, near Hamilton Air Force Base. The board will consider action to acquire a site for a high school on the Ponticopoulos property in that area.

The area under discussion is now in San Jose Elementary School District but within San Rafael High School District. Three times, unification of San Jose District with the Novato Unified School District has been turned down by the electorate in one or the other of those two districts. A fourth attempt at unification, however, is under consideration for early next year.

The San Jose District adjoins the Novato district. Novato High School is visible from some homes in the San Jose District. Students from there must travel eight to 10 miles by bus to attend either Terra Linda or San Rafael High. Members of the San Rafael Board of Education have made no secret of the fact they hope the San Jose district will unify with Novato. If it does, a high school to serve it would not be the responsibility of the San Rafael board.

A proposed drainage control program for the Davidson School area, to be financed by assessment district, is to be described to the board by civil engineer Daniel P. Coleman. The district is proposed as an adjunct to the Bret Harte Drainage Assessment District, of which Coleman is engineer.

Twenty items are on the agenda for the board of education meeting, set for 7:30 p.m. at 215 Mission Avenue.

French, Spanish Reports Due

Reports on the teaching of French and Spanish will be heard by the Larkspur School District board at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district superintendent's office at Larkspur-Corte Madera school.

Architect Burton Rockwell will make a progress report on expansion of Neil Cummins and San Clemente schools.

San Rafael High Editors Named

Barbara Johnson has been named editor of the 1963 edition of the Searchlight, San Rafael High school yearbook, and Maureen Perkins has been chosen to edit the Red 'n' White, the Searchlight's offspring.

Barbara is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Johnson of 205 Mark Twain Avenue. Maureen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Perkins of 23 Robinhood Drive. Both girls are juniors.

Although the Red 'n' White is now the high school newspaper, originally that was the Searchlight's role. It started in March, 1898, when the high school was on E Street. Its commencement issue each year was especially large, and continued to grow more elaborate until the Searchlight became an annual, and the Red 'n' White was started to replace it as newspaper.

German Club Officers

New officers of Sir Francis Drake High School's German Club are Lenore Schmidt, president; Ron Schelinger, vice president, and Steven Schultz, secretary-treasurer. The club plans to produce Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" in German in December.

Giants Even Series! Blast Yankees For 7-3 Victory

Chuck Hiller's Grand Slam Breaks 2-2 Tie In Seventh

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Hiller, a slick fielder never noted as a power hitter, blasted a grand-slam home run in the seventh inning today to give the San Francisco Giants a 7-3 victory over the New York Yankees and deadlock the World Series at two games each.

It was the first bases-loaded home run ever hit by the 27-year-old Hiller in his major league career.

The booming drive into the lower right field stands off Yankee relief ace Marshall Bridges, coming with two out in the seventh just when it seemed the Yankees might escape from a dangerous situation, brought the Giants back from a one-game deficit for the second time in this series.

It also made ex-Yankee Don Larsen, now a Giant relief pitcher, the winning hurler against his old mates on the sixth anniversary of the date in 1956 when he hurled a "perfect game" for the Yankees in the series against the then Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rookie Tom Haller had given the Giants a 2-0 lead in the second inning with a two-run homer, but the Yankees matched that with a two-run rally in the sixth inning on two walks and two singles.

The Giants added another run in the top of the ninth when Matty Alou reached first on an infield single, took second on a sacrifice by Billy O'Dell, and scored as Bobby Richardson threw wildly to first on Hiller's grounder.

VAIN RUN

The Yankees rallied for a vain run with two out in the ninth inning on singles by Tony Kubek, Richardson, and Mike Tresh but Mickey Mantle hit into a forceout to end the game.

The Giants started their game-winning rally in the seventh against pitcher Jim Coates, who had replaced Whitey Ford after Ford went out for a pinch-hitter in the sixth.

The 2-0 Giant lead lasted until the sixth inning when the Yankees finally broke the scoring ice against young Giant fastballer Bob Bolin. Bolin had come into the game in the fifth inning when Giant starter Juan Marichal was forced to leave the game because he injured his pitching hand while attempting to bunt in the fifth inning.

Bolin got out of one jam in the fifth inning but was knocked out in the sixth. Larsen relieved him and halted the Yankee rally.

TIES GAME

Trailing 2-0, the Yankees got rolling with one out in the sixth when Mantle and Roger Maris both walked. After Elston Howard flied out, Bill Skowron cracked his third straight hit, a single, to score Mantle and Clete Boyer also singled to score Maris and tie the game.

Yogi Berra batted for Ford and Larsen walked him, loading the bases. But then big Don ended the rally by getting Tony Kubek to ground out to first base.

Felipe Alou had opened the Giants' second with a double down the left field line. But he still was standing on second two outs later after Orlando Cepeda grounded out and Jim Davenport fanned.

Ford, winning pitcher for the Yankees' in the opening game of the series, then worked the count to three balls and two strikes on Haller and just one more strike would get him out of the inning. But instead Haller lashed Whitey's next pitch into the lower stands in right, scoring Alou ahead of him.

The Yankees, hoping to take a commanding lead in the series, threatened in both of the first two innings against Marichal but the Dominican-born righthander escaped from danger both times.

Wreckage Is Found On North Coastal Ranch

REP. CLEM MILLER
Body Identified

The twin-engine Piper Apache, piloted by George Head, 41, of San Rafael, was lost in stormy weather as it was nearing the Crescent City Airport yesterday. With Head and Miller was Head's 13-year-old son, Ronald.

The wreck with the bodies of all three crash victims were discovered by a ranch hand on the Wiggins Ranch, about 15 miles northeast of Eureka near Butler Valley. William Grader, home office secretary for Miller in Santa Rosa, identified the bodies.

Humboldt County sheriff's officers, led by Sheriff William Petterson, went into the area to remove the bodies.

Miller spoke at a Sonoma Grange gathering in Boyd Springs and was on his way to Crescent City to speak at a 7:30 p.m. dinner meeting of the Del Norte Loggers and Lumbermen Assn. At 4:45 p.m., pilot Head radioed the tower at Arcata airfield, reporting bad weather and poor visibility. No more was heard from the plane.

SEARCH DELAYED

Search efforts were delayed by high fog, but two planes from the 41st Air Rescue Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base were sent up to search, along with 15 Civil Air Patrol planes, and Air Force helicopters from Crescent City, Eureka and Klamath Falls, Ore.

Wreckage of the plane was sighted late this morning by Les Pierce of Pierce Flying Service of Eureka. From the air, he could see two bodies in the wreck, he reported.

KENT STATEMENT

Roger Kent of Kentfield, State Democratic Central Committee chairman, and a close friend of Miller since 1948, said:

"It's a tragedy — an awful thing. Miller was such a wonderful person, and I can't think of a congressman who has been more effective during his first two terms. His death is a great personal as well as political loss. He was a valuable liberal representative."

Miller's wife, Katherine, waited for reports of the search at the congressman's home in the capital with their five daughters, aged 5 to 16: Katharine, Marion, Blaire, Abigail and Amy.

Miller's opponent, Republican Don Clausen of Crescent City, was among the Civil Air

TOO LATE FOR WRITE-IN

Demos Still Urge Vote For Miller

The name of Rep. Clem Miller will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot and Democrats of the First Congressional District will work for his re-election even though he was killed in yesterday's Northern California plane crash.

Under the California Election Code, Sept. 27 was the deadline by which the death of a candidate could be certified if a substitute for a deceased nominee were to be appointed by a Democratic committee, according to County Clerk George Gnoss. Ballots are now being printed with Miller's name on them.

Roger Kent, Northern California chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, today called it "impossible" to start a successful write-in campaign in a district as large as Miller's six counties. He said he would urge the voters to vote for Miller. If he were to receive more votes than his opponent, Don Clausen, a special election would be called to fill the vacancy.

The Secretary of state's office in Sacramento said today it would be mandatory for the governor to call an election almost immediately if a dead man were elected.

Asst. Sec. of State Walter C. Stutler also said it would not be legal for voters to put "Mrs." in front of Miller's name on the ballot and have the votes count as write-ins for his widow. Mrs. Miller's own name would have to be written in as "Katharine Miller" to have it counted.

22 Marinites Return From Europe Tour

By RANDALL GOULD

Communism in Europe increasingly trends toward capitalistic practice and potential adjustment with the world of capitalism, 22 Marin County business and professional probers decided in pooling their findings on a tour just ended.

San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis, leader of the Marin Executive Delegation to the USSR, reported this today after flying home from Paris yesterday with eight others. The remainder of the group scattered on individual tours.

"Our two systems may be moving toward an area in which we can find working agreement, provided war is avoided," said McInnis "Whether the Communist side admits it or not, we found evidence that the Communist economy in many ways approaches that of capitalism."

Since leaving in mid-September the party followed a set plan of making contacts in most of the places visited, notably Soviet Russia, with "opposite numbers" in business and professional life, then pooling findings in group discussions.

"A point we all noticed was that whereas we feel that Communism is a threat of war against us, they have a reverse of this idea—liking us as people, they still feel that our government threatens war against them. They said they wanted no war and they felt

Frank E. Marsh, 60, industrial consultant and chief executive officer of International Industrial Institute, Ltd., was found dead in his San Rafael apartment today.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton said Marsh died "apparently of natural causes." An autopsy was to be performed.

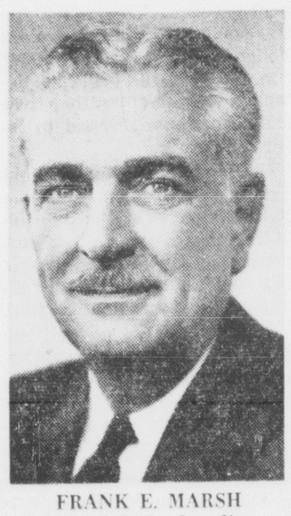
Marsh was found dead in his apartment at 260 Canal Street at 7:20 a.m. by a neighbor, Mrs. Ellen Richman, Keaton said.

Marsh, a native of Illinois, came to California in 1936. He had moved from 120 Bayview Drive to the Canal Street apartment after his wife, Frances, died in August.

He served as general manager of the San Francisco Bay Area Council until August, 1960, when he resigned to head the non-profit International Industrial Institute.

From 1936 to 1941 he served as director of the western region of the Federal Housing Administration. He was western regional administrator of the Office of Price Administration from 1941 to 1943, and later deputy administrator of the OPA in Washington.

Marsh had served as manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's Washington office. He was a past president of the American Industrial Development Council, a member of the Industrial Council of the Urban Land Institute, and the International Real Estate Federation as well as various other professional and business organizations.



FRANK E. MARSH
Industrial leader dies

As head officer of the industrial institute Marsh made an offer to Marin County supervisors in October, 1960, to construct a county hospital in Lucas Valley.

Marsh is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Dianna Ewart of Salinas, and a sister, George L. Horner of Iowa City, Ia.

Yellowjacket Poison Kills Larkspur Dogs

Four and possibly five dogs in Larkspur were killed during the weekend by poison set out for yellowjackets, Police Chief Howard Clark reported today.

Clark urged all Larkspur dog owners to keep their pets on their own grounds.

He said a $300 French poodle of L. F. Sudlow of 75 Cedar Avenue and dogs of Charles Kepple, 220 Hawthorne Avenue, William Slocum, 234 Hawthorne, and Mrs. Peggy Smith, Boardwalk 1, had been killed.

The Sudlow dog died after eating strychnine-tainted meat from a trap. The other dogs died of insecticide. Clark said in some cases poison had been attached to trees but had been jarred loose and fallen to the ground.

Some dogs were poisoned several blocks from their homes, Clark said. He urged residents to keep their pets at home "until we find out what we can do about this."

He said, "The dog poisonings are unintentional but poinsons set to kill the millions of yellowjackets are a menace to pets and birds."

Arsonist Sets Blaze In Railroad Tunnel

Police today sought an elusive arsonist who allegedly entered the Corte Madera-Mill Valley railroad tunnel Saturday evening and set fire to a pile of brush.

Firemen from Corte Madera, Mill Valley and Alto raced to the tunnel area. Fortunately, the fire had not had a good start and was quickly extinguished.

Corte Madera Chief Frank Nelson said residents along Corte Madera Creek noticed smoke pouring from the tunnel shortly after 6 p.m. Police Officer Charles E. Rester and Fireman Lee Larson reached the scene in time to stamp out a brush fire in the tunnel.

As Rester ran into tunnel, he said he saw someone run out the Alto end. The officer reported that two other piles of brush were found in th tunnel, ready to be ignited. He also found a freshly smoked cigarette at the scene.

Senate Completes Action On $3.9 Billion Aid Measure

The total is more than a billion dollars short of what President John F. Kennedy asked.

Passage of the bill, a compromise worked out by Senate-House conferees, was by voice vote. The House passed it Saturday by a vote of 171 to 108.

Sending the bill to the White House moved Congress one more step along the way to adjournment, but other hurdles remain to be cleared before the legislators can wind up the longest session since 1951.

There was a question whether Congress could wind up the session this week. Sens. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.,) and George A. Smathers (D-Fla.,) insisted on enforcement of rule requiring three days to elapse before an appropriations bill has been officially reported before the Senate acts on it.

HAPPY ASTRONAUT — Walter Schirra, his son Marty, 12 and his wife, Jo, all looked in different directions as they rode through Houston yesterday during a homecoming parade. Later Schirra spoke at Rice University and said he could have made 18 instead of six orbits last Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Schirra Wanted 12 More Orbits

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter M. Schirra Jr., America's most widely traveled space pilot, says he came back from his "textbook flight" six times around the world with one suggestion for the next U.S. space venture: "Just move up its launching date."

He came back from that flight reluctantly, said the 39-year-old Navy commander.

"I would like to have gone for 12 more orbits," he said.

Schirra also told newsmen at a nationally televised news conference yesterday that at one point in his nine-hour, 13-minute flight he completely cut himself off from ground control.

To conserve the power supply of his Sigma 7 spacecraft, he said, he threw a switch cutting off the electrical system which would have allowed ground control stations to bring him out of orbit in an emergency.

"From the beginning," he said, "I wanted to turn off the armed squib control box, which means that it is my capsule and no one can bring me back until I put the switch back."

As he told the story of Wednesday's flight, Scirra made 9 hours and 13 minutes in the weightless world of space sound like a drive to the corner drug store.

"I had no problems, no uneasiness, no queasiness," said Schirra. "It had no fatigue. I was ready to continue through one day."

He had no moments of apprehension, "Not one."

But the near-perfect flight did lack something. In an aside to a freckle-faced, 12-year-old boy in the audience, Schirra confessed: "I'm sorry, Marty, my son, I did not see any green cheese."

Yesterday this city—the new home of the Manned Spacecraft Center—turned out to give the astronaut a friendly welcome. Police estimated 300,000 citizens applauded Schirra as the motorcade would slowly through the city to the Campus of Rice University.

With him was his blonde wife, Jo, and their carrot-topped children, Suzanne, 5, and young Marty.

Behind them came the other astronauts, with the exception of Alan B. Shepard Jr., not yet returned from his post during the orbital mission aboard the Pacific tracking ship Rose Knot.

Schirra began with the lift-off. "The railroad train you're sitting on really does move out," he said.

"The over-all flight, I thought, was a textbook flight," said Schirra.

The countdown was "a real dream," he said. "I wanted everything perfect so I could get my hallelujah off."

He did that midway through his flight and he called that his most exciting moment.

"The most exciting thing to me was that I have proven, and that the capsule had proven, that we could go beyond three orbits," he said. "That was the time when I said, "Hallelujah."

The astronaut said he set out to prove that the Mercury capsule had enough fuel to control its attitude as it zips along its orbital path to last through a day-long mission.

"My intention was to use so little fuel that no one could argue that we had enough fuel for 18 orbits," he said. "I think I proved that point."

In the early moments of the flight, he said, he had trouble getting the temperature adjusted in his suit-cooling system. But it was not as serious as it sounded.

"I have been much hotter in a tent at Cape Canaveral than I ever was in Sigma 7," he said.

During the long periods of drift flight, when he made no attempt to control the attitude of the Sigma 7, there was no tumbling motion, Schirra said.

Radiation presented no danger, said Schirra. The dosimeter he carried with him recorded less radiation exposure than his radium dial wrist watch would give off.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ex-Envoy Cannon Dies

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Cavendish W. Cannon, 67, former U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, Portugal, Greece and Morocco, died Saturday following a gall bladder operation.

Cannon, a native of Salt Lake City, was a high school teacher before he joined the U. S. diplomatic service in 1920.

Russia Explodes Another Bomb

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The Soviet Union has exploded another nuclear device at its Nova Semlya testing area in the Arctic, the Uppsala Seismological Institute reported today.

A spokesman for the institute said the new test took place yesterday and was of a force of three megatons—equal to three million tons of TNT.

Can Be Berlin War, Brandt Says

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, just back from seeing President John F. Kennedy in Washington, said today if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants war over Berlin "he will get it."

"The president of the United States and his administration are determined down to the last consequence to stay in Berlin and defend our mutual freedom," Brandt said.

Brandt appeared at a news conference where he read a statement he prepared in a weekend of seclusion after returning from the United States Saturday.

North Korea Votes

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist North Korea held its first national assembly elections in five years today and called them the most important in the country's brief history.

Premier Kim Il Sung and his cohorts in the Korean workers' (Communist) Party were assured of victory long before the voting began throughout the towns and villages. They are the only candidates.

Quadros Leads

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—First off-year election results in Sao Paulo state gave ex-president Janio Quadros an early lead over two rivals in the gubernatorial balloting.

Voting returns from the small city of Pederneiras in Sao Paulo state gave Quadros 636 votes, Jose Bonifacio, 425 and moderate Adhemar de Barros, the pre-election favorite, 365 votes.

Red Guards Flee

BERLIN (UPI) — Three East German border guards fled in full uniform across the border to West Berlin during the night, West Berlin police reported today.

Police said the border guards dropped their weapons and swam through a border river into Berlin's British Sector.

Their escape was undetected by other Communists and no shots were fired.

For Quake Victims

Yom Kipper

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Lighted candles and the chants of the ancient Kol Nidre service opened the Jewish day of atonement, Yom Kippur, at sundown last night.

According to Jewish tradition, men face divine judgment yearly for their actions. On Yom Kippur, these judgments are sealed and the period of repentance which began with the new year ten days ago reaches a climax with today's fasting and prayer.

The sound of the ceremonial Shofar, the ram's horn, called Israeli Jews from home, work and play and the nation was stilled.

A&P Heir Weds

WYCKOFF, N.J. (UPI)—Huntington Hartford II, wealthy heir to the A & P chain store millions, was married Saturday to a beautiful, brunette former model it was revealed yesterday.

Ammonia Explosion

DALLAS (UPI) — Poisonous, lung-searing ammonia gas fumes that blanketed a wide area when an ice plant compressor exploded last night drove dozens of families from their homes.

At least 22 persons were treated at Methodist Hospital and released. Two victims were hospitalized. None of the three employes in the Southland Ice Co. plant was injured by the blast.

Attache Leaves

SUPREME COURT ROUNDUP

Justices Refuse To Review Order On Negro Meredith

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to review the court order which forced the admission of Negro James H. Meredith to the University of Mississippi.

The high court's action climaxed a long legal battle which culminated with the entry of Meredith into the university under the protection of U. S. marshals and Federal troops and precipitated campus rioting which killed two.

The court's decision had been anticipated. Justice Hugo L. Black early last month declared in a recess opinion there was "very little likelihood" the Supreme Court would look into the legal controversy.

Black made his prediction Sept. 10 when he vacated several stays granted by 5th Circuit Judge Ben F. Cameron. Black, after consulting with the other justices, said the lower court orders to admit Meredith should be carried out.

He said at that time the other members of the Supreme Court agreed that he could and should vacate the stays granted by Cameron.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court upheld today two lower court decisions which struck down racial barriers in bus and railroad terminals in Louisiana and Georgia.

Both suits stemmed from new regulations established by the Interstate Commerce Commission as an aftermath of the "freedom rider" campaign last November.

The rules prohibited interstate bus and railroad companies to use the facilities of any terminal where waiting room, rest room, eating, drinking or ticket sales facilities are segregated.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to examine two cases dealing with Bible reading in public schools.

One of the appeals, from Baltimore, Md., also dealt with recitation of the Lord's Prayer as part of opening exercises. The challenge was brought by Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, who described herself and her son, William J. Murray III, as atheists.

The other case was started in Philadelphia by a Unitarian couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis Schempp. Their children attend a high school in Abington Township, Pa.

The cases were based on the First Amendment to the Constitution, which says: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

Gen. Walker To Undergo Examination

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who denies he's guilty of federal charges evolving from riots at the University of Mississippi, will undergo pschiatric examination here this week.

The former Army officer, charged with inciting an insurrection and seditious conspiracy flew home to Dallas yesterday and was greeted by about 200 flagwaving supporters.

He was released late Saturday from the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., on $50,000 bond, posted by his family.

Release came only after he agreed to submit to a psychiatric examination.

Amid signs of "Welcome home Gen. Walker," he told his supporters, "I'm happy to be back in Texas. The air is clear, bright and wonderful."

At one time, about 500 A.D., there were simultaneously six Roman Emperors — Galerious, Maximin, Maxentius, Constantius, Constantine and Licinus.

Confessed Assassin Tells Story At Trial

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI) —A confessed Soviet assassin went on trial here today for murdering two Ukrainian exile leaders with a cyanide pellet gun. He told the court he became a Russian spy rather than see his parents shipped to Siberia.

Bogdan Stashinskiy, 31, told the West German supreme court the path that led him into espionage and political assassination began when he was captured taking an illegal railroad trip in his native Ukraine.

He said he was offered the choice of working for the Soviet Ministry of State Security or having his parents shipped to Siberia and serving a 25-year prison sentence himself.

The calm self-assured Stashinskiy told the crowded courtroom he chose to be a spy.

Stashinskiy rode the elevated train from East to West Berlin with his wife on Aug. 12, 1961, the day before the erection of the Berlin wall, and dramatically surrendered himself to western intelligence officers.

From the story he told, the government charged him with firing bullets that sprayed cyanide on the faces of Ukrainian intellectual leader Prof. Lev Rebet in 1957 and nationalist leader Stefan Bandera in 1959, killing them instantly.

Stashinskiy said he had fled to the west because he had lost his usefulness to his Moscow superiors and feared liquidation for knowing too much.

America's trains roll over a corduroy road of more than 965 million wooden crossties —about 3,000 to each mile of track.

Has poor health made you uninsurable?

It can come to many people—a serious health problem before they own enough life insurance to meet their family's minimum requirements. If this has happened to you or if your application for insurance has been declined on a medical basis recently, we suggest you check with the Man from Manufacturers.

He represents a company that practices the maxim that life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible. Over the past two decades many people who earlier would have been unable to buy life insurance anywhere have qualified for Manufacturers Life policies. Manufacturers Life was, for example, a pioneer in offering life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

Whatever your physical condition you can be sure of careful and individual consideration of your application at the Manufacturers Life.

Silver Hills Club Trying To Smooth Finances

An attempt was started last night by members of Novato's Silver Hills country club to untangle finances of the club which was thrown into bankruptcy last week, said Boris N. Ivanovsky of 574 Midway Boulevard, Ignacio.

Two committees were named at a meeting of 150 members at the club house, to attempt to find out the financial dealings of the club and the legal rights of the shareholder members.

Robert Wiedenmayer of 441 Wilson Avenue, Novato, will work with Ivanovsky to find out the facts about the finances of the two-year-old club. W. Jack Adams of 30 Carmel Drive, an attorney, and E. G. Traub of 493 Calle de la Mesa will work with Robert Cartwright, club attorney from San Francisco, to see if the club can be reorganized and salvaged.

Patrol searchers looking for Miller's plane this morning. The "flying supervisor" from Del Norte County was prepared to search the coast from Arcata to Brookings, Ore., in his twin-engine Piper Apache plane.

BAD WEATHER

Clausen landed yesterday at the Crescent City airport just 15 minutes after the Miller plane was last heard from as it approached the field. Clausen said the weather was "bad, but not as bad as I've seen it many times."

Miller had been campaigning in the extensive First Congressional District from Marin to the Oregon border on weekends during the past month. He had flown from Washington, D. C., Thursday to speak at the "victory celebration" dinner in Alto for his Point Reyes National Seashore bill.

The congressman was born Oct. 28, 1916, in Wilmington, Del. He was a grandson of Charles R. Miller, a former governor of Delaware.

He attended school in Lawrenceville, N.J., and Williams College in Williamstown, Mass. He joined the Army as a private before entry of the United States in World War II and rose to captain, winning the Bronze Star in European combat.

He served in the War Assets Administration, and from 1948 to 1953 as a field examiner and hearings officer with the National Labor Relations Board.

IN CORTE MADERA

In 1954, Miller and his family moved to Corte Madera where he resided at 433 Redwood Avenue. He became a landscape consultant and served on the Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission.

In 1956 he opposed incumbent Hubert B. Scudder for first district congressman but was defeated. After Scudder's retirement, Miller won the office in 1958 and was re-elected in 1960, defeating Republican Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon both times.

Recent legislation sponsored by Miller included the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, approved by Congress last week. He also introduced legislation for federal construction of the Sonoma County Dry Creek dam, potential future water source for Marin. One of his earlier victories in Congress was the prevention of sale of land for subdivision of Army land at Fort Baker.

Miller was a co-sponsor of a bill to provide a federal-state program to strengthen California's salmon and steelhead fishing industry. He was a member of the House banking and currency committee.

A book by Miller, called "Member of the House: Letters of a Congressman," published by Charles Scribner's & Sons, was to go on sale this week in Bay Area bookstores.

MOVED TO MARIN

Head, the pilot, moved to San Rafael last month to enter the investment and insurance business after retiring from the Air Force at Castle Air Force Base in Merced County. He and his family resided at 304 D Street.

He was a jet pilot in the Air Force, in which he had 20 years service. He was a native of Palo Alto.

The ill-fated trip was the first on which Head had piloted the Marin congressman.

such visits aid understanding," said McInnis.

McInnis said that, although in Russia "interest has been a dirty word," banks now seek to lure private savings by offering 3½ per cent on savings accounts.

McInnis, an insurance man, found that in the Soviet Union each of 15 provinces has an exclusive insurance franchise writing policies on life and property, but significantly without liability.

"They have no concept of liability though their auto drivers are crazy men with deadly weapons," McInnis said. "The only time there is any recourse is to establish that the driver did the killing on purpose."

He said Joseph E. Saccone of United Markets "made their eyes stick out" by showing photographs of Marin super markets.

"Nobody came out an expert but we decidedly got beyond the official showplaces," McInnis summed up.

"I can't convey the impact of that thing," said McInnis.

He described West Berlin as rebuilt, thriving, a beehive of enterprise "full of life and bounce," contrasted with a tragic, lifeless East Berlin in dejection as solid as the separating barrier.

Returning with McInnis were Roger J. Darrow, William A. Marcus, Lawrence A. Mayer, John C. Oglesby, Joseph E. Saccone, William R. Seeger, Albert H. Siemer, and George W. Thierbach.

out. Haller's snap throw to first trapped Kubek off first base. He was run down and tagged out to complete the double play. Tresh followed with a single, but it was wasted when Marichal bore down to strike out Mantle.

Ford came back from yielding two runs in the second to retire the Giants in order in the third. Ford was seeking the 11th World Series victory of his career.

Save Redwoods Group Fighting Park Proposal

"Save the redwoods" petitions bearing more than 400 names will be presented to the Fairfax City Council at its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

The petitions, opposing a Fairfax Recreation Commission plan for landscaping the city park which calls for removal of four redwood trees, were circulated by members of the Ross Valley 4-H Club.

They were to be delivered late today to City Clerk Alice Leonesio by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Youngclaus. Mrs. Youngclaus was ones of two dissenters in the parks and recreation commission's 3-2 vote Sept. 18 approving the landscaping plan by commissioner Frank Salvisberg.

Youngclaus said he also intends to present a letter from Mrs. Youngclaus opposing not only the removal of the trees but the expense of developing and maintaining the park which Salvisberg envisions.

Two Quentin Felons Ask New Trial

Two San Quentin convicts, convicted of slaying another inmate in prison last Dec. 12, asked for a new trial today before Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court.

Arguments for the new trial will be heard on Oct. 26. Attorneys for Robert B. Dorado, 26, and Alfred J. Jimenez, 25, moved for a new trial.

The jurors, who convicted the pair last week, were in court today for the hearing. The judge instructed the jurors to "stand by" until November because they may yet be called on to decide whether Jimenez should get life imprisonment or death.

Jimenez was convicted of first degree murder, which can bring either life in prison or death. Dorado faces automatic death because he was convicted under a penal code section that makes death mandatory for a life termer committing a fatal felony assault.

Mountain Fair Attracts 1,000

About 1,000 persons attended the mountain fair at the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. over the weekend, fair chairman William Johnson said today.

Kite flying was the highlight with from 50 to 60 persons engaged in it. There were kite "tangles" and impromptu kite fights, Johnson added. Dr. Solomon Cohen of Mill Valley, who had built 15 exotic kites, was rewarded when he tested them and found they all flew.

Mrs. Ann Close won a prize of a ceramic bowl made by potter Sascha Makovkin of Mill Valley.

Wife Slayer Ordered To Vacaville

San Gabriel contractor Robert Burdette Rogers, 43, who shot his wife to death in a San Rafael home three years ago, will be sent to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville for 90 days observation and diagnosis.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court today ordered Rogers to Vacaville for a medical report before Rogers is sentenced for manslaughter.

The judge allowed Rogers to remain free on $20,000 bail on assurance by attorney George T. Davis that his client will appear as soon as Vacaville is ready to accept him.

In the first trial, he was convicted of second degree murder, which was reversed. The second trial ended in a hung jury. Last August, Rogers pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

Pleads Guilty To Robbery

A second man involved in the $895 holdup of Rayburn's Grocery in Novato in August plead guilty today to first degree robbery.

Warren Charles Demmerelle, 26, of Los Angeles, admitted the charge before Judge Thomas F. Keating in Marin Superior Court. The judge set Oct. 29 as the date of sentencing.

Demmerelle's companion in crime, John Henry Hull, 27, also of Los Angeles, has already been sentenced to state prison for a term of five years to life.

A third suspect, David Harrell Jr., 36, pleaded innocent today and asked for a jury trial, which was set for Nov. 27.

Hopefuls For Larkspur Schools Interviewed

Four candidates for superintendent of the Larkspur School District board were interviewed over the weekend by the district board of trustees.

Chairman Pauline Secor said the candidates would be discussed in an executive session after the board's public meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Larkspur-Corte Madera School if trustees get through the agenda early enough.

Boy Who Broke Neck In Serious Condition

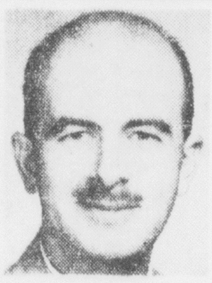
Locati was practicing on a "horse" Friday when he slipped and struck a mat beside the exercise apparatus. He was a football player on the Tamalpais High School Indian Team. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Locati, 5 Dawn Place, Mill Valley.



Do Germs Cause Disease?

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

There are many types of germs and all of them have a place in the scheme of things, just as insects, birds, fish and animals are necessary to maintain the balance of nature. You may be a normal healthy man or woman but at this moment there are multitudes of beneficial germs at work within your body. Without them you would become desperately ill . . . These are the germs we seldom read about in the newspapers and magazines.

Take as an example the colon bacillus (escheri-chia coli), a germ which is essential to good health. It breaks down waste matter in the bowels for easier elimination and does other important jobs. Other varieties of germs perform equally important work in other parts of the body. The atmosphere around us is always thick with germs — some good, some bad — but we are not always sick. Why not?

Resistance to germs and disease depends on the proper functioning of the nervous system, the master system of the body. When the nerve supplying a certain organ is pinched or blocked by a misaligned bone in the spine, the affected organ will lose its resistance. Disease strikes when germs begin to prey on the weakened organs, but the same germs are powerless against a healthy organ.

Often, an organ will regain its strength and fight off disease germs once the interference with its nerve supply is corrected.

Chiropractors are experts in restoring and maintaining nerve function. They do this by finding the nerve interference in the spine and by adjusting the misaligned spinal bone (vertebra) quickly and painlessly by hand.

Quentin Knives Linked To Series

A total of 16 steel boning knives stolen from an office closet in San Quentin Prison a week ago may have been taken so convicts could enforce the payment of world series gambling debts, prison authorities said today.

"There have been a lot of bets made on the world series by the convicts," Associate Warden Louis Nelson said, "and there have been some welchers."

The 16 knives were stored with 50 other knives in the office of James Fitzgerald, food manager. The remaining 50 have been locked in the armory. A thorough shakedown of the prison has not revealed the whereabouts of the knives.

Wife Takes Shot At Bowl Manager

A San Rafael bowling alley manager's estranged wife tried to shoot him through the keyhole as he slept, police said today.

At 4 a.m. yesterday, Mrs. Nadeen Leona Gelatti of 305 Irwin Street telephoned police to say: "I just killed my husband. You better check and see if he's dead."

Police raced to the husband's apartment at 1563 Lincoln Avenue. They found Zeno Gelatti, manager of the Country Club Bowl, alive and awake, with his wife pounding on the door.

A .22 caliber bullet was lodged in the keyhole. Police said Mrs. Gelatti admitted holding a pistol to the keyhole and firing the shot.

She was to be given a psychiatric examination at Ross General Hospital before arraignment in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Girl, 8, Breaks Both Arms In Fall

Eight-year-old Susan Thompson fell from the second story of an unfinished apartment near her home on Valencia Street, San Rafael, about 10 a.m. yesterday and broke both bones in both arms.

Susan, who was reported in satisfactory condition at San Rafael General Hospital today, said she and her brother were laying in the building when she slipped and fell onto the dirt below. She is a daughter of Mrs. Oille Thornton, 33 Valencia Street.

OBITUARIES

Mabel BLaine Services Are Held

Private funeral services for Mabel Sophia Blaine, a resident of San Rafael for 14 years, were held at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, today.

Mrs. Blaine, 78, died in a local hospital yesterday after long illness. She and her husband, David G. Blaine, were married in San Francisco 52 years ago. She was born in San Francisco in 1884 and worked in a wholesale liquor house there before her marriage. Her husband is a semi-retired broker.

The family home is at 47 Kinross Drive.

She leaves, besides her husband, a son, Jack Blaine, and a daughter, Evelyn McIlwaine, both of San Rafael, and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael. The family prefers tributes be contributions to the Heart Fund.

Zen Expert Watts Divorced By Wife

He did not contest the action.

Mrs. Watts, 40, who lives at the family home at 310 La Verne Avenue, Mill Valley, will get $550 per month support for their five children and $150 per month for herself, under a property settlement agreement approved by Judge Thomas F. Keating.

They were married in 1950 and separated in 1960. She complained that he had deserted her since March of 1960.

Sergeant's Trial Is Postponed

Trial of Army Sgt. Ruben Ernest Rudolph, 35, suspected of murdering his German-born wife and dumping her body on a Fort Barry hillside in Marin last May, was postponed today in San Francisco Superior Court.

At request of Rudolph's attorney, George T. Davis, Judge Norman Elkington continued the matter until Nov. 26 for the setting of a new trial date.

MRS. SEDERBERG

Funeral services for Mrs. Annetta P. Sederberg, who had been living at her son's home in Ross for the last five months, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Daphne's San Francisco Funeral Service, 1 Church Street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Sederberg died Saturday at the home of her son, Donald E. Sederberg, on Shady Lane in Ross, after a long illness.

She was a native of Minnesota and had lived in San Francisco since 1923. She was a member and past president of American Gold Star Mothers, San Francisco chapter 1.

Net Profit Expected To Go Up From Crowded Grape Festival

The biggest crowds in the 63-year history of the Grape Festival were reported today by Mrs. Walter Zwieg, general chairman of Saturday's fete at Sunny Hills in San Anselmo.

Incomplete returns showed receipts of $33,000. This does not include receipts from the Gayway, mobbed by youngsters all day, or final figures from many of the booths. Mrs. Zwieg said she expects the gross to hit nearly $45,000 with a net profit of between $38,000 and $40,000. Last year's net was $31,000.

Final figures will not be known until the Grape Festival report meeting next month.

Although food supplies were greatly increased over last year, all were sold out. Almost all the booths offering handmade articles and other merchandise were sold out.

Tremendous crowds were on hand for the talent show, emceed by Bill Thompson of KTIM. Winners and their awards, presented by the Sunny Hill Entertainment Guild, were:

First, the Belchfire Five Plus One, six-piece Dixieland combo, $100 savings bond and plaque. Members of the combo are Jan Haluska, Pete Allen, Ben Chollar, Bob Lesaine, Mike Manning and Randy Keller.

Second, Valerie Meacham of Mill Valley, soprano, senior in Dominican upper school; $50 bond and plaque.

Third, Chester Russell of San Francisco, baritone, $25 bond and plaque.

Television Stolen

Arnold Buchwitz of 720 Knocknaboul Way, Terra Linda, told deputy sheriffs Saturday that someone had forced a window to enter his home and remove the television set while he was away on a week's vacation.

Water Line Planned For Bolinas Mesa

Bolinas Beach Public Utility District is planning to install an eight-inch pipeline for Bolinas Mesa water users, it was announced Saturday at a meeting of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Assn.

Charles G. Hadley, president of the district's board of directors, made the announcement. He said the line will replace a four-inch line. Construction is expected to start in the spring. There are now about 200 water users on the mesa.

Robert H. Prather, Tamalpais High School principal, spoke to the audience of about 35 on vocational training for students who are unable to go to college.

He said that about 46 per cent of the boys at Tamalpais are enrolled in industrial arts courses.

Prather also stressed a program at Tamalpais which enables a student to work part-time and earn credits for that work.

2 Suspected Of Looting Girls' Purses

Two San Anselmo youths, suspected of looting girls' purses during a dance Saturday night in Santa Venetia, were jailed on suspicion of petty theft and illegal possession of liquor.

They are Leroy Curry Jr., 18, of 90 Florence Avenue, and Monroe Sheridan Stark, 18, of 76 Broadmead Court.

Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou was patrolling the area outside the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall about 10 p.m. when he noticed one youth open the door of a 1962 convertible and rummage through some purses. The other youth stayed in his own car.

Deputy Menjou held the two youths. He found the purses were owned by Jill Kerrigan and Kathy Rich of San Rafael and Dawn Ginger of Novato. Jill told the officer that $5 was gone from her purse. Dawn reported a loss of about $3.

Deputy Menjou found that amount in Curry's trouser pocket. The officer also discovered a partially filled can of beer and a bottle of wine in the boys' car. The two youths, released on $315 bail each, are scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Motorcyclist Is Critical After Crash On Highway

A young Novato motorcyclist was in critical condition today as a result of crashing into the rear of an automobile yesterday.

Dale Marion Askin, 21, of 1080 Simmons Lane suffered severe head injuries and was still unconscious at Marin General Hospital so that the California Highway Patrol report was compiled from witnesses.

Askin was southbound on Highway 101 two miles north of Novato at 5:35 p.m. when his cycle struck a car driven by Michael A. McGovern of Daly City, almost overturning it and driving it onto the divider strip.

McGovern said he had been occupied with watching a car just ahead, driven by Rufus Brinkley of San Francisco who had just entered the southbound lane from a side

Crusade Goal $2,500 For County Employees

The Marin County Employees' Assn. this year will be responsible for solicitation of contributions to the Marin United Bay Area Crusade by all county employees, it was announced today by Burton R. Kirchner, Marin campaign chairman.

The county employees have accepted a campaign quota of $2,500, Kirchner said. William Desmond of the health department has been assigned as chairman within the county staff.

Couple Injured In Car Collision

A San Rafael couple were injured Saturday when their car, eastbound on the Manuel T. Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda, collided with another car at the Del Presidio Boulevard intersection.

Paul Claudus De Vaux, 35, and Rene DeVaux, 30, both of 590 Whitewood Drive, were treated at San Rafael General Hospital. He suffered bruises; she a cut knee.

The California Highway Patrol cited Alfred Nunez, 26, of San Francisco, southbound on Del Presidio Boulevard, for failure to yield at the intersection.

Prop. 1A Will Help Meet Higher Education Needs

In the June primary, the electorate overwhelmingly defeated Proposition 3 which then was called the "State Construction Bond Act."

We had urged its passage, but reluctantly. We maintained at that time that the needs of higher education for new building facilities should be divorced from the needs of the state for institutions for the mentally ill, narcotics control, correctional institutions, conservation and fire fighting.

After Proposition 3 was defeated, we urged the governor and the legislature to separate the needs of our university, colleges and junior colleges from these other needs.

But, as the electorate had done for Proposition 3, the governor and the legislature did for our suggestion. They ignored it. They decided to place before you voters an almost identical measure.

Now on your November ballot is Proposition 1A. The name has been changed. It is Proposition 3 of last June with small refinements. It still provides funds for the University of California, our state colleges, junior colleges, plus institutions for the mentally ill, narcotics control, correctional institutions, conservation and fire fighting.

There are a few changes. Its name now is "Higher Education Bond Act." Governor Brown and other education officials believed that its former name was a major factor in its defeat. They say that in June the people did not realize that what they were voting against was 80 per cent devoted to the needs of higher education. It is clear in the new measure that this is so.

What we're talking about is a $270 million bond issue. Eighty per cent of it would be devoted to higher education. Not less than $20 million of this amount must be used to assist locally-financed junior colleges, like College of Marin, with building construction, equipment and site acquisition.

The remaining 20 per cent is devoted to the other state building activities, not connected with education, that we have indicated above.

Our position has remained unchanged in the intervening months. We are sorry that the governor and his advisors have felt it necessary to lump together a wide vista of the state's capital expenditures and attempt to sell them all to the voters as a school bond.

On the other hand, there faces California a dire need for higher education facilities. It is a need which Californians must and will meet.

Therefore, as we did in June, we again urge a Yes vote on Proposition 1A, not as what we would like to be voting on, but as the better alternative to doing nothing about the needs of the state's higher education.

Vote Yes on Proposition 1A.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

INCLUDE OTHERS, DON'T EXCLUDE THEM

Do you realize that the words "I," "my" or "me" do not occur once in the Lord's Prayer?

Yet, while saying "our Father," it is easy to mean only "my Father"; to utter the words "give us this day our daily bread" and still think only in terms of "give me my daily bread"; or to make a mental substitution of "forgive me my trespasses" for the actual words "forgive us our trespasses."

Those lines of Charles Thompson may help you to avoid the tendency to be self-centered while praying:

You can not pray the Lord's Prayer,
And even once say "I."
You can not pray the Lord's Prayer,
And even once say "My."
Nor can you pray the Lord's Prayer,
And not pray for another;
For when you ask for daily bread,
You must include your brother.
For others are included
In each and every plea:
From the beginning to the end of it,
It does not once say "Me."

Help me, O loving Savior, to seek the good of all people, not only my own and those around me.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The following is a reply to Mr. Dickey, who had a letter in your paper last night (Oct. 1):

First off sir, may I say I am not the least bit critical of your letter in regard to drinking on board boats. It is a serious matter to be sure. However, I feel your blast at Eleanor Freeman's article was just a trifle unfair, for in re-reading her message you will find you both are of the same thinking on the subject. Mrs. Freeman has, and I think very wisely, brought the problem before the public's eye in a way that will make more people sit up and take notice than if it were written in a deadly serious manner. Too many articles, no matter how important the subject may be, are briefly scanned over and never fully read and digested.

True, the article was written with a touch of humor, Mr. Dickey, but the message was there for all to see, and I sure hope a lot of boozing boaters saw it. Perhaps then they will see how darned ridiculous they look to others, as well as being a navigational hazard to all.

Yours for more sobriety tests on water as well as on land.

Cut-In Driver Dangerous Too

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Upon picking up this week's edition of News-Guide, I am confronted with (on back page) "Keep Distance, CHP Advises." This is not the first time I have read this advice —it is printed periodically in nearly every paper and magazine and it is becoming a bit irritating.

Why not have the CHP advise all these characters who, nine times in ten, always pass and pull in front right into your safety distance, that this distance is not for them, but for the fellow he has just cut short and the car ahead of him?

Every time this happens, you, who are keeping at a safe distance, as advised by the CHP, are obliged to quickly brake and, or pull over to the right to avoid a collision, which CHP speaks about.

Wish I knew the answer. Could you print an editorial now and then?

PARENTS ARE PARENTS

Even Communists Have Trouble With Curriculum

By PHIL NEWSOM

In Moscow, an angry parent leaps to his feet and demands to know why his son is being taught German instead of English.

The teacher replies that assignments to language studies were made by alphabet instead of by pupils' choice and she will try to find out why.

The incident was reported in a recent dispatch from Moscow and the author noted that, as an American and a parent, he saw certain similarities to parent-teacher meetings he had attended in Connecticut.

JUST AS IN the United States, this is the start of a new school season for millions of children behind the Iron Curtain.

Radio Free Europe, which beams news of the free world to Communist satellite nations and also conducts a continuing study of events behind the Curtain, has just released a survey of Communist educational methods and some of the headaches encountered by the planners.

Strong points seem to be seven to nine years of free, compulsory education, not only in the Soviet Union but in all the East European satellite states, with heavy emphasis on language as well as technical studies.

THE SURVEY notes: "Communist leaders learned a long while ago that to maintain a position of authority in a subjugated society it is necessary to pay special attention to education of the young.

"That is why today in the Soviet Union and the captive countries of Eastern Europe the role of education occupies a position of importance second only to party ideology.

"The importance of education is twofold: The rising generation must be indoctrinated to fulfill its role in a Communist society, and it must provide the necessary number of technically skilled workers to try to match the progress of a free society."

THAT ALSO MEANS that at every opportunity the Marxist-Leninist theme of supposed superiority over the free societies is hammered home in the classroom.

It has been quite a number of years since this writer sat as a student. It was just after World War I had made the world safe for democracy. The threat of world Communism was less than the size of a man's hand against the horizon. The freedoms were assured.

Well, times have changed. Lenin was willing to sacrifice a generation in order to fit the youth of Russia to the iron mold of his concept of the dictatorship of the proletariat—certainly a concept far less dramatic than man's attainment and stubborn hold upon his freedoms.

BUT COMMUNISTS, too, have their difficulties.

The more time spent on Marx and Lenin, the less time there is for science and languages. Parents complain of the work load on students who must spend one day a week in "practical work" in factory or field.

There are chronic teacher shortages. There also are deviations.

Poland quietly has dropped compulsory Marxism-Leninism from secondary schools. Religion still may be taught in Czechoslovakian and Hungarian schools.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A lady who prided herself on her housekeeping was driving behind a truck loaded with newspapers and saw a bundle of the papers fall from the speeding vehicle. "Littering up the landscape!" she muttered angrily, stopped short, and put the bundle into the back seat of her own car.

Continuing on her way, she noticed several other bundles of paper on the roadside and retrieved these, too.

Then she caught up with the truck parked outside a diner. She collared the driver and said, "I have exactly eight bundles of your old papers in my car." "In your car!! echoed the driver. "I work for the Journal, lady. I was delivering them!"

A famous playwright's wife popped her head into his study to ask, "Jerome, have you still got a good memory for faces?" "Superb," he replied. "What luck," said the wife. "I just broke your shaving mirror."

It Got Them All, In Varied Ways, The Day The Towns Closed Down

The other afternoon—Wednesday—all the towns around closed down.

People who were not fans whispered "It's a fever." People who were fans shouted, "Come on, Giants!"

"No one entered the store," said Jim Canepa of Mill Valley Market.

At Royal Auto Service, straight-haired Harold Kraushaar (which means curly hair in German) said, "We listened to the game between hammer blows."

At the Mill Valley Public Library, the readers caught the fever and listened on radio to the Giants-Dodgers playoff.

School boy Nicky Blonder got sick. His mother said it wasn't the first time. It was a seasonal thing. Jimmie Quinn stayed safely inside his pub, celebrating.

Said Junky: "I was so nervous and excited I could hardly control myself." Si Weil said he sold no liquor during the game but lots afterward.

People kept buying bus tickets, said Margot Marker at the bus depot, but she couldn't explain how they could travel at such a time.

In Belvedere, Officer Paul Weichel observed hardly a soul on the Boardwalk and children in the school bus were glued to transistor radios.

The television was on at Sausalito's Bank of America, said John Harlan, and banking was paralyzed.

SWEDE PEDERSEN, Sausalito fireman, said he risked his life going to San Francisco on victory night. There, he said, he met the Hennegens of Baltimore, Md. They wanted to know what was wrong, having just driven into town and not having been listening to the radio.

"Everyone's going crazy. Was it an earthquake?" they asked Swede.

When Hennegen learned the truth, said Swede, he was so relieved that, though he said he hasn't been drinking for a long time, he was going to have one for the Giants and one because it wasn't an earthquake.

At Lefty O'Doul's, Swede said, people were trying to see how many women could stand on a bar stool without falling off. Six, said Swede.

Fireman Hank Pierroz at Mill Valley said, "We did flip flops and jumped up and down." Judy Cooke, a scientific fan, said, "I felt glad for the fellows," meaning the players.

NOT A FAN, Mrs. S. Gundelfinger, our gardening friend, said: "I'm glad they won. I like the enthusiasm." She said she hadn't bothered to watch the game.

Serge Trubach, Sausalito artist and poet, said: "A film should be made and be shown at all colleges across the country—especially at Oxford. They should send the news over Radio Free Europe, present the film to Governor Barnett, saying: 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' The game shows the spirit of the people, a great show of freedom regardless of race, creed or color. This is one of the most vibrant examples of free opinion."

"I think they are nuts," said Sylvia Bijok, who was reared in England. But she admitted much the same spirit comes out at a soccer cup tie in England. Not cricket, however, she said, where they play for ashes in an urn. "This is gentlemanly excitement."

What's that? we asked. "Oh," she said, "gentlemanly excitement is because cricket is a gentleman's game. You know, just hand clapping."

Call it the fever, a vibrant example of free opinion, or gentlemanly excitement, we'll never forget the afternoon the towns closed down.

Reds Switch Tactics As So. Vietnam Toughens

By PHIL NEWSOM

WASHINGTON—In a command headquarters near the edge of Saigon last summer a South Vietnamese colonel used a pointer to locate on a military wall map the town of Ban Methout.

"Here," he said, "is where a year ago the Communist Viet Cong intended to cut South Vietnam in two.

"Since the coming of the Americans that plan has been abandoned."

Ban Methout is a key road junction close to the Cambodian border and almost exactly midway between the rich rice-growing delta to the south and the 17th Parallel which divides South Vietnam and Communist North Vietnam.

THE COLONEL explained that militarily the plan had been first to sever South Vietnam at the midway point, then to bring pressure on the capital of Saigon from west, north and south, and finally to force upon South Vietnam a Communist-style neutral government.

Last week, President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam announced that his troops had gone over to the offensive against the Communists.

But since this is a war without a front, it also must be understood that this is not an offensive in the sense of conventional warfare.

IT IS AN OFFFENSIVE of airborne thrusts in an operation called "clear and hold," meaning that it clears out pockets of Viet Cong resistance and then sends in administrators whose task is to educate the people and attempt to hold the land thus won.

In this sense, then, the South Vietnamese have gone over to the offensive and vast American aid, which includes thousands of American advisers, has upset the Communist timetable of conquest.

But a Communist advantage is their ability to shift quickly from one pressure point to another, whether it be political or military. Furthermore, they regard South Vietnam only as one portion of a war theater involving the whole of Southeast Asia, including Thailand.

One goal is to force the United States into another Geneva conference such as the one which set up the still questionable neutrality of Laos.

THE COMMUNISTS quickly endorsed a request from Cambodia that another Geneva conference be called to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

Cambodia's volatile ruler, Prince Sihanouk, already has forecast Communist victory in South Vietnam and he was moving to save his own neck if possible.

Complicating the situation further is the irritation of Thailand over U. S. promises of military aid to Sihounak. The Thais declared it an "act of provocation" and hinted that their own strong pro-Western stand may in the future also switch to one of neutrality.

Nothing could please the Reds more.

India Princess Speaks At School

The princess tours aboard as personal representative of her father, His Holiness Sardar Dr. Syedna Taher Saifuddin Saheb, direct descendant of Mohammed and spiritual leader of a million Indians. She was in the Bay Area to observe activities of the United Fund.

The princess told the children that Indian costumes which they made and wore for her visit were authentic. But she said Indian children are beginning to wear Western clothes.

The princess, who is from Bombay, pointed out that there are two principal religions in Indian: Hindu and Moslem. Moslems comprise a numerous minority in the predominantly Hindu nation.

Children of India enjoy games and sports similar to those of the United States, the princess said, including swimming, hide-and-seek and a game like baseball that is played with sticks and bases.

Princess Maryambai gave the school a book showing Indian costumes and invited the Don Timoteo students to visit her country. She also promised that children in her family would write to the children here.

Rock-Throwing Vandals Break Store Windows

Rock-throwing vandals did some costly target practice in San Rafael early yesterday, smashing five windows, four of them large plate glass windows in commercial buildings.

Also hit was a 9-by-12 window at Fred's Flying A Service Station, 167 Third Street, and a 5-by-9½ foot window at Thrifty Drug Store, 471 Third Street.

Only home hit was that of William David Kovacs, 320 Third Street. He said a rock was thrown through his kitchen window at 1:59 a.m. He heard a car drive away quickly after the window shattered.

Reagan Will Speak In Marin On Oct. 16

Assemblyman Bruce V. Reagan (R-Pasadena), Republican nominee for state controller, will address the Marin County Young Republicans Oct. 16 at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael, it was announced today by Charles Michaels of Kentfield. The meeting, set for 8 p.m., is open to the public.

Reagan, now in his third term in the legislature, is a Yale graduate and a major in the Army Reserve, having served in World War II on the supreme headquarters staff in England, France and Germany.

School Merger Vote Slated

Thirty-one registered voters are eligible to decide tomorrow on the merger of two small Marin County school districts whose combined enrollment is 16 students.

The election, to be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the David Leveroni garage west of Novato, will decide whether the Burdell School District will merge with Lincoln School District.

Burdell's pupils have been attending the one-room Lincoln school last year and this year. Juveniles burned down the one-room Burdell school in November, 1958. For a time the district rented a classroom from Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato.

Eventually the two districts —or one, if they merge—probably will be included in a reorganization plan for unification with a high school district.

Sergeant Porter Gets CHP Transfer

Sgt. William H. Porter, 38, of the California Highway Patrol, who came to the San Rafael office in 1957, said goodbye at the end of his shift yesterday.

At his own request, he is being transferred to the Eureka office. An enthusiastic fisherman, he explained that he likes the Eureka area for its many trout and salmon streams.

Porter came to San Rafael from the central coast office in San Francisco. He went back there for two years in 1958 and 1959.

He and his wife, Norma, and four children, Jeryl, 15, Carol, 12, Mike, 4, and Becky, 1, have lived at 1687 Hill Avenue, Novato.

Mrs. Porter has been piano accompanist for vocalist Jane Nichols. She plans to stay in the area long enough to complete the fall schedule with Mrs. Nichols, Porter said.

Seven out of 10 Americans in 1960 were living in the state in which they were born.

This Week's Columns Devoted To Bidding In Enemy's Suit

This week we discuss bidding the enemy's suit. Since you seldom want to play at an opponent's bid suit your cue-bid in the enemy's suit is usually made for another purpose.

Opening lead — ♠ K

In this case North shows slam ambitions by bidding two spades. If North really had length and strength in spades he would double for penalties.

CUE-BID CONTROL

The cue-bid guarantees control of spades (usually ace or void), strong support for the opener's suit and substantial side strength. If North lacked fine heart support he would bid his own suit first and show the spade control later.

The opening bidder should usually move toward slam if he has a full opening bid outside of the enemy's suit. In this case South makes his move by bidding four clubs.

From here on nothing would stop North from reaching slam. When South slows down by bidding four hearts North can afford another cue-bid and this goads South into bidding six hearts.

SHOULD SACRIFICE

West should sacrifice at six spades if he trusts the opponents. West would go down only three, and his honors would reduce the penalty to 700 points.

This is better than allowing South to score 1,430 points for six hearts bid and made.

Still, South might misplay the hand at six hearts. West doesn't want to give up 700 points if there's a fair chance of scoring a plus of 100 points by keeping quiet.

SOUTH HOME

South should ruff the first spade, draw one trump, and cash both top diamonds without trying a finesse. When the queen of diamonds happens to drop South is home.

If the queen didn't drop, South would get back with a trump and lead his last diamond. This would bring in the twelfth trick is West had the queen of diamonds or if the suit broke 3-3. South would discard his queen of clubs on dummy's last diamond.

As the cards lie, if South tries a normal diamond finesse he will probably go down.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1962 with 84 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1940, Congress passed an act levying taxes on excess profits of corporation earnings.

A thought for the day: Henry David Thoreau said: "It takes two to speak the truth, one to speak, and another to hear."

Yankee Stadium Shadows Baffle Giants In 3-2 Loss

NEW YORK (UPI)—You'd better believe it when they tell you left field in Yankee Stadium is a tough spot to play. Ask Felipe Alou of the San Francisco Giants.

"There's sun, there's haze and there are shadows," groaned Felipe, who had his first shot at it in the third game of the World Series yesterday in a loser against the New York Yankees. "I had a rough, busy afternoon out there."

Normally a right fielder, Felipe moved to left for the third game and almost immediately got his baptism on a long ball hit in the second inning by Elston Howard, and which he caught sensationally In each of the next two innings he had long shots in his direction—one that went for a double by Tony Kubek and another by Mickey Mantle which he caught. But he was charged with an error while trying to field a single by Mantle in the seventh.

The Giants were only slightly downcast after losing the third game, after which second baseman Chuck Hiller and pitcher Billy Pierce readily shouldered the blame for lapses that left the Yankees with a 3-2 margin at the finish.

Hiller blew a "routine double play" that should have ended the Yankee seventh instead of allowing Roger Maris to score from third with what proved to be the winning run. And Pierce admitted he served a fat pitch earlier in the inning on which Maris knocked in two runs with a single to right.

With Bill Skowron on first and Maris on third, Clete Boyer hit a routine grounder to shortstop Jose Pagan, who fired to Hiller at second to force Skowron. But Hiller was slow getting the ball away to first and Boyer was safe, Maris scoring.

"I bobbled the throw from Pagan a couple times and couldn't get a grip on it to make a good throw to first," said the crestfallen Hiller. "We shoulda had him easy. It was a routine double play."

Pierce said he was faster in the first playoff game against the Los Angeles Dodgers last week but still felt strong in the seventh when the Yankees clipped him for three straight singles in their scoring spree.

"When Maris came up, Dark and I agreed we might have to give up one run but I meant to pitch Maris in close and I gave him one any man in his right mind would want to see—right down the middle," Pierce admitted.

"Pierce and Hiller made human mistakes," Dark said philosophically. "They just happened to occur at a crucial time."

Both Ed Bailey, whose two-run homer in the ninth made the Maris run the critical score, and Willie Mays complained about the batting background at the stadium which makes a pitch hard to follow.

"It reminds me of the Los Angeles Coliseum or the Houston Park," said Willie, "but that's not an alibi. The Yankees have to hit against the same background."

Powerful Orlando Cepeda May Be 'Goat' Of World Series

CONNOLLY

Every World Series is a milestone in some ball player's life. The "big payoff" makes stars of some and "goats" of others.

Who would you guess could likely be the "goat" in the 1962 series?

It is pretty hard to point a finger at the "bounce back aggregation" known as the S.F. Giants. They outdid themselves, winning the pennant the "hard way" and on a short ration of pitching and without the expected power house hitting of those expected to furnish the big punch.

Few of the fans have any forgiveness or sympathy for the one guy on the club who is more in need of sympathy and understanding right now than all the others.

WE REFER to Orlando Cepeda, the Baby Bull of Puerto Rico, the "almost forgotten" hero here since the Giants came west.

Cepeda, in a poll by a S.F. newspaper, was voted the most popular player, way ahead of Willie Mays. In 1961 he was hailed as the one most likely to hit 60 or more home runs in 1962. He was National League leader with 46 in 1961 and now is holding 35 as his best effort in 1962.

Today Mays is the big popular player on the Giants. In fact Harvey Kuenn, Billy Pierce, Jimmy Davenport, Jose Pagan, Felipe or Matty Alou would rate ahead of Cepeda as a crowd appealing athlete. That is a big drop from popularity for the Baby Bull, voted the rookie of the year in 1958.

THAT IS not to say that Cepeda has passed his peak as a hitter. The big clouter is one of the best righthanded hitters since Rogers Hornsby flashed across the nation years ago.

The fate of Cepeda's future isn't bright. Admittedly he overplayed himself in the off season and refused to heed sage advice. And in becoming the recognized spokesman for the Puerto Ricans and Dominicans with the Giants he assumed more than his meager baseball experience could stand.

Cepeda made few friends comparing the $90,000 salary of Willie Mays to his meager "beef" for $46,000. It took Mays 10 years to get where he is and Cepeda felt his five years was much greater than those of Willie's.

THEN AS the 1961 hero began parading in the spring of 1962, it was easy to detect his strut. It was Cepeda who made the appeal to Boss Stoneham to allow Juan Marichal to leave spring camp and go back to bring with him a bride he left less than 10 days before. Stoneham granted the appeal and that put a feather in Cepeda's hat as a spokesman for the crew.

Everything worked out fine for a good stretch and Cepeda, enjoying a good spring season, looked destined to be the big man everybody thought he would be. For a time he was the real cock o' the walk. He strutted at first base and almost wore a path from first base to the pitcher's mound offering suggestions to the team's flingers.

AND THEN the big slump came. It was bad enough for Orlando but for some strange reason, his pals seemed to slump whenever he did.

So far in the World Series games against the Yankees you could hardly say the Baby Bull has opened the eyes of onlookers.

But whether he does hit or doesn't hit in this 1962 World Series, is beside the question. The Baby Bull has taken a pledge he will not play winter ball. And if he keeps that, next year, he may be the principal reason for the Giants continuing as national league champions, or even as world's champions.

Warriors Triumph In Final Seconds

PORTLAND (UPI) — Tom Gola scored a field goal in the final four seconds of play last night to give the San Francisco Warriors a 118-117 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in a National Basketball Assn. exhibition game.

San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain led all scorers with 52 points, while Elgin Baylor was high for the Lakers with 37.

Chamberlain scored 69 points in Salem Saturday night, as the Lakers won, 132-125. The two teams meet in another exhibition game tonight in Olympia, Wash.

Seals Defenseman Suffers Injury

BERKELEY (AP) — San Franciscos Seals defenseman Jean Marc Picard may miss the Western Hockey League opener against Portland Wednesday night in San Francisco because of a severe gash suffered last night.

The veteran was slashed by a skate after falling to the ice in an intra-squad charity game. He was taken to an emergency hospital, where 22 stitches were required to close a wound in his throat.

Oakland Pro Cage Team Signs Gardere

OAKLAND (UPI) — The new Oakland team in the American Basketball League has signed its first player—former San Francisco Saint forward Joe Gardere.

Gardere was a high school scoring star in Oakland and later played on the St. Mary's College team when it won the West Coast Athletic Conference title in 1958.

HOCKEY STAR IS SOLD FOR $1 MILLION

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs confirmed today receipt of $1 million for star left-winger Frank Mahovlich from James Norris of the Chicago Black Hawks, but the offer was not immediately accepted by the National Hockey League club.

"We can't consider a deal of that nature without going to the board of directors," said Stafford Smythe, Toronto Leafs president.

Ed Fitkin, Leafs public relations officer, said a check for $999,000 was tendered for purchase of the hockey star. Norris, millionaire owner of the Black Hawks, said he made the offer Friday and placed a $1,000 deposit to bring the total price to $1,000,000.

Smythe said Mahovlich, 24, who had been having a salary dispute with the Leafs, signed a four-year contract today with Toronto. Details were not disclosed.

UCLA Hero Named Back Of The Week

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — UCLA'S sophomore quarterback Larry Zeno earned the AAWU's "back of the week" award in his first collegiate football game, it was announced today.

Zeno guided the Bruins on a 70-yard march in the last seven minutes of UCLA's upset of Ohio State Saturday and capped the drive with a 24-yard field goal that won the game for the Bruins, 9-7.

Greenbrae School Recreation On Tap

A proposal to extend the Larkspur-Corte Madera Recreation program to Greenbrae School heads the agenda of the Kentfield School District board at 7:45 p.m. today.

The trustees will meet in the Greenbrae school multi-use room. Members of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn. will appear to ask inclusion of the school in the recreation activities.

Employment of a teacher and several other personnel matters will come up.

Golden Gate Winner

ALBANY (AP) — Sea Orbit $4.40 romped to a three length victory in the $16,000 William G. Gilmore Handicap at Golden Gate Fields Saturday.

Manuel Ycaza and Willie Shoemaker both rode five winners in one day on New York tracks last season. Ycaza got his five at Belmont on Sept. 29, Shoemaker scored his at Aqueduct on Nov. 2.

Series Sidelights

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the series:

Jose Pagan, the San Francisco shortstop who batted .259 during the regular season, was the leading hitter among the players who have participated in the first three series games. Pagan had four hits in eight tries for a .500 average.

THE GIANTS tied a club fielding record yesterday when they were credited with only three assists. The mark is shared by the St. Louis Cards and Philadelphia Athletics of 1930, the Cards of 1934 and the Boston Braves of 1948.

SUNDAY'S PLAYING time of 2 hours and 6 minutes was the shortest in the series since Oct. 7, 1957 when Milwaukee blanked the Yankees 1-0 in two hours. The games this year have averaged 2 hours, 20 minutes with 2:43 for the first game, 2:11 for the second and 2:07 for the third.

EVERY TIME Roger Maris comes up to bat in the World Series, he sees three infielders to the right of second base . . . Does it bother the New York Yankee outfielder? . . . "naw," he said today, "it's all right with me if they want to do it that way . . . But if they pitch me inside I'll hit the ball over their heads." . . . that's just what he did in the seventh inning in the Yanks' 3-2 victory over San Francisco . . . The hit was a key single.

SAID YANK Manager Ralph Houk before today's fourth game: "I can't recall a World Series in which the first three games had so much good pitching." . . . Which led some observers to conclude that the slumbering sluggers were due to break out.

YOU'D THINK the crowds here would be strictly for the Yankees . . . But there's still a lot of lingering sentiment for the Giants . . . It appeared that at least half the spectators stood during the traditional seventh inning stretch for the Giants . . . They left New York after the 1957 season.

WILLIE MAYS of the Giants, by the way, said it had been years since anyone asked him an original question . . . "If they asked me anything but the same old thing, I'd be hurt," he grinned.

Liston Charges Prejudice In Beef With Cop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—World heavyweight champion Sonny Liston has accused a Fairmont Park guard who picked him up for going too slow in his auto of being "prejudiced against" him because he is a Negro.

Liston was picked up by guard Aaron Smith Friday night, it was disclosed over the weekend, and later released. No charges were lodged against him.

It was the second time Liston had been stopped by park guards in 16 months.

Francis C. Deegan, park guard superintendent, said Smith stopped Liston because his car was going 15 miles an hour.

Deegan said Liston could not find his automobile registration and that Liston claimed he was being picked on because of his race.

Merchants Whip Palo Alto 7-2

The San Anselmo Merchants whipped the Palo Alto Oaks 7-2 yesterday in a semi-pro baseball game.

Nino Geminiani pitched a two-hitter for the Merchants as he struck out 10 and walked six. The San Anselmo hitting attack was led by John Boccabello and Bob Ingram, each with a double and a single.

49ers Upset Colts, 21-13

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The San Francisco 49ers were home from Maryland today with a 2-2 record for the season, a respectable count that looked dismally far away a few weeks ago.

The 49ers combined the talents of John Brodie, J. D. Smith and Bill Kilmer to down the Baltimore Colts 21-13 yesterday. Charley Kreuger, Leo Nomellini, Clark Miller and Dan Colchico led a San Francisco defense that shook up Baltimore's Johnny Unitas.

The 49ers suffered early season defeats to Chicago and Detroit and their victory over the Minnesota Vikings a week ago was no smash hit.

But San Francisco combined a solid ground game with passing to upset the highly-favored Colts and also leave them with a 2-2 record in the National Football League.

TIGHT SPOTS

Tight spots came for the Californians when they handed the Colts the ball three times through fumbles. One toss-over was by Kilmer at the goal line.

The 49ers scored in the first quarter with Kilmer's five-yard run after an 80-yard drive in a dozen plays. The second tally came in the third quarter on a seven-play drive for 27 yards, wound up by a four-yard pass by Brodie to Monte Stickles.

The Colts scored in the fourth when Alex Hawkins plunged one yard after a 41-yard drive in 11 tries. Hawkins scored Baltimore's second touchdown on a two-yard plunge.

Kilmer made a one-yard plunge for the 49ers' third tally after a 63-yard drive in 15 plays.

Unitas was the spark plug for the Colts' second touchdown as he hit on five passes to set up Hawkins. But the 49ers put out some of the spark by blocking the conversion.

Sparrow's Pass Paces UOP Win

STOCKTON (AP) — The University of the Pacific ends the first — and easiest — half of its 1962 football slate next Saturday at Los Angeles State. But the Tigers are probably thinking of the following weekend when they visit powerful Oregon State.

After last Saturday's 14-7 win over the San Diego Marines, the Tigers held a 3-1 mark.

Pacific got its first score Saturday when end Buck Nero grabbed quarterback Jack Sparrow's second-quarter pass 18 yards away in the end zone. John Alsup tossed the ball seven yards to back Greg Stikes in the third quarter for the other Tiger TD.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

BUENOS AIRES — Federico Thompson, 146, Argentina, outpointed Jorge Peralta, 141¼, Uruguay, 15.

Terra Linda Gets Warner Grid Victory

In the other two games, the Mill Valley Junior Indians beat the once powerful Redwood Junior Giants, 19-6, in a Sunday game played at the new Strawberry recreation field, and the San Rafael Junior Bulldogs and the Novato Junior Hornets fought to a 13-13 tie.

Scoring touchdowns for the Junior Trojans in their whopping victory were Steve Congdon, Pat Carney, Steve Muller, Jack Wright and Chris Bowman.

For Mill Valley, TDs were scored by Mike Biber twice and Steve Ellis on a pass from Tom Fair. Harvey Tand scored the Redwood lone tally.

Both Novato touchdowns were scored by Louis Butti and San Rafael touchdowns were scored by Bill Meredith and Sam Crowell.

Lavorante Serious

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boxer Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina was still in a coma and in serious condition today, hospital attendants reported.

By JIM GILMARTIN

Redwood Giants and Novato Hornets proved they're defensive minded Saturday afternoon with the Giants just a wee bit better at it, 6-0, in the opening of the Marin Athletic League's football race.

Quarterback Jim Troppmann scored from four yards out in the second quarter for the game's only score before an estimated crowd of 1,800 at Novato High School's wind-blown stadium.

Novato's dejected coach Marlin Olsen blamed poor blocking for his team's inability to move against the sturdy Giants. The Hornets got past midfield twice—to the 36-yard line in the first quarter where Giant Rick Kline made a key tackle to halt a drive and to the 20 in the third quarter when Bob Phillips recovered a fumble. The Hornets blew that golden opportunity on the first play on a fumble recovered by Redwood's Dennis Shunk.

Neither side showed much offensive punch and the longest scrimmage play of the game was an 11-yard run by Troppmann straight up the middle.

Novato's John Miller looked like he would break away for a TD gallop with a 35-yard run of an intercepted pass, in the fourth quarter but he just wasn't fast enough and was felled on the midfield stripe.

"That's our trouble," said Olsen, "we just don't have enough speed."

The strong winds appeared to kill one Novato play in the fourth quarter that looked like it would score. A Novato pass receiver got about 12 yards behind the Redwood safety man but Nick Willard's aerial was blown short and Dave Cox intercepted.

Redwood's touchdown drive started when the Giants took over a punt on the 50-yard line. The Giants then went 50 yards in 12 plays. Key plays keeping the drive alive was a 13-yard pass by Troppmann to Cox from a spread formation and that 11 yard run by Troppmann.

The drive almost stalled when Hornets Ron Heidinger, Wayne Russell, Al Nelson and Kris Kristofors sparked a defense that held for three downs inside the 10, but Troppmann finally crashed in to the end zone over right tackle from four yards out.

Tropp's attempted pass for the PAT failed.

Hornung's Toe Saves Green Bay

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Someone hung the "Golden Boy" tag on Paul Hornung because of his curly, blond hair. That was a mistake. The gold in Hornung has to be his toe and his ability to win the money games for the Green Bay Packers.

The former Notre Dame star booted the defending National Football League champions into sole possession of first place in the Western Conference Sunday, kicking three field goals in a 9-7 victory over the Detroit Lions yesterday.

As usual, he saved the best one for when it was needed—this time 33 seconds from the finish.

The Washington Redskins have that golden feeling today, too, having put together their first three-game winning streak since 1957 with a 20-14 decision over the Los Angeles Rams that kept them in the lead of the Eastern Conference with a 3-0-1 mark.

In other NFL games, the New York Giants stayed hot on the trail of the Redskins with a 31-14 victory over St. Louis Cardinals; the Cleveland Browns defeated Dallas' Cowboys 19-10; San Francisco rolled over the Baltimore Colts 21-13, and the Chicago Bears shut out Minnesota 13-0. Pittsburgh won over Philadelphia, 13-7 Saturday night.

In the American League, Houston defeated Buffalo 17-14 and San Diego handed Dallas its first loss 32-28 in the only Sunday games.

TIMELY INTERCEPTION

Herb Adderley set up Hornung's winning kick. The former Michigan State halfback intercepted one of Milt Plum's passes and ran 40 yards to Detroit's 21-yard line with less than two minutes to play. After two running plays, Hornung stepped back and split the uprights from the 21-yard line.

His other two boots were from the 15-yard line, one in the first period the first time the Packers had the ball and the other in the third quarter.

Adderley also blocked one of Wayne Walker's two unsuccessful field goal tries and otherwise teamed with the rest of the Packers' defense that held Plum, the NFL's passing leader, to only 92 yards on 11 completions in 26 tries.

Fullback Jim Taylor picked up 95 yards for Green Bay but the Packers couldn't keep their ground attack moving on a muddy field. A fumble by quarterback Bart Starr preceded Dan Lewis' 6-yard TD run for the Lions in the second period.

FAVORITE TARGET

Washington quarterback Norm Snead found end Fred Dugan a favorite target after using halfback Bobby Mitchell in the first three games. He hit Dugan six times, twice for touchdowns. The Redskins have now surpassed their victory total of two during the past two seasons. The Rams are winless in four games.

Y. A. Tittle passed and ran—at the tender age of 36—the Giants (3-1) to their third win in four starts. He hit Del Shofner with a TD pass, outstepped the Cards' defenders for a 21-yard scoring run and then paved the route for Alex Webster's one-yard scoring burst. In all, he completed 16 of 26 for 190 yards. The Cards (1-3) got both scores from the running of John David Crow.

Pesky Named Bosox Pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Pesky set 1965 as the target date for his young Boston Red Sox to come of age as he took over today his new job as manager.

"We've got a young ball club," said Pesky "and we have a solid nucleus of a club that is going to go places in the future. We are going to go with the young fellows as much as possible. You can't tell how fast some of those fellows will develop."

Pesky succeeded Mike Higgins, who moved up to executive vice president of baseball for the Red Sox Saturday night. At the same time, Dick O'Connell became executive vice president of business for the club.

SHORT GAINER—Chuck Hardeman, Marin Catholic halfback (20), gets set to grab a seven yard pass from his quarterback Gerry Denman during final quarter of the Wildcat-Tamalpais football game Saturday night. Flashy Tam Blanks Marin Catholic '11'

By RALPH CHATOIAN

If there are any explosions around southern Marin it may well be coming from the Tamalpais High School football field during Indian drills.

The Tam gridders were exploding all over the field Saturday night when they took their first 1962 Marin County Athletic League football game from the startled Marin Catholic Wildcat squad, 19-0, at College of Marin stadium.

The three most earth-shaking explosions had blast ranges of 60, 52 and 28 yards as the swift and powerful Tam backfield divided three touchdowns among themselves.

Fleet right halfback Warren Domino ran through, around and over the Wildcat line as he picked up 122 yards rushing in nine carries for an incredible 13.6 average per carry.

BLOCKED PUNT

The Indians scored their first touchdown early in the opening quarter on their third play from scrimmage. Tam got its hands on the ball on the Wildcat 37-yard line after defensive tackle Tony Houston crashed through the Marin Catholic line and blocked a fourth down punt.

Tam quarterback Bill Gillingham picked up seven around right end. Domino tried up the middle for two more yards, making it third down and one yard to go for a first down. With the defense expecting a plunge through the middle, Gillingham kept the ball and skirted around left end for the touchdown from 28 yards out.

Tam was quick to strike in the opening seconds of the last half. Marin Catholic tried an on-sides kick after coming back from intermission, but a Tam gridder fell on the rolling ball on the Tam 48-yard stripe.

52-YARD GALLOP

On a first down play, the fleet-footed Domino tore through a hole at left tackle, found running room, and sped past the Marin Catholic secondary to the end zone for a 52-yard touchdown gallop. Gillingham followed with a run over right end for the extra point. The scoreboard then read Tam 13, Marin Catholic 0.

Although Marin Catholic ran 59 plays from scrimmage, excluding punts, compared to only 44 for Tamalpais, the Wildcats could not keep a drive moving to pay dirt. Hardeman broke loose for a 31-yard gallop in the third quarter and halfback Wally Lourdeaux got free for a 22-yarder in the second period, but they could not outrun the speed of the Tam secondary.

Most of the game was played on Marin Catholic's half of the field, as the Wildcats failed to penetrate the Tam 20-yard stripe. The closest Marin Catholic ever got to the goal line was in the final period when quarterback Gerry Denman threw a seven-yard pass to Hardeman on the Tam 27, one yard shy of a first down.

But on a fourth and one situation, quarterback Lad Wilsey tried to swing around left end and was thrown for a four-yard loss, killing the drive, as Tam took possession on their own 31-yard line.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the Rose Bowl were only played at the start of the football season, the West Coast would be in great shape.

For the three prime bowl contenders from the Big 10 have each journeyed West — and they're still looking for a victory.

Unsung UCLA sprung the biggest shocker of the season when it stopped Ohio State 9-7 Saturday. The Buckeyes, ranked No. 1 in the nation, lost because three of their drives stopped dead on UCLA's one-yard line.

The Bruins won because halfback Kermit Alexander dashed 45 yards to a score on UCLA's first play of the game and sophomore quarterback Larry Zeno booted a 24-yard field goal with one minute, 35 seconds to play.

Southern California dumped another Big 10 club, Iowa, 7-0 at Iowa City. Elsewhere Saturday, Washington routed Kansas State 41-0, Oregon State upset Stanford 27-0, Pittsburgh outlasted California 26-24, Oregon blanked San Jose 14-0, Montana turned back Idaho 22-16, and Washington State gained a 24-24 tie with Arizona State.

California lost both its game and No. 1 quarterback Randy Gold. Gold pulled a ligament in his right knee and was operated on Sunday. Cal Coach Marv Levy said Gold, a senior, will be out for two months. He is the third-leading passer in Cal history.

Drake Pirate Gridders Edge San Rafael Bulldogs 14-13

By MAURICE WEINGER

San Rafael won the statistics, but Sir Francis Drake won the ball game, 14-13, Saturday as the Marin County Athletic League started for both teams.

The game featured the tremendous running of halfback Mike Shafer, who gained 142 yards on 29 carries. Most of Shafer's gains were the hard type, up the middle or off tackle, as he led the Bulldogs on five long marches, but only one paid off for a score.

Drake, however, used more of an all around attack with Hamish Tyler throwing and Tom Tanzi running, but the Pirates only picked up four first downs during the game and had to depend on a beautiful kick-off return by halfback Mike Kemp and a recovered fumble to score their two touchdowns.

SHAFER STARS

Shafer was San Rafael's offense. After receiving the opening kick-off, the Bulldogs held the ball during the first nine minutes to score. The march started from San Rafael's 27 with Shafer single handedly contributing 48 of the team's 63-yard drive.

After quarterback Tom Zunino called for a long pass downfield which fell incomplete, the call went to Shafer. Big Mike carried twice for 12, was spelled by John O'Donnel who gained five and then added 16 yards on the next four downs.

Zunino crossed up Drake's defense with a seven-yard rollout, but Shafer went right back to work and carried the last four times from the 15 yard line to cap the drive.

LONG RETURN

But Drake was not to be denied. On the ensuing kick-off Kemp, a junior with a great future, took the ball on his own 15. Moving up field and finding blockers, Kemp then cut right on San Rafael's 45 and with a smashing block from Dick Street sailed home free to tie the score.

After Tyler tried a pass which failed, Tom Tanzi zoomed off right guard for 25 yards. From the 18 Tyler called an up-and-out pass to end Bruce Thompson who was down on the three where Tanzi again went off right tackle for the score.

San Rafael entered the third quarter determined to score once it got possession of the ball. Starting from the Pirates 43, the Bulldogs moved to the two yard line, but the determined defensive wall of Drake, led by John Wallace, Roger Bovard and Rick Lais held.

DRAKE DAMAGE

However, the damage to Drake occurred four plays later. The Pirates tried to run the ball up the middle, but San Rafael gave only three yards on the three plays and a punt situation occurred.

Drake's punter, Chuck Simontacchi, stood back deep in his end zone but never got the ball out of his territory. As his foot connected with the pigskin, tackle Doug Childress blocked it and the loose ball went harmlessly in the air where Bill Henry grabbed it for San Rafael's second score.

Instead of kicking the PAT like it did for the first score, San Rafael elected to run it in, but Shafer's try failed by inches.

Both teams gave away scoring opportunities through penalties and fumbles. Drake's Tyler connected early in the third quarter on a 61-yard pass to Jim Brewer for a first down on the three, only to see the play nullified by a holding penalty. San Rafael got down to the 15-yard line on a run by Zunino, which featured Shafer blocking out two Pirates, but again a 15-yard penalty hurt its cause.

The Drake JV's made it a clean sweep by knocking off San Rafael 19-6, on two tallies by Tony Rivera and one by Larry Stein.

Bears' Crew To Perform In Marin

One of the University of California's eight-oar crews will put on a rowing demonstration on the Belvedere Lagoon Sunday.

It will be sponsored by the Belvedere Sailing Society under the leadership of Commodore Allan Steinau. It will be the first time such a demonstration has been staged in Marin.

The demonstration will highlight the Commodore's Annual Post Season Regatta which will be limited to eight-oar racing shells. The University of California varsity crew, under the direction of coach Jim Lemon, will drive from Berkeley to Peninsula Road, Belvedere, where it will launch the boat from a vacant lot.

If there are no other challengers, the Cal crew will put on the rowing demonstration up and down the long arms of the lagoon starting at 2 p.m.

Three Marinites Get Prize Salmon

Louis Woelfl of 233 C Street, San Rafael, caught a 37-pound, 4-ounce salmon near the Slide Ranch Sept. 24 from the "Marion," captained by E. W. Engberg.

Eugene F. Marker of 301 Oakdale Avenue, Mill Valley, pulled out a 35-pound, 8-ounce salmon from Rocky Point on Sept. 27 from the "Mark Angelo," skippered by A. Sabella.

Dwight Tracy of 158 East Blythedale Avenue, Mill Valley, caught a 35-pound salmon from Duxbury Sept. 29 from the "Ginnie C" skippered by Henry Carlson.

Redeveloper Rips 'Kangaroo Court' Pole-House Critics

The redeveloper of Marin City has branded criticism of its houses on telephone poles "the premature judgment of a kangaroo court of self-appointed know-nothings."

James H. Scheuer of New York, president of California Development Corp., which has the redevelopment master contract, made the statement after viewing the houses for the first time Saturday. He said he is proud to be responsible for them.

Scheuer called a statement by Edward P. Ward, president of the Marin County Real Estate Board, in criticism of the houses "possibly libelous" and said he might take legal action if there are more such statements.

Ward, in a letter to the board membership last week, suggested a demand for grand jury investigation, asserting, "The value, structural integrity and design of the houses should be questioned."

Scheuer, especially incensed by the reference to "structural integrity," said any more statements questioning that would lead to a suit for damages "in seven figures."

Scheuer said he was in California primarily to inspect a housing project of his firm in Sacramento. He came to Marin City at request of Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency.

Also on hand at Klahn's office were Vernon DeMars, John Ready and John Wells, partners in the Berkeley architectural firm of DeMars and Ready which designed the houses, and John H. Tolan Jr. of Barrett Homes, Inc., the builder.

DeMars called on critics to wait until the houses are finished before judging them. He said the concept of pole foundations is relatively new and this is probably the first time it has been attempted on a production basis for the low-priced market.

He said pole construction provided an answer to what would normally be expensive hillside construction requiring much excavation, retaining walls and drainage structures. Placing the houses on poles saved $2,000 per house in total costs, he said, although costing about $250 more than concrete footings.

DeMars also defended the pole house on esthetic grounds. Hillside houses often look like a group of towers, he said, but the pole houses "will seem to float on the wooded hillside."

Klahn said design of the houses was approved by a committee of architects appointed by the redevelopment agency, composed of John Leonard King, Robert Anchen and Bolton White, all Marin residents. He said the agency would welcome an investigation by the grand jury "to correct the many obsolute erroneous statements."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—In a stormy General Assembly session, Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos Toraddo demanded today that the United Nations condemn as "an act of war" what he called a U.S. naval blockade.

The Cuban president was interrupted repeatedly by anti-Castro hecklers. His reference to an alleged U.S. naval blockade brought a prolonged burst of applause from the Soviet bloc, a small group of African delegates and some visitors in the public galleries.

He received another round of applause when he said:

"Cuba has friends, Cuba has friendly governments. It is not alone."

A half-dozen shouting men and women were hustled from the public galleries by alert U.N. guards as they hurled insults at Dorticos. Security reinforcements were rushed into the galleries and the assembly president threatened to suspend the meeting unless order was maintained.

In a bitter attack on the Kennedy administration, the Cuban president accused the United States of acting "in obvious contempt of the United Nations" in calling last week's meeting of Latin American foreign ministers in Washington.

He said the meeting was aimed at persuading the other nations to join in "the domestic subversion of my country."

Assembly President Muhammed Zafrulla Khan assured Dorticos he was doing his best to keep order. He warned that he would clear the chamber if necessary.

Dorticos assailed the joint U.S. congressional statement, which he read out, that urged action against Cuba.

Novak Plea Before Planners

A request for rezoning from single family to multiple residential of eight lots on the east side of Reichert Avenue, south of De Long Avenue, will be considered by the Novato planning commission at its meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the community building.

The request was made by John Novak, who is also asking for architectural supervision for a 13-unit apartment house at Eighth Street and Grant Avenue.

Sutter Development Co. is asking for rezoning from limited agricultural to multiple dwelling between the end of Sunset Parkway and Highway 101, extending 3,700 feet to the south.

Other items to come before the commission include a tentative map of Terrace Park subdivision of 20 acres between Lynwood Park and Highway 101, and architectural approval for a trailer park on the east side of Railroad Avenue between Cherry and Peach Streets.

Meredith Goes To Class; No Incidents

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—Negro James Meredith began his second week of classes at the University of Mississippi without incident today and the Army announced it was pulling out a number of the troops that have stood by in case of trouble.

In Washington, Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance said 5,400 of the Army troops moved to Memphis, Tenn., and Columbus, Miss., and held in reserve after riots greeted Meredith's arrival on the campus Sept. 30 were being pulled out immediately and sent back to their home bases.

Troops on duty in Oxford and on call at Memphis and Columbus included more than 15,000 men at the height of the mobilization early last week. However, about 3,500 Mississippi guardsmen have been released and another 4,500 were allowed to return to their jobs but kept on the alert.

Meredith, who spent the weekend off campus, walked to history class in the graduate building, accompanied by four U.S. deputy marshals. Three of the marshals waited on the front steps during the class and one sat just outside the classroom door.

Meredith still is driven to his classes by a handful of marshals but he is no longer followed by a truckful of troops although soldiers are spotted about the campus and his dormitory is closely guarded. All gates of the university still are guarded by troops and guards are set up about the town of Oxford.

Meredith did not eat breakfast at the university cafeteria but ate there last night and received an unaccustomed overture of friendship from a white male student who sat with him. Another student shook the Negro's hand as he was about to leave.

But outside the cafeteria a group of students jeered Meredith last night as he started back to his dormitory.

Educator Warns On Neglecting Of Arts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An educator at UCLA recently warned that neglect of the arts in the secondary schools is leading America down the road to "mediocrity nad vulgarity."

Dr. Jack Morrison, lecturer in theater arts, said "if we continue to label the arts as frills and crowd them out of the curriculum, a proliferation of mediocrity and vulgarity is sure to follow."

FAILURE'S FORMULA

How To Rear A Delinquent . .

PALOS VERDES ESTATES (UPI) — A panel of psychologists at Marymount College here offered the following suggestions to develop your own juvenile delinquent.

—Take your child's part in school and neighborhood quarrels. Let him realize that teachers are underpaid incompetents who could not hold a job elsewhere, and that neighbors are narrow-minded and envious.

—Let him dress and behave like a beatnik, especially when he tells you all his friends do, and he doesn't want to be different.

—Encourage him to avoid responsibilities. Tell him to let the "eager beavers" do it.

—Don't tell him he's wrong. That word "wrong" can set up serious frustrations and give him the feeling he's being persecuted.

—Be a "buddy." Let him treat you the way he treats his friends, call you by your first name and speak only slang. It proves you're "hep."

—Let him read all the filth he can buy and borrow. Otherwise, how will he be able to tell the good from the bad?

—If he's a bully and a show-off, don't thwart him. It's probably a manifestation of the fact that he's a born leader.

—Let him postpone his chores, and postpone and postpone until they are either forgotten or you've done them.

—When he's in real trouble — and you can bet your boots he will be — excuse it all by saying that these modern youngsters are always difficult to control, but promise this won't happen again.

Panhellenic Report Tea Set For Marin Sorority Alumnae

Marin sorority alumnae who attend the annual Panhellenic report tea on Oct. 17 will hear the members report on rushing by Marin girls on college campuses throughout the country this fall. Mrs. Austin Burch of Gamma Phi Beta, first vice president, will present the report.

The tea, to be given from 2 to 4 p.m. at Alexander Hall, San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, will feature as guest speaker Mrs. William Gonser of Berkeley and St. Helena. Mrs. Gonser has been a member of the grand council of Kappa Alpha Theta for eight years and has served as vice president in charge of service and philanthropy for that group. "The Future of Sororities" will be her topic.

Kappa Alpha Theta members will be hostesses for the tea and pouring tea will be Thetas Mrs. George A. Mills and Ashton Stow.

Officers' Wives Will Hear Band

The Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base will be decorated in autumn leaves for the luncheon of the Officers' Wives Club tomorrow.

The 573rd U.S. Air Force band will perform.

A sherry hour to begin at 12:30 p.m., will be followed by the luncheon and program.

Mrs. John W. Jacobs is general chairman for the luncheon. Assisting her are Mesdames William R. Traver, decorations; Leo G. Sill, punch; Roland Howard, publicity; William James, program; and George L. Bell, food. Hostess will be Mrs. Irving Sauls.

Women's Image Is Misleading, Says Anthropologist

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Hard, bossy, unfeminine, yet using womanly wiles to get their way—that's how professional women see themselves, says a leading anthropologist.

Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels thinks they're mixed up and actually believe in that aggressive boss lady cliche that's been kicking around for years.

"The professional woman has a stereotype as an image," says the New York University professor, "and the image is confused, negative and unrealistic."

SHE MADE THIS unhappy discovery when she conducted an opinion poll of 400 men and women from NYU's Graduate School of Education and the Newark College of Engineering, some already professionals and others preparing to be. Her study is dealt with in Dr. Alpenfel's contribution to a newly published book: "American Woman: The Changing Image."

This feminine, unbossy, nonstereotype anthropologist was fascinated, she said, to discover that those not yet professionals were far kinder to women than the professionals, and men were far kinder to their feminine colleagues than the women were to themselves.

IN THE LISTING of women's personality traits, confusion and inconsistency were rampant. Both men and women listed aggressiveness as a leading characteristic of lady professionals. Women were also called sticklers for ethical conduct, but dogmatic, autocratic, cold and hard. At the same time they were considered warmer, more understanding and more cordial than men, enjoying a better relationship with others.

As for professional standards and qualifications, men didn't differentiate between the sexes. Women did.

Men put education first and emphasized membership in professional groups, professional reading, training and appearance, which they called being well-groomed and women called well-dressed.

ONLY THREE PER CENT of the men cited intelligence, while women thought intelligence the outstanding qualification for themselves. A bare one per cent of the women mentioned education. Not one woman put down professional reading.

"My major concern is the confusion in the mind of women who are professionals," she went on.

"Women are still operating on the theory that a woman's place is in the home. They don't want to work for women. They don't respect women as administrators. Yet women have been proving for decades they can be good professionals."

It's for society to decide, concluded Dr. Alpenfels. "If you're not going to give the same opportunities to girls as to boys, then don't give them the same education."

'TREMENDOUS RESPONSE'

Consumer Counsel Assesses Success Of 3 Year Program

October marks the third anniversary of California's Consumer Counsel program.

The new idea in California state government, the program is unique in the United States. While a few states (including California) have special sections in the offices of their attorney generals to deal with frauds against consumers, only California has a Consumer Counsel placed at the top of level of government.

California's Consumer Counsel post was created by an act of the Legislature at the request of Gov. Edmund G. Brown to provide an official voice for consumers.

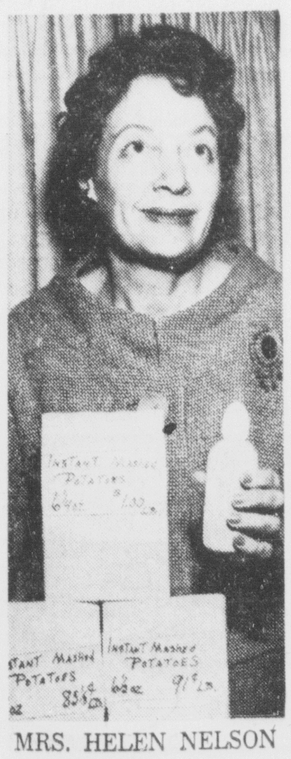
The law calls upon the Consumer Counsel to advise the Governor and Legislature on matters affecting consumers and make recommendations as needed; to "lobby" for consumers by speaking on their behalf at hearings of governmental bodies; and to study consumer problems and provide information to consumers.

MRS. HELEN NELSON, formerly of Mill Valley, appointed Consumer Counsel by Governor Brown, considers consumer information an important part of her work. Earlier this year her office cooperated with women's organizations to conduct a series of consumer information conferences in the state. Representatives of government agencies were on hand to answer questions about food shopping, credit buying, selling methods and all sorts of related subjects.

"The response was tremendous," Mrs. Nelson said. "Hundreds of consumers came to these meetings eager to learn how to buy more wisely."

"One thing we all learned," Mrs. Nelson adds, "is that too often at the time of purchase there is precious little choice left for us consumers to make. The fundamental decision has been made by others, sometimes in private industry and sometimes in government."

How much a loaf of bread weighs, how much fat a pound of hamburger can contain, how much interest we pay on a charge account—these decisions are made by our representatives in government, Mrs. Nelson points out.



MRS. HELEN NELSON

MEAT INSPECTION—California has the best meat inspection program of any state. It is administered by the State Department of Agriculture, which works closely with the Meat Inspection Division of the U.S. Agriculture Department. Inspectors check meat for wholesomeness and safety. They do not grade meat for quality.

Hamburger — in California hamburger has a legal meaning. The law says it can contain only the "voluntary striated muscle of fresh beef" with not more than 30 per cent fat. If any substance is added that is not approved by the State Public Health Department—other meat, or water or food coloring—the hamburger is considered adulterated.

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture, not the State, sets the grade standards for meat to assure uniformity of quality all around the nation.

Use of government grades for meat is voluntary, not compulsory. Meat packers pay the government for the grading service.

Marinites Attending Convention

Delegations from every state, District of Columbia, Panama Canal Zone and Puerto Rico will attend the Auxiliary's four-day conclave.

Attending from Marin County will be California's state president Mrs. Richard Brown, member of San Anselmo Unit 179; state Pan American chairman Mrs. Jene Lestanguet of San Anselmo Unit; state alternate hospital representative Mrs. Bryce Florence of Twin Cities Unit 313; Mrs. William Wagner, president of Twin Cities Unit, and Mrs. Richard Miehling of Wilkins Unit in San Rafael.

Speakers at the convention sessions include former President Harry S. Truman, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Mrs. Hazel A. Blanchard, president of the National Education Assn. and Gen. David M. Shoup, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will be guest of honor and will address the National Commander's dinner tomorrow at the Flamingo Hotel.

TEA TO FETE PRESIDENTS IN FAIRFAX

A tea to honor the club's past presidents will be given tomorrow afternoon by the Dorcas Society of Fairfax Community Church, attended by the women interested in the missionary, social or church work in the area.

The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Berger Hall of the church in Fairfax, announced Mrs. August Rasmussen, president.

The Dorcas Society is heading a church-wide party to honor the Rev. James Sherman, who is new to the church. Mrs. Tom Teare, chairman, has collected donations for pantry articles to be presented at the party.

SEW SIMPLE

Newspaper Rules Are Helpful In Sewing Laminated Fabrics

"Since this is the season for sewing laminated fabrics, I'd like to share my tip. In order to keep my seams straight, and also to keep them feeding into the sewing machine, I cover them with the edge of a newspaper. The border of the newspaper, either the print, or solid lines, will be a perfect guide line for the seam. This fabric, which seems tricky to sew, sews like a dream this way."

This suggestion from Mrs. Don Lewis, Elizabethton, Tenn., is such a good idea that she is being awarded the weekly tailor trix pressing board prize this week. Thank you, Mrs. Lewis, for sharing with us.

"Somehow or other, I always manage to stretch the shoulder seams when I make a garment. They also have a pulled, stretched look after the garment has been worn. What am I doing wrong?"—Mrs. B.R.

Dear Mrs. B.R.:

Perhaps you have forgotten the importance of "stay-stitching." Another helpful tip for fabrics such as jersey or other stretch type fabrics is to pin a piece of seam tape over your seamline. This will be included in the stitching of the shoulder seams. The firmness of the seam tape will prevent the seam from stretching out of shape.

Mrs. S. D. Montgomery of Southfield, Mich., says: "Here's a give and take idea: Set up a swap system with your church group, friends, club members, and neighbors. Let it be known what you need for your particular sewing project and in turn, pass on to others what they might use, and what you no longer have use for.

"Make your exchanges on club nights, or oftener, if possible. You might 'kick-in' ends of knitting wool for crocheting afghans, your friends might turn over cotton scraps for someone who does quilting, discarded clothing for makeovers, etc. There is fun in sharing, and satisfaction in not having ragbag clutter."

"Beading is so very popular nowadays, and yet I can't find any information on how to go about doing this type of work at home. I am a dressmaker and have had several requests for this beading work, but don't feel like plunging into it on a hit or miss basis. Can you help me, please?"—Mrs. J.K.

Dear Mrs. J. K.:

The all-over beading that you will find on many expensive clothes is done by machine or is done from the wrong side of the fabric with a special crochet-type hook. This requires very specialized training.

However, for a small amount of beading which is very effective, the beads are worked from the right side of the garment. Your design must be stamped or outlined with thread first.

Second, place a soft, firm fabric on the wrong side of your garment, under the design. This is especially important when beading sweaters and will keep the design from stretching out of shape.

Use a very fine needle, usually at least a size 11, a long needle is preferable. Don't use a thread that is too long because it will become frayed and weak. Wax the thread with beeswax before you begin.

Each bead is sewed on separately with a tiny back stitch. This will hold the beading in place permanently. Beading adds a costume room touch to your garments and can be fun to do—however it is time consuming, so don't try to hurry it up.

"I have a leather coat that needs to be shortened and I don't know how to go about it. Can I do this myself or must I have it done?"—Mrs. T.T.R.

Dear Mrs. T.T.R.:

You may shorten the coat yourself and it is actually very simple to do. The facing has probably been machine stitched to the coat at the lower edge. You may turn the facing back and machine stitch it on the new hemline.

You will probably have to use a piece of brown paper over the leather so that it will feed into the machine. Trim the excess leather away and turn the front edge right side out. The rest of the hem can be fastened on the hemline with paper clips to hold it nice and even. Now use household glue (the milky kind) and glue the hem in place. This will give a smooth appearance to the hem of the coat.

Your sewing glossary: Stay-stitch: This is a row of machine stitching that is made on curved or shaped areas of your garment before you begin construction. Use the regular length stitch and stitch on a single layer of fabric exactly ½ inch from the cut edge. This stitching will prevent stretching as you are constructing your garment.

How To Keep Wash Day From Taking The Starch Out Of You

Are starching chores taking the starch out of you? They shouldn't. You can come by that fine finished look for your husband's collars and cuffs, in your little girl's dresses and blouses with minimal effort. Just bear these few tips in mind:

ALWAYS MEASURE starch in cold water, gradually adding it to the water and mixing until the solution is completely dissolved.

How much starch should you use? Enough to completely cover the surfaces of all you want starched.

These will vary according to the finish you desire. Using two quarts of water as a base, gradually add about ¼ cup of starch for a light finish, a ½ cup for medium finish and 1¼ cups for a real crisp, heavy finish. Gradual addition is a key part of the operation. And remember, double or triple these ratios according to the amount of material you want starched.

CAUTION: Don't starch such light materials as silk, rayon, nylon and jersey which lack the substance to support the solution. Wool garments also should not be starched.

Another taboo, never use starch and bleach together . . . bleach your whites first, wash and rinse, and then starch. The bleach must be removed in its regular operation or it can burn through your cloth.

When ready for the actual starching operation, dip and squeeze damp articles in your starch solution several times, then wring firmly and dry. Next, sprinkle, wrap in a towel or plastic covering and hold them in this fashion at least two hours before ironing.

For instant spray starch application, you have only to shake the spray can well before using, applying to garment some six to 12 inches away, spraying evenly over the surface you want starched. Then iron immediately, without waiting for the solution to dry. For a heavier finish, merely repeat spraying and ironing. But don't apply too much—a lasting foam indicates you've overdone it.

There is some controversy as to whether or not starching reduces the life of a fabric. Indications are that starched materials last almost as long, depending on their function. For example, collars and cuffs, which experience heavier abrasion caused by constant moving contact with the skin, may wear slightly faster when starched than when not; curtains and lace will not wear appreciably faster. But a man's dress shirt can be worn longer when starched than when not because of its greater wrinkle-resistance, affording less frequent washing and longer wear.

Television Writer To Be Speaker For Women At Base

Mrs. Robert A. Stribling will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Protestant women of the Chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base at noon luncheon Wednesday.

Mrs. Stribling will discuss "Breakthrough," a TV series shown weekly which began April 7. Mrs. Stribling wrote 12 of the 13 original series dealing with problems of children aged 9 to 12 years. She is also a staff writer for "Popular Ceramics" and a free lance writer, dealing primarily with glass and mosaics.

Mrs. Stribling is the wife of Colonel Stribling, commander of the Western Air Rescue center at Hamilton.

Soften Noise In The Home

As a homeowner you probably put up a pretty good defense against dirt, sun, wind, rain, heat, cold, pollen and burglars—but what about noise?

Homes today are probably the noisiest ever. We have a great number of appliances that entertain and save us work, but they do make noise. Wall, floor and ceiling and big glass surfaces reflect and intensify noise.

You can stop most noise by throttling television, radio, doorbell, dog and children, then plugging your ears. But if you don't want to eliminate the sounds of life, just control them.

The idea is to soften all sound-reflecting surfaces, concentrating first in rooms where the family congregates most, the living and dining rooms, kitchen, family and recreation rooms.

ONE OF THE most effective silencers is acoustical ceiling tile which can convert the ceiling from a reflector to an absorber of as much as 70 per cent of the excess noise that hits it. The tile comes in a great variety of finishes and patterns and it is an easy do-it-yourself project for the handyman who can fasten the tile with mastic, staple or nail it to wood furring strips or slide it into metal channels.

Pay attention to hard surfaces other than the ceiling. Large expanses of glass, like picture windows, or hard wall surfaces reflect noise. Put up curtains or drapes.

USE CARPETING to silence floor sounds. Even a couple of throw rugs in the family room or children's rooms will dull many sharp sounds. So will carpeting or rubber treads on stairs.

Pupils Who Are Honest On Tests Need To Have More Protection

Did you ever cheat at school? Did you do a little cribbing on some tests? Probably. If you didn't, you're an exception. Most of us were guilty.

Will your children cheat? Yes, over half of them will cheat if a test is important and they think they can get by with it. Those who don't know the answers will copy them. Those who do know will let the others see their papers. Our children are the same as we were.

Don't misunderstand me. Cheating is wrong and should be prevented. Teachers should do everything they can to make it impossible. No one should knowingly let cheaters prosper. The pupils who are honest on tests must be protected. But we don't need to make the mistake of thinking youngsters caught cheating are moral lepers. They should be punished appropriately and should be supervised closely thereafter, but not condemned forever.

Did you know there is no one trait of honesty? Instead there are "honesties." We all show varying degrees of honesty in different situations. Today's school cheaters will be tomorrow's constructive citizens. Don't forget that.

I've a nasty sense of humor. Many years ago I taught a university graduate class in a straight-laced little town in another state. Most of the members of the class were high school teachers who condemned cheaters without mercy. So I gave them a hard final exam and left the room. I hurried around to an observation post where I could see without being seen. Can you guess what I saw? More than half of those teachers were cheating! I revealed myself. They were humiliated, but learned a lesson they'll never forget.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Do adults cheat when they take written tests?"

Mrs. S. G.

(A) I gave your question to some civil service leaders. They replied that many of the folks who take civil service exams show a willingness to cheat. They said that in their offices they try to prevent it by preparing the kinds of tests which make cheating difficult, and by patrolling the rooms when tests are taken.

Young People More Conservative At Dances Says Band Leader

He plays for society—Vanderbilts, Mellons, Mills, Whitneys, Fords. He is popular with public high school students and Ivy League colleges. He plays nationality parties, businessmen's parties and for the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

"YOUNG PEOPLE realize these are serious times, and whereas conversation at parties often has been frivolous, now one hears talk about atomic bombs, Russian problems, feeding the population of the world. I don't mean youths are too somber. They are beginning to think, and have more fun in a refined way. Their attitudes have changed. Instead of coming up angry-like and saying, "Hey play a rhumba, you guys, will you?" they say "When you get around to it, would you please play—."

College men do not make too much of a thing about poems anymore, he says. Some Princeton and Yale boys don't even want to wear evening clothes, and attendance is lost by insisting on tuxedos.

There is more to playing for young people than meets the eye, however, Lanin volunteers. Orchestra leaders must be psychologists, sizing up a group instantly, and deciding the mood of the crowd.

STRATEGY MUST be used to pace a party. Perhaps they don't know one another or they've lost a football game that day. You must be prepared to change the mood."

Lanin's orchestras do not play from books, he says. They know music and can fake it when necessary, and can change the tenor of a party in a jiffy.

The most popular never-go-wrong tunes are the standard numbers of Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Rodgers and Hart, he says.

"WE GIVE A different beat of the same song to different groups. Society likes a bright tempo, two-beat jazz; business men like it slow and talky. College men keep their gyms so dark you need a seeing-eye dog to get around, so the words of a song are slowly drawn out in a romantic fashion. Then we break up the mood with an occasional jazz number or Latin music," he explains.

Young people are better dancers today, and even young college boys can do a variety of dances — tangos, rhumbas, sambas, and Viennese waltzes "better than the Viennese." Debutantes like to twist, although they are pretty conservative otherwise, he points out.

Countdown Begins For Greenbrae P-TA

A six-foot model spaceman, Air Force posters, giant photos of missiles, diagrams and decorative satellites will give thrust to the space theme.

Dinner chairman Mrs. Jack Vogel says the evening will be "out of this world."

Reservations chairman is Mrs. Richard Kahn.

Preparing the countdown for the 6:30 p.m. dinner are chairmen Mrs. R. L. DeSaussure, food; Mrs. Roger Sobel, hospitality; Mrs. Horace Fritz, hostesses, and Mrs. Edward Littman, decorations.

In the cast for the entertainment are Mrs. Hugh Pessner as Alice, the heroine; principal K. J. Preble as John, the hero; Mrs. Vogel as the vamp; Dave Simonds as the villain; Mrs. Francis Fogarty as the mother; Bill Walsh, the father; Mrs. Robert Bauer, the grandma; and Mrs. Dale Norton as the piano accompanist.

Marin Women

Officers To Be Installed By Credit Women Of Marin

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Marin will hold its sixth annual installation of officers at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael on Wednesday. A cocktail hour will precede the dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Doris Waite, past president of CWBC of Alameda County, who was instrumental in organizing the Marin club, will serve as the installing officer.

Officers to be installed are Mrs. Adelaide Tedrick, president; Mrs. Rachel Gorb, past president; Mrs. Regina Murray, first vice president; Mrs. Fay Fern, second vice president; Mrs. Ethel Nuckols, recording secertary; Mrs. Irene Monroe, treasurer; and Mrs. Claire Cross, corresponding secretary.

Looking Ahead To Education

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Education—circa 1980 — will make today's schools seem about as old fashioned as a pot belly stove.

If you look far enough ahead, you might see something like this, said the National Education Association:

—Students studying a foreign land making field trips there by jet during class; teachers for local schools recruited from all over the world; the school day and year being adjusted to serve the needs of the individual student.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Sleeping on a sheepskin is the latest preventive measure against bedsores. A special wool skin is required, preferably one that has been shorn partially so that it is only an inch thick where it remains attached to the hide. Each fiber is said to work like a tiny coil spring, and many thousands of these are grouped together.

The idea is good, considering the cause of bedsores. These skin lesions stem from prolonged pressure over one or more of the bony prominences along the back, the buttocks, and heels. Most of the candidates are victims of stroke or fractures; they are thin, emaciated, helpless, and unable to turn at will. The bones seem to push their way through the skin of these bedridden patients. The skin of the back has little or no padding and, in addition, is soiled frequently by body excretions.

INTELLIGENT AND GENTLE nursing care are the best preventives. The method consists usually of cleanliness, frequent turning, massaging, and applying powder to the back and the buttocks. Small, unhealthy looking red spots over bony prominences are early signs of trouble. These areas should be protected immediately before the skin breaks down into an ulcer.

The sheepskin is said to help because it offers resiliency and provides a base with even pressure on all parts of the back. The skin also remains dry because the wooly side is airy and absorbs and dissipates moisture. In addition, it does not wrinkle or produce friction. It is more effective in preventing than in curing bed sores.

THE USE OF SHEEPSKIN as a bed liner is not new. It has been used by a few physicians for more than 30 years but has not been adopted widely throughout the country. One surgeon prefers deerskin but this material is difficult to obtain. Others have tried spongy types of sheeting but animal skins seem to work better. They are not a panacea for the age-old problem of bedsores but are helpful, especially when night shirts or pajamas are dispensed with.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

NIGHT PAIN

W. L. W. writes: I have a bad heart and get chest pains, but more often at night. To get relief I must take nitro pills. Please explain this.

REPLY

You have nocturnal angina pectoris. Pain develops when sleeping because the heart slows down and the blood pressure falls. When this occurs, less blood enters the narrowed coronary artery; pain results because the heart muscle is getting too little nourishment.

ALCOHOLIC'S PERSONALITY

J. P. S. writes: Could a young man's attitude toward life determine how much he drinks and smokes?

REPLY

Yes. The tense, overly active man, for example, might seek relaxation in a drink or a smoke.

OUT AFTER SNEEZING

Mrs. G. writes: What would cause a person to black out after a sneeze?

REPLY

This is known as cough syncope. It is caused by changes in the circulation brought on by the increase in pressure within the chest during coughing.

INFLAMED PANCREAS

K. S. writes: Do you have any information on viral pancreatitis?

REPLY

No—and besides, it is an unusual disease. Mumps is a viral disease that spreads occasionally to the pancreas.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the astronauts pull the stock market up with them? Will tax loss selling, just around the corner, raise volume if not prices? Can good earnings reports, especially of some of the utilities in growth areas, lure the conservative investor back?

As the market strives to make up its mind which way it's headed, and as most days find trading slow, Wall Street is looking hopefully for something that will make common stocks more competitive again with other ways of investing money.

Stocks of some companies with aerospace contracts already have recovered a nice chunk of their earlier price losses. Brokers are hoping that more of the general public will be attracted.

For the average investor the trick is to be sure which of the hundreds of possibly eligible companies, large and small, will land aerospace contracts or subcontracts. The government wil pour billions of dollars into the space race.

But for the investor there's the question: Will profits from any particular contract materially raise total earnings, especially of the big and diversified corporations?

Brokers look for a large volume of tax loss selling this year as an aftermath of the drop in prices of many stocks since January 1. Persons who bought at prices higher than today's can sell, using the loss to offset any gains from more fortunate ventures.

Naturally the brokers hope that such selling will be largely in the form of switching. That is, money from sales for tax purposes immediately used to buy other stocks that are or appear to be bargain priced now.

But Wall Street is aware that common stocks today have a host of competitors for any idle cash. Various savings institutions are offering interest rates that still top the yields of many stocks — that is, return in dividends as percentage of current prices.

Many bonds, corporate and government, return more at today's prices than do lots of stocks. A lot of investors, big or small, who sold stocks during the market breaks in May and June are believed to have put their money then and since into savings institutions or bonds, real estate or art.

Getting them back into the market may take some doing.

One thing that could do the trick would be a sudden bit of good news — or a growing belief that good news is in the works. If the public gets that idea, it will go for common stocks again.

The lower yields, compared with savings or bonds, will weigh less with the public than the hope for capital gains—that is, the chance to sell stocks for more than it paid for them.

That is why some think the astronauts who have captured the public's fancy and enthusiasm could lead the public back into buying stocks of companies whose future is closely linked with the space age.

Others think some investors will be impressed by increased earnings of many utilities. Yields of these stocks aren't spectacular, because their earnings are subject to government regulation.

For the same reason, price swings either up or down tend to be staid compared with some industrials.

But utilities serving growing sections offer many attributes usually considered the monopoly of the once glamorous growth companies in other fields.

Brokers argue that, given a reasonably healthy general economy in the next few years, earnings of these utilities should continue to grow —and, with luck, so should the price of their stocks.

Two Marinites Get Army Awards

Two Marin County residents, Mrs. Eva S. James of 255 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, and Richard S. Hargis of 371 Irwin Street, San Rafael, received cash awards last week for money saving suggestions adopted in their work in the San Francisco Army Engineers District.

Mrs. James was given $85 for her suggestion that the record holding division be abolished and all records be held at the General Services Administration in South San Francisco.

Hargis won $25 for suggesting a guide gate rod on the district's dredge, Biddle. Both suggestions have been adopted. Mrs. James' suggestion will save about $1,600 a year, according to Col. John A. Morrison, district engineer, who presented the awards.

Concert, Lecture Tickets Available

Free tickets to the College of Marin Concert and Lecture Series talk on Red China by Urban G. Whitaker are available at the college bookstore from 7:45 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.

Whitaker will speak Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Olney Hall. His topic will be, "Red China: Recognized or Ignored?"

(Advertisement)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Novato Unified School District, Marin County, California, will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and services for the construction of the Novato High School Drainage work.

2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications as adopted by the Governing Board for the Novato Unified School District, now on file with Reid Rockwell Banwell & Tarics, Architects, 1019 Market Street, San Francisco 3, California, where same may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per set, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within five days after the bids are opened.

3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of Reid Rockwell Banwell & Tarics, 1019 Market Street, San Francisco 3, California, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for 10% of the bid amount, made payable to the order of the Novato Unified School District. Bids shall be sealed and filed at the District Office located at 1015 7th Street, Novato, California, prior to 4:00 P.M., Oct. 16, 1962 at which time they will be publicly opened and declared.

4. The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract or to furnish the necessary bonds after being requested to do so by the Governing Board of the Novato Unified School District.

5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and materials bond in the amount equal to 50% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Governing Board of the Novato Unified School District.

6. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Governing Board of the Novato Unified School District has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded the successful bidder.

7. The prevailing rates so determined are as follows:

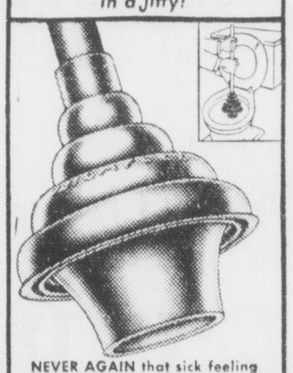
CLOGGED TOILETS
in a jiffy!



NEVER AGAIN that sick feeling when your toilet overflows
'TOILAFLEX'
Toilet ALL-ANGLE Plunger
Ordinary plungers just don't seat properly. They permit compressed air and water to splash back. Thus you not only have a mess, but you lose the very pressure you need to clear the obstruction.
With "Toilaflex", expressly designed for toilets, no air or water can escape. The full pressure plows through the clogging mass and swishes it down. Can't miss!
- DOUBLE-SIZE CUP. DOUBLE-PRESSURE
- DESIGNED TO FLEX AT ANY ANGLE
- CENTERS ITSELF, CAN'T SKID AROUND

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

It's Just Barbershop Right Now —But Gals May Soon Be Welcome

Right now it's just a barbershop, but it may turn into a hairdressing salon for women and girls as well.

Arbory C. Johnson, many years at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, has bought Caly's Barbershop at 877 Fourth Street, San Rafael, has opened for men's haircuts and is remodeling.

An experienced hairdresser and stylist (he originated the "Bo-Peep" cut for juveniles), he is considering making use of the "back room" for some of his specialty work. Name will probably be Johnson's Barbershop for the time being.

MRS. ELAINE ROBINSON and son Warren (Mr. Marin Upholstery himself) after 15 years in San Rafael have now bought their own building. It's the one at 1321 Fourth Street—the one they moved into about six months ago from 514 Third Street.

BRUCE W. BUTTE, Mill Valley resident and partner in Butte, Herrero and Hyde of San Francisco, is the picture of elation. His firm had four of its graphic designs selected for the 1962-63 Graphics International, considered by many art directors as one of the most discriminating collections of advertising art.

DEVELOPED by Lever Brothers, a new premium quality margarine with safflower oil as its major ingredient is being introduced in Marin County food stores. Named Golden Glow, the spread is high in poly-unsaturates for those who must watch the types of fat in their diet. Safflower oil was chosen for its lightness and delicate flavor.

SPECIAL CONFERENCES planned for the California Real Estate Convention's program tomorrow and Wednesday in San Francisco:

Tomorrow's subjects: state Board of Investment; financing single and multi-family housing; condominium and co-op apartments; farm lands; exchanges and trade-ins; probate property sales.

On Wednesday: multiple listing services; aspects of syndication; real estate trusts; public housing, rehabilitation and senior citizen housing; commercial, industrial and subdivision properties; realtors for America; property management.

Dan Deedy of the Marin County Real Estate Board urges local realtors to attend one or more of these discussions. There's lots to be learned.

WHY NOT in Marin?

Eden Roc Gardens, a plush condominium project by Santa Monica millionaire Bert M. Olden, provides office and residence quarters for harried executives who have to keep one eye on business, the other on health, and both on costs.

Businesswise, there are PBX and TWX communications systems, stockticker, mail handling, telephone answering service, stenographer pools, station wagons for transportation, police protection and multi-purpose auditorium.

Designed particularly for corporations who invest heavily in management health and meetings.

Duffy To Discuss Book On TV Show

Clinton P. Duffy of Greenbrae, former warden of San Quentin Prison, will be a guest Thursday on the American Broadcasting Co. network television program. "The Tennessee Ernie Ford Show."

Duffy will discuss with Ford his book, "88 Men and Two Women," and his opposition to capital punishment.

Glenn County, formed in 1891, is named for Dr. Hugh J. Glenn an 1849 pioneer and for many years the state's leading wheat grower.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

HOW NOT TO DO IT

Parking Stalls Widths To Be Discussed

Widths to be required for enclosed parking stalls, covered parking spaces and uncovered parking spaces will be discussed by San Rafael planning commissioners at their meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the city hall.

The planning commission will also hear again an application that is becoming a perennial one. This is the request for subdivision of a 6,000-square foot lot extending from Miramar Avenue to 27 Wood Street.

The city council has twice rejected this, as the lot was subdivided illegally after a turndown in 1959. The new application, by San Francisco attorney Hartley Appleton on behalf of Mrs. A. B. Walker, new owner of the 27 Wood Street end, is merely to cover an omission in his first application, according to City Planner James R. Garrett. Appleton has hinted at legal action against Marvelous Marin Realty Co., which twice sold the 27 Wood Street property as a house and lot.

Second public hearings are scheduled rezoning of property at Manuel Freitas Parkway and Highway 101 from unclassified for the Northgate Shopping Center; rezoning of property held by Richard Bettini on Woodland Avenue between Bungalow and Irwin streets from single family dwelling to apartments.

First public hearing is set on application by Wachman and McDuffie for rezoning property on the southeast corner of the Dubois Street-Woodland Avenue intersection from commercial to apartments.

In all, 20 items are on the planning commission's agenda.

Tools, Gun Stolen

Theft of about $150 worth of tools and a shotgun from a grease truck parked in the yard of the A. G. Raisch Co. in Black Point has been reported to sheriff's deputies by Robert J. Anhorn, company foreman.

Nicasio Reservoir Getting Wastes, Health Chief Says

Dumping of untreated wastes from dairies and homes into Lucas Valley Creek is threatening pollution of Nicasio Reservoir, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer declared today.

"Problems of watershed sanitation have arisen in the area which drains into the Nicasio Reservoir," she said.

She cited figures which show that of 14 dairies located along the creek, an average 1,000 gallons of water used to wash out barns and corrals of each dairy flows daily into the creek which drains into the reservoir.

In addition, of 30 homes located along the creek and other homes in the area, sewer facilities consist of septic tanks with leaching lines close to the creek, or direct drainage which takes waste directly from the home to the creek.

"Homes in the area present a real or potential source of contamination of the water supply," Dr. Albrecht stated.

Representatives of the State Department of Health and officials of the county health department have met with the county farm bureau and dairymen to find a solution. Two recommendations have been made to halt further pollution by dairies:

1. Holding ponds of sufficient size should be constructed to store all the waste water from barns and corrals until eventually the water evaporates or is absorbed into the ground.

2. Retaining walls should be provided to prevent the piled manure from flowing into the creek. Dr. Albrecht said some of the dairymen in the area have already constructed holding ponds and retaining walls.

Watershed lands of the Marin Municipal Water District and the North Marin Water District are protected against construction of subdivisions which would add to contamination of the water supply, Dr. Albrecht said, because approval of the districts is needed for development.

In the case of land owned by individuals, Dr. Albrecht said control of construction rests with the health department's and county planning commission's approval of plans.

U.S. total exports in 1961 of domestic merchandise were valued at 20.6 billion dollars, according to the Census Bureau.

'George' Needs Second Feeder Of Material

There are so many Marin County departments and outside agencies wanting to use "George," the county's new 1401 data processing machine, that the board of supervisors will be asked tomorrow to hire a new man to feed material to the versatile machine.

"We are getting requests from school districts and agencies from other counties for special reports on the 1401 which far exceed our original estimate," Arleigh Sewell, director of data processing, wrote in a letter to the board.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has agreed with Sewell that a new position called "data processing analyst" ought to be created to keep up with machine's workload.

According to Bruce, the position would be one of "high level . . . to supervise the system's analysis and programming staff . . . to produce efficient 1401 programs." Annual salary for the job would be $9,120.

Sewell estimates increased revenue will be about $10,000 from out-of-country school districts, such as Daly City in San Mateo County, for processing of reports and tests.

Other matters on the board's agenda, which opens at 9 a.m., include a request from Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy, county medical director, for action on the policy statement of his department, which he submitted to the board "six months ago."

San Rafael Board Of Education Looking Into High School Site

Action regarding a high school site in an area that may not long remain within the San Rafael High School District is proposed for tomorrow night's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education.

A'leen Runkle, senior planner in the Marin County Planning Department, will review the county master plan indicating community development in the north portion of the high school district, near Hamilton Air Force Base. The board will consider action to acquire a site for a high school on the Ponticopoulos property in that area.

The area under discussion is now in San Jose Elementary School District but within San Rafael High School District. Three times, unification of San Jose District with the Novato Unified School District has been turned down by the electorate in one or the other of those two districts. A fourth attempt at unification, however, is under consideration for early next year.

The San Jose District adjoins the Novato district. Novato High School is visible from some homes in the San Jose District. Students from there must travel eight to 10 miles by bus to attend either Terra Linda or San Rafael High. Members of the San Rafael Board of Education have made no secret of the fact they hope the San Jose district will unify with Novato. If it does, a high school to serve it would not be the responsibility of the San Rafael board.

A proposed drainage control program for the Davidson School area, to be financed by assessment district, is to be described to the board by civil engineer Daniel P. Coleman. The district is proposed as an adjunct to the Bret Harte Drainage Assessment District, of which Coleman is engineer.

Twenty items are on the agenda for the board of education meeting, set for 7:30 p.m. at 215 Mission Avenue.

French, Spanish Reports Due

Reports on the teaching of French and Spanish will be heard by the Larkspur School District board at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district superintendent's office at Larkspur-Corte Madera school.

Architect Burton Rockwell will make a progress report on expansion of Neil Cummins and San Clemente schools.

German Club Officers

San Rafael High Editors Named

Barbara Johnson has been named editor of the 1963 edition of the Searchlight, San Rafael High school yearbook, and Maureen Perkins has been chosen to edit the Red 'n' White, the Searchlight's offspring.

Barbara is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Johnson of 205 Mark Twain Avenue. Maureen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Perkins of 23 Robinhood Drive. Both girls are juniors.

Although the Red 'n' White is now the high school newspaper, originally that was the Searchlight's role. It started in March, 1898, when the high school was on E Street. Its commencement issue each year was especially large, and continued to grow more elaborate until the Searchlight became an annual, and the Red 'n' White was started to replace it as newspaper.
